Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board To Consider Over-Order Adjustment

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board has announced that it will hold an April 6 hearing to consider changes to the Class I over-order premium paid to dairy farmers.

The PMMB hearing is set to start at 1 p.m. April 6 in meeting Room B of the state Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

If necessary, the meeting is to continue starting 10 a.m. April 7.

Those who wish to present testimony to the PMMB regarding the level of the over-order premium should file a request with the board by March 31.

The PMMB is a state organization that has oversight of the dairy industry in the state, with functions such as auditing the handlers of milk, ensuring that farmers are being paid properly for their milk, and that consumers are protected as well.

In addition, the PMMB has the authority to regulate the minimum retail and wholesale prices of milk, as well as mandating that a premium be paid to farmers who milk is produced, processed and sold in Pennsylvania for beverage use (Class I).

The premium is called an over-order premium, because the federal government sets the price of milk according to "orders," which are regions of the nation delineated for the purpose of regulating milk flow.

The PMMB has been setting an over-order premium since 1988.

Currently, the over-order premium is 50 cents per hundred pounds of milk.

At the behest of the Pennsylvania Association of Milk Dealers, state Sen. Noah Wenger and state Rep. John Barley, the PMMB has announced that it has scheduled an April 6-7 hearing to gather testimony as to the adequacy of the premium level.

In light of the fact that the price

Schadler Honored For Outstanding Contributions

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — For nearly three decades, Alletta "Letie" Schadler has been influencing the lives of countless individuals in Lebanon County and beyond. Because of her pioneering influence, Penn State's Commission for Women recently honored her with its Rosemary Schraer Mentor Award.

As the first female county extension director for Penn State, Schadler's leadership and coaching skills have opened the doors for many others to follow in her path. Schadler has been named the winner of the 1999 Schraer Award in recognition of her record of outstanding mentoring service that goes beyond the requirements of her job.

In her role as county extension director, Schadler handles administrative as well as extension education duties. Schadler has expertise in the areas of food safety, sanitation, nutrition and health. In the past, she has filled in as interim director in numerous adminis-

Claire and Jack Donohue who live between Cashtown and McKnightsville have just added their farm to the Adams County Land Conservancy for preservation in perpetuity.

Adams Land Conservancy Preserves Donohue Farm

JINNY WILT
Adams Co. Correspondent

MCKNIGHTSTOWN (Adams Co.) — Claire and Jack Donohue, joined by their two dogs, walk up a knoll in their orchard confident that the land will remain as farmland forever.

They recently joined other Adams County landowners in the Land Conservancy of Adams County by protecting the farm's 120 acres, most of which is in orchards located off Old Route 30 between McKnightstown and Cashtown. A restriction has now been placed on their deed which mandates the land will always remain as farmland.

The Cumberland County 4-H achievement winner is Amy Kulick, who received a $100 savings bond as the recipient of the Merle E. Miller Memorial Award. Making the presentation is Duane Duncan, county agent. See story page A42.

From the left, officers of the Maryland Holstein Association are vice president Arthur Rhoderick, secretary/treasurer Donna Reese, departing secretary/treasurer Anita Hill, and president Carl Bender. The officers were recently elected during the Maryland Holstein Association's annual meeting. See story on page A22.

Steve Hershey, Manheim, was recently elected president of the Lancaster DHIA. Steve has been a member of the board for six years, serving the last five years as vice president. Other officers are John Wanner, vice president; John Burkholder, secretary; Clair Oberholtzer, treasurer; Rodney Denlinger, lab committee chair; and Tom Lapp, field committee chair. In the board photo from left, seated, Burkholder, Oberholtzer, Hershey, and Wanner. Standing, John Groff, Mel Lantz, Dale Hershey, Denlinger, Frank Reiet, Mahlon King, Lapp, Leonard Martin, and Joe Grayboal.

NORTHEAST BROILER/FRYER PARTS - PART I FEDERAL-STATE

Trucklot buying activity was difficult to find as dealers usually worked from hand to mouth and were very selective. Offerings were abundant and comparitively speaking were "a dime a dozen" with little or no interest. Retail and distributive movement was struggling, with optimism a scarce commodity. The market tone was extremely weak.

PRICES PAID PER POUND, ICE PACKED AND CO2 PACKED BROILER/FRYER PARTS, DELIVERED TO FIRST RECEIVERS IN POOL TRUCKLOT AND TRUCKLOT QUANTITIES.

ITEM CURRENT NEGOTIATED TRADING*

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE

In the East, prices were unchanged to one cent lower on the medium sizes. Elsewhere, prices were unchanged. The market tone was mostly steady to occasionally firm. Demand was mixed, light to good, mostly fair, however, with seasonal interest centering around the larger sizes. Supplies of the extra large and large eggs were in best balance, and the lighter weights remained more than available for current needs. Breaking stock supplies were adequate to ample for the very light demand. Light type hens were adequate to ample for processors' needs.

DELMARVA BROILER/FRYER MARKET. FEDERAL-STATE

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds remained disappointingly slow. Offerings were readily available and in many instances difficult to place. Live supplies were at least moderate; weights were mixed in a range of light to heavy. Processing schedules were again reduced and just moderate as several plants sought to keep supplies from accumulating. Less than trucklot asking prices were 1 cent lower at 50 to 64 cents. Trade sentiment continued weak and unsettled. In the parts complex, Breast items were in best balance; however, all parts were available and competitively priced in an effort to stimulate a limited demand.

EASTERN REGION FROZEN EGGS, MARCH 19, 1999. FEDERAL-STATE

All price ranges remained unchanged, although, the majority of trading occurred at lower levels. The market tone was barely steady. Demand was mostly light. Supplies were at least adequate. Liquid and frozen eggs (ingredients included) processed under federal inspection in the Eastern region for the week ending March 13, 1999 were 6% more than last week, and 8% less than the same week last year. Shell egg supplies were adequate to fully adequate.

NEW YORK EGGS, MARCH 24, 1999. FEDERAL-STATE

Prices were one cent lower for mediums and unchanged on the balance. The market tone was steady for the larger sizes and barely steady for the smaller sizes. Demand was light to moderate, best where specials were planned or in progress. A feature on 18-pack large eggs was advertised for 99 cents, restrictions apply. Supplies of all sizes were available, however mediums remained in the longest position.

AREAS TO LOOK AT TO IMPROVE PROFITABILITY

1. Use 2-feed system for milk cows. Fresh cows get high density feed for peak lactation, and tail enders are fed least cost ration.
2. Feed more forages – especially to mid and late lactation cows. This will reduce amount of feed needed to balance the feeding program.
3. Don't keep extra heifers – it costs approximately $350 per year to feed each heifer. Milking cows x 60% gives you total number of heifers birth to fresh. Example: 50 milk cows x 60% = 30 heifers total.
4. Improve heifer growing program for the generally neglected yearling heifer. Bigger "spring of rib" heifers will eat more forage and give a bigger milk check during their first lactation. Heifers need to average 17,000-20,000 lbs. of milk for their first lactation.
5. Know your actual costs – a good farm records system that separates crops from dairy will show you actual crop costs/profits and milk sales costs/profits.

National Grain Market

Wed Mar 24, 1999
USDA-MO Dept Ag Market News

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY

Grain and soybean bids were higher early but finished slightly lower. Continued good weather, slow export business, a pick up in farmer selling and the crisis in Serbia, weakened markets. Wheat 1 to 2 cents lower. Corn steady to 1 cent lower. Sorghum 1 cent lower. Soybeans 5 cents lower. Wheat bids slipped lower on continued favorable growing weather and good winter wheat condition. Declines were limited, however, by the announcement that CCC will tender for over one million metric tons of hard red winter wheat for April 1 through May 31 shipment. Reports China sold between 300,000 to one million tonnes of corn for export, pushed corn bids slightly lower. Additional weakness came from lack of foreign sales and increased farmer selling. Moderate losses in soybean pits today as concerns about whether USDA will follow through with PL-480 meal and bean shipment to Russia due to the Kosovo crisis. Continued farmer selling and slow foreign demand were pressure points.

USDA-OK Dept Ag Market News
Oklahoma National Stockyards - Weekly Cattle Summary

Compared to last week: Feeder steers and heifers weak to 1.00 lower. Stocker cattle 2.00-3.00 higher. Demand good for feeders and better than expected following the bearish COF report. Demand very good for stockers as liberal March rains stimulate the usual grass fever. Quality average, end attractive. Feeder cattle in mostly medium to moderate flesh. Weigh-ups full to mostly average. Slaughter cows steady to 1.00 higher. Slaughter bulls 1.00 higher. Packer demand moderate. Total of 380 cows and bulls sold with 60 percent to packers. Receipts this week 11,600; last week 5,609; last year 10,514. Supply consisted of 75 percent yearlings over 600 lbs; 22 percent calves and short yearlings under 600 lbs; 3 percent cows and bulls. Prices follow with weighted average weight and price in parenthesis.

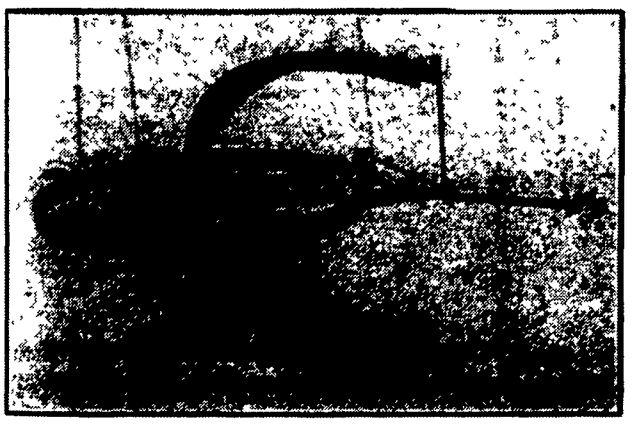
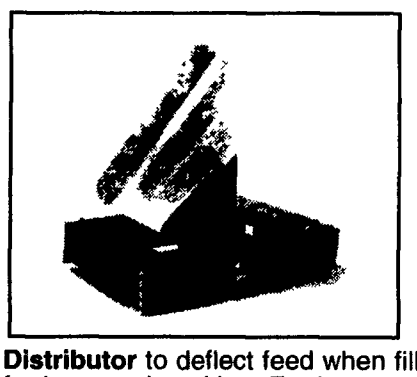
Prepare Now for Spring Haylage Season

Model 2100
RING-DRIVE SILO UNLOADER
with Polar Claw™ chain





Distributor to deflect feed when filling for improved packing. For larger silos, a motorized kicker can be added.

Polar Claw and the Polar Claw logo are trademarks of Patz Sales, Inc.

Blower for easy servicing
- Replaceable lower blower band with extra-thick, 1/4-inch steel.
- 4 swinging, adjustable, cupped paddles with stainless steel pins.
- Double-grooved pulley with taper bore hub.

An optional independent electric motor rotates the unloader and distributor while filling.

Chain guide wheel mounting to track silo wall closely.
Big 9-foot drive ring flanged to the inside for added strength.

The Polar Claw is ideal for frozen and hardpacked silage. The cutters-and-claw chain aggressively tears silage loose and quickly moves it to the blower. Fast (634 ft./min.) chain speed for high-volume delivery.

Ideal replacement unloader for your suspension:
- 3-cable tripod
- 3-cable hexapod

Powder coating is the new standard in finishing systems. It provides a superior, uniform and durable finish.

Add these new features to your Patz Model RD-820 unloader.

Purchasing a Model 2100 is easy with financing from Patz Credit. Ask for the details from your full-service Patz dealer.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

FULL WORM MOON, MARCH 31.

ALL FOOLS'

In France, the children tape paper fish onto each other's backs, then yell "poisson d'avril!" (April Fish!). Whatever your tomfoolery on this day, be sure it is of the harmless variety and not "blind credulity" of the type the second Duke of Buckingham labeled bigotry. "The world is made up . . . of fools or knaves," he said over three centuries ago, "both irreconcilable foes to truth, the first being slaves to a blind credulity, which we may properly call bigotry . . ." Mark Twain had a lighter notion of April Fools': "The first of April is the day we remember what we are the other 364 days of the year."

Let a fool hold his tongue and he will pass for a sage. – Publilius Syrus

TIP OF THE WEEK

FAST: A PASTA

8 ounces fettucine or angel hair pasta
1 pound fresh asparagus
4 ounces sliced mushrooms
1 tablespoon olive oil
1/2 cup chicken broth
1/2 cup grated fresh Parmesan cheese

In a large pot, boil water for the pasta and cook according to directions. Meanwhile, wash and trim asparagus and mushrooms and sauté briefly in the olive oil in a nonstick pan. Add chicken broth and simmer about 5 minutes. Drain pasta when it's al dente, add vegetables and broth, and sprinkle with Parmesan.

Makes 4 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

When woodpeckers peck low on the trees, expect warm weather.

If it thunders on April Fools' Day, it brings good crops of corn and hay.

If the first three days in April be foggy, rain in June will make the lanes boggy.

Tull Hill Farms doesn't own that building, but a sharp management decision made it one of their best assets.

Jimmy and Michael Hill, Tull Hill Farms, Kinston, North Carolina

The Hill family was ready to pay cash for a new 80,000 square foot storage facility for Tull Hill Farms They changed their mind when Telmark explained how much they could save by leasing the facility instead Their sharp management decision saved profits by adding to the bottom line with a Telmark operating lease They also have a buyout option at the end of the lease term.

The Hill family found the tax breaks, end-of-term buyout option, and flexible payment plan so attractive, they leased the complete facility. Most lenders aren't ready to offer this kind of alternative financing.

Telmark understands building and equipment financing needs for all types of commercial and agricultural operations For a financing source that's been listening to farmers for over 30 years, call Telmark.

OPINION

Worse Than The Depression

When the price of hogs recently fell to below 10 cents a pound and the price in the supper markets did not fall at all, farmers had a reason to ask why They had even more reason to ask why, when these low hog prices were compared to the three cents per pound hogs were bringing during the depression Actually when you figure inflation and other factors, the depression prices would have been equivalent to approximately 26 cents per pound in today's economy It's not hard to figure that hog farmers today are worse off than in the infamous depression so widely talked about in farming circles

One of the thing we have learned is that what the consumer pays in the supermarket is reflected in the live market only when supermarket prices are low Demand and high prices in the supermarket do not mean automatic good prices for producers This is the fallacy of the checkoff program many of us failed to see a decade ago. If the checkoff program did create the demand that kept the consumer buying pork at strong prices the value received at packer and supermarket levels did not get passed down to the producer who pays the checkoff Without the ability to insure that profits created by any of the checkoff programs, which totals $659 million per year reach the producers, they are paying to put themselves out of business

One of the major forces that keep producers in slavery is the lack of price discovery on animals when they are alive and on food Most farmers don't know what they will be paid until after the animal is on its way through the packing system There isn't much room for a farmer to negotiate a price at this stage of the game

Now Is The Time

By John Schwartz

Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Evaluate Alfalfa Fields

With warm weather arriving, now is a good time to walk your alfalfa fields to determine the number of live alfalfa plants you have in each field.

According to Robert Anderson, Lancaster County Extension Agronomy Agent, the number of healthy plants will have a big impact on this year's hay yields. To make this estimate, use a piece of wire (an old coat hanger works well) that is bent into a square which measures one foot on each side.

With this tool, the number of healthy plants in one square foot area may be determined by randomly selecting several sites in each field Check the whole field not just the corners. Record the number of healthy plants per square foot Then determine the average number of plants per square foot and look at how much your numbers vary from site to site within the field.

To Decide Future of Alfalfa Fields

How many alfalfa plants per square foot are needed to have a good chance of having a profitable yield? That number will vary, but guidelines commonly discussed are based on the age of the stand, reports Robert Anderson, Lancaster County Extension Agronomy Agent. In the first year after establishment, while alfalfa plants are relatively small, a larger number of plants are needed A field several years old will have larger crowns or plants which will produce more stems per plant, therefore less plants are needed

Some guidelines are. 20 or more plants per square foot in the seeding year, 12 to 20 plants per square foot in the second full year of production and 7 or more plants after that. This is based on healthy plants To determine healthy plants you need to remove and check crowns for insect and disease damage Another measure is stems per square foot In established stands you should have 45 or more stems per square foot

The best way to determine when to rotate an established alfalfa field is to look at yields over the past several years, the number of plants per square foot and the number of stems per square foot at the beginning of each season.

To Bring the Beach to the Cows

A soft, sandy, shaded beached can be a comfortable place to recline even for cows, reports Glenn shirk, Lancaster County Extension Dairy Agent. Some farmers are bringing the sand to the cows and the cows like it! Bedding stalls with 6 to 8 inches of clean, dry sand provides cows with a clean, healthy and comfortable place to rest.

Clean sand supports less bacterial growth than organic forms of bedding and reduce the risk of disease. To keep the sand clean and dry, the stalls neeed to be well maintained. This requires about 40 pounds of sand per stall per day Coarse sand and gravel kicked out onto a concrete walkway, may become embedded in the sole of the hoof causing abscesses and lameness. Thus, the sand should be fine. Sand also complicates manure handling because it may settle out in manure pits.

Thus, provisions need to be made for separating it from manure or for scooping or dredging manure pits. Sand is also abrasive and may cause excessive wear on scraper blades, augers, bearings, etc. In spite of these challenges, many farmers say the benefits outweigh the problems

TALKING A GOOD GAME
March 28, 1999

Background Scripture:
John 4:1-42
Devotional Reading:
Revelation 7:13-17

Some of us would rather talk Christianity than do it. It's easier and doesn't cost anything. And most important of all, it can become a substitute for the doing of it.

Christ, however, makes us choose one or the other.

That's what he did to the Samaritan woman whom he encountered at the well of Jacob. The conversation began on a very elemental level. "Give me a drink." Jesus asked her. Simple as it was, the request unsettled her. He was a Jew and she a Samaritan. Jews avoided all contact with Samaritans, looking down upon them because of historical, racial and religious differences.

Actually, there was still another barrier between them: she was a woman. It was unseemly for any conversation between a man and a strange woman. "How is it that you, a Jew, ask a drink of me, a woman of Samaria?" Furthermore, she was not only a woman, but marked locally as a woman of loose sexual morals. Presumably he did not know of her bad reputation

Instead of answering her question, Jesus takes the initiative, saying that if she had known who he was, she would have been asking him for a drink. "Sir" she protested, "you have nothing to draw with, and the well is deep; where do you get that living water?" One senses a bit of sarcasm: "Are you greater than our father Jacob who gave us this well?" Once again, Jesus shocked her: "Every one who drinks of this water will be thirsty again, but whoever drinks of the water that I shall give him will never thirst." Yes, he is greater than Jacob. Is it in contempt that she asks: "Sir, give me this water, that I may not thirst, nor come here to draw"?

Perhaps she thought she had put him in his place, until he said these fateful words: "Go, call your husband and come here" I'm sure there was a weakness in her voice as she said, "I have no husband." Did she sense what was to be his next reply? "You are right in saying 'I have no husband'; for you have had five husbands, and he whom you now have is not your husband."

At last the awful truth is out! Although he was a stranger and a Jew, he seemed to know all about her. That is scary!

So, when we are in the presence of someone who seems to know too much about us, we try to change the subject. Let's talk religion! "Sir, I perceive that you are a prophet. Our fathers worshiped on this mountain; and you say that in Jerusalem is the place to worship." If she could get him going on this controversial subject, perhaps he would forget about her unsavory, but well-deserved reputation.

'I AM HE!'

But Jesus says the day is coming when true worship will not depend upon being on the right mountain. Unprepared for that answer and nervous about the direction in which it is leading, she says, "Well, when the Messiah comes, he will answer this question." We can almost feel the deadly silence in which his words are spoken: "I who speak to you am he!"

Just as the new wine of the gospel is superior to the purification of the old rites (as at the wedding at Ana), and the gospel's saving grace of God is superior to the legalism of the Pharisees (as in Nicodemus's visit by night), so the Father's "spirit and truth" will supersede all the distinctions and quarrels about the 'right way' to do religion.

When the disciples arrive with provisions, they tell him, "Rabbi, eat" But he startles them as he startled the woman, saying "I have food to eat of which you do not know" Misunderstanding him—as had the wedding guests at Cana Nicodemus, and the woman at the well—they are confused until he tells them: "My food is to do the will of him who sent me, and to accomplish his work"

In Christian discipleship as in so much else, it is doing it, not talking a good game that is required of us.

Award-Winning Alfalfa Grower Understands Vital Role Of Good Workers

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

NAZARETH (Northampton Co.) — Bob Oswald admits there is no secret to growing prize-winning alfalfa.

Simply put, Oswald surrounds himself with good employees, trusts the work of his crop assistant, takes care of his fertile soil, and carefully times the cutting and drying of his crop.

"There's no secret to doing this," he told Lancaster Farming during a visit to his farm on a bright, crisp autumn day last year.

A couple of months before, Oswald picked up the grand champion ribbon for the alfalfa later cutting division, field-dried only category, from the annual hay show conducted at Ag Progress Days in Rocksprings.

Oswald narrows his management down to a few time-tested strategies that can almost guarantee success: making the most of good, well-drained soils; soil testing regularly; and cutting the alfalfa on time and getting it stored when ready.

"I do it right or I don't do it," he said. "I love what I'm doing and that makes me care."

Oswald manages 700 acres of corn, 400 acres of soybeans, 120 acres of alfalfa hay, and 75 acres of wheat on about 1,295 acres for his dairy enter-

"There's no secret to doing this," Bob Oswald, Nazareth, told Lancaster Farming on his farm on a bright, crisp autumn day last year. A couple of months before, Oswald picked up the grand champion ribbon for the alfalfa later cutting division, field-dried only category, from the annual hay show conducted at Ag Progress Days in Rocksprings. How Do You Improve On The Best?

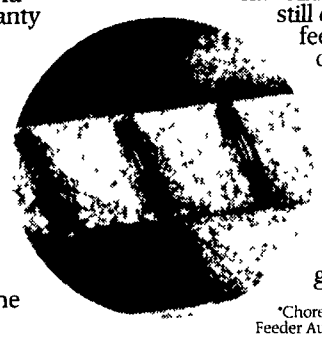
In the case of Chore-Time's ULTRAFLO® Cage Feeder, you do it by beefing up the auger wire and extending the product warranty

Chore-Time's new and improved ULTRAFLO® Cage Feeder uses our exclusive round-wire auger It is nearly 10% heavier than our original ULTRAFLO® And that means strength and years more running time for you! We're so confident of it that we've warranted the auger for twice* as long as the old model



What's more, you still get all the features you valued in the original ULTRAFLO® Feeder You can still count on unparalleled feed savings, economical operation, and ULTRA-FLO's remixing action which eliminates feed separation

Chore-Time's ULTRAFLO® Cage Feeder—contact us today for more information on how the best just got better!

*Chore-Time's New ULTRAFLO® Cage Feeder Auger has a 10-year prorated warranty

THE LEADER IN THE FIELD

KAREN BUTLER
Maryland Correspondent

WOODSBORO, Md — The Maryland Jersey Cattle Club recently held its annual meeting in Woodsboro at the Fireman's Activity building.

Over 100 Jersey enthusiasts attended the meeting where officers were elected, the state Jersey queen was crowned, and awards were presented.

Officers for the upcoming year are Debbie Osborn, president; Esther Hoffman, vice-president, P. Thomas Mason, vice-president, Eastern Shore; Pat Beachy, vice-president, Western Shore; Cindy Hines, secretary; Ferna Hines, treasurer; Duane Norman, reporter; and Kay Semple, historian.

Dr. Lee Majeskie from the University of Maryland will be the University representative, and Geraldine Stiles and Cindy Hines will be junior club advisors.

The new 1999 Maryland Jersey queen is 17-year-old Emily Fawley of Point of Rocks, Maryland.

Emily is the daughter of Terry and Teresa Fawley. A senior at Brunswick High School, Emily is also active on her family's Te-Faw Farms. The Fawleys seasonally milk and rotationally graze a herd of about 30 Jerseys and Holsteins.

The club presented scholarships to five junior members attending college.

Sarah Bedgar, Katie Dixon, and Erin Feuillet each received monetary awards to help with college expenses. Also, Emily Birch was honored with the Alan Stiles Memorial Scholarship, and the Warren Fender Memorial Scholarship went to Stacy Hines.

Queen Acres Farm, owned by the Osborn family near Keymar, took the J. Hansen Hoffman trophy for the highest average for ECM (energy corrected milk) of herds with 10 or more cows. The Osborn's 135 Jerseys had a 3X average of 19,334 pounds, energy corrected to 24,407, with 984 pounds, 5.09% fat and 742 pounds, 3.84% protein.

Gaywinds Farm, the Kahler family, of Keymar, was honored with the herd management award.

Shenandoah Jerseys, Janet and Tracy Stiles, was awarded the Semex Accelerated Genetics award for herd genetics.

Michael and Leah Birch, Secret Hill Farm, in White Hall, received the Dr. Hoopes senior award for their outstanding service over the years to promote the Jersey breed.

In other production awards, Queen Acres, made almost a clean sweep of the production leaders grouped by age. Only one class, the 8-years-and-older, eluded the farm, and they went on to cap their awards with the leading living lifetime production leader, Herons Ideal Narci.

Queen Acres had the first place senior yearling in milk, junior 2-year-old, senior 2-year-old, junior and senior 3-year-old, 4-year-old, and 5-7-year-old.

The top cow in the 8-years-and-over class was Antietam Hill Sooner Boomer, owned by Nathan Stiles.

High herd average for ECM, 10-40 cows, went to Tol-Je-So Farm, Port Deposit. Tol-Je-So Farm had 21 cows with an average of 18,917 energy corrected to 22,787 pounds, with 905 pounds, 4.79% of fat and 678 pounds, 3.58% protein.

In the less than 10 cows class, Holly Wright's single cow made 18,071 pounds of milk energy corrected to 22,027, with 871 pounds, 4.82% of fat and 672 pounds, 3.72% protein.

Senior Girls: 1 Robin Keen, 2 Amanda Holland and Emily Fawley. 3 Kelly Burrier.

Senior Boys: 1 Ryan Downey, 2. Bobby Stiles.

Intermediate Girls: 1 Ashley Mayer, 2 Tracy Webb, 3 Heather Hines, Honorable Mention Katie Mason, Jessica Stiles, Katie Bussard, Jenny Miller, Heidi Stull, Laura Wheeler, and Lisa Wheeler.

Intermediate Boys: 1 Wade Downey, 2 Andrew Mason, 3. Brian Forsythe.

Junior Girls: 1 Sarah Webb, 2 Brooke Bennett, 3. Katie Albaugh, Honorable Mention: Ashley Baumgardener, Brittany Smith, Jessie Bussard, Sarah Gieron, and Julie Anna Shahan.

Junior Boys: 1 James Hines, 2 Steven Leager, 3 Kevin Burrier, Honorable Mention Philip Trinks, Bobby Groft, Jake Miller, John Miller and Ryan Bishop.

Md. Holstein Association Convenes in Howard County

KAREN BUTLER
Maryland Correspondent

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. — Howard County was the setting for this year's annual Maryland Holstein Convention, held at the Turf Valley Resort and Conference Center.

Carl Bender, president of the association, said the strong history of dairy farming in Howard County, coupled with the contributions its dairy farmers have made to the Holstein breed, made it an exciting chance to revisit the county.

Mr. Bender specifically credited Dunloggin Farm, a Holstein operation that had its heyday in the early 20th century in Howard County, for the strength of Holstein genetics in the county.

"I think Maryland is very fortunate to have had a herd like that in this county," Mr. Bender said. Dunloggin held its dispersal sale in 1943.

"Now," said Bender, "there are only six herds left in the county. It reminds me of the play-offs. It shows to me you have withstood the tough times of the dairy industry."

During the business meeting, officers were elected and committee reports given. Carl Bender, Accident, is to serve another term as president of the association. Arthur G. Rhoderick, Hagerstown, is to continue on as vice-president.

Anita Hill stepped down as secretary-treasurer, and was replaced by Donna Reese, Westminster. Mrs. Hill had been secretary-treasurer since 1992. She said she will continue to be involved in the association, and will still help with the spring show

New directors for three year terms are Matt Debaugh, Lenny Pieper, Richard "Gus" Schwartzbeck, and Dennis Shafer.

In other business it was announced that membership was up by 24 members compared to the same time last year.

Mr. Marlin Hoff, New Windsor, announced he will be a candidate for the office of vice-president of the national Holstein Association. Mr. Hoff was on the national board for eight years. He said, "I feel like the association needs some strong leadership, and I feel like I am capable of providing it." The elections will take place at the national convention in Idaho in June.

Production and genetics awards highlighted the morning program. After lunch the keynote speaker, Dr. Tom Bailey, veterinary reproduction specialist with Va.-Md. Regional College of Veterinary Medicine, talked about improving reproductive efficiency within the dairy herd, heifer development, and the future in technology.

Dr. Bailey said that calving intervals are beginning to lengthen, and that should be of concern. As the calving intervals increase, the available pool of genetics decreases, because there are less calves for culling. He said farmers need to do a better job at reproductive efficiency. "We need some kind of initiative to do a better job in reproduction," he said.

Dr. Bailey said the goal should be to generate the highest number of offspring possible. He stressed this could be addressed by efficient and accurate heat detection, reducing the number of days to first service, and decreasing the calving interval on farms.

The ladies program this year featured a triple treat. Speakers demonstrated skin products for the entire family, creating a look with the right scarf, and cake decorating made easy.

The youth took a bus ride to the USDA in Beltsville. There they held their annual business meeting, and toured animal, manure, crop, and soil management practices.

From the left, Jack King and Oren Bender stand with Greg Wiles and Matt lager as they present several awards to Wiles for having the high CTPI cow, high CTPI bred and owned cow, high MFP$ cow and high MFP$ bred and owned cow of the Maryland Holstein Association.

Sludge Meeting

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — The Lebanon County Conservation District has announced a "biosolids" (treated sewage sludge) meeting for the general public, 7-9 p.m., March 31, at the Lebanon County Agricultural Center.

The center is located adjacent to the Lebanon County Fairgrounds, at the intersection of Cornwall and Rocherty roads. Signs to the fairgrounds are located along Rt. 72, south of the city of Lebanon.

A rain date has been set for 7-8 p.m., April 8, at the same location.

For more information, call Ann Sheffer at (717) 272-3908, Extension 4.

Maryland Sale Results

WEST FRIENDSHIP, Md - The Maryland State Holstein Association convention sale was held here at the Howard County fairgrounds. The sale averaged $2,855 on 78 head.

The high selling lot, consigned by Futuraland 2020 Holsteins, Williamsport, Maryland, and purchased by Dick Schultz of Rutland, Massachusetts, brought $14,500. It was the first choice female from three transfers made in November, 1998 from the Mtoto bull, a Prelude son bred in Italy, out Futuraland's Celsius cow, Zambi

The second high selling lot was consigned by MD-Dun-Loafin Farm in Burkittsville, Maryland, and brought $6,000. from buyer Greg Halbach, Tucson, Arizona The heifer, MD-Dun-Loafin LD Madison -ET, was a Leadoff daughter.

Third high selling lot in the sale was Vossman CC Grace-ET, an unfresh junior two-year-old consigned by Vossman Farm, Clayton, Delaware, and sold to Marion Andrews and Richard Green of Centreville, Maryland for $5,900.

Auctioneer for the sale was Chris Hill, Mt. Airy, Maryland. Sale managers were Chris and Budgee Hill.

DUPONT

Corn Growers are Impressed with DuPont Basis Gold® Used on Over 4.5 Million Acres of Corn.

If you were to ask local corn growers about Basis Gold® this is what they would say:

"We've been struggling with shattercane in our corn for years. This year we used Basis Gold® and we didn't have any at harvest. We're dairy farmers and silage is important. The shattercane problem in our corn was lowering the nutritional value of our silage. Basis Gold® controlled the shattercane and improved our silage quality. We harvest 6700 tons of silage per week and we want to harvest our corn when silage quality is optimum. Shattercane does not reach optimum silage quality at the same time as our corn. When harvested with corn, the silage quality is lowered."

"I have been farming most of my 56 years and one pass with Basis Gold® is the best weed control I have ever experienced – no Velvetleaf, Lambsquarters, Quackgrass or Fall Panicum. The one trip Basis Gold® cut my $45.00 / acre hard to control weed bill in half; we did not need to spray one acre out of the 1,400 acres of Basis Gold® a second time. Unlike what I have experienced several years in the past, Basis Gold® did not hold my corn back which resulted in higher yields, earlier maturity and lower drying costs. I have already purchased Basis Gold® for my next 1,400 acre corn crop."

"We switched all 2,300 acres of corn from pretreatments to one trip total post and we are glad we did. We actually used 3 different post programs but were mostly .66 oz. Accent + Exceed and 14 oz. Basis Gold® + 4 oz. Banvel. We will increase our 900 acres of Basis Gold® + Banvel to most of our corn acres because of the lowered cost and our Basis Gold® fields were the cleanest corn we have ever had. You could tell on the Lambsquarters & the Fall Panicum the next day where we sprayed & in about a week the only thing left green was corn. In previous years we were accustomed to spraying about 50% of our pretreated corn twice; it was all one trip with Basis Gold® – a savings we needed this year."

Steve Cullin
Cullin Farms
Crisfield, MD

"What we like about Basis Gold® on our 135 acres over other total post corn programs is that it has residual. Basis Gold® worked on our problem weeds – foxtails, "water grass", Cocklebur and Jimsonweed. I'll definitely use more acres of Basis Gold® again. My plan is to target my Basis Gold® to those fields where we have had a history of grass escapes in the past."

"I started off using Basis Gold® 3 years ago on 4 acres before DuPont had given it a name. We are now almost exclusively on all 600 acres of corn either Basis Gold® or Basis®. I keep trying all the new total post corn programs on limited acres but they don't have the residual I need or come up 20+ bushels short on yield. On all our no-till we plan to continue to use a burndown ahead of planting and follow with 14 oz. Basis Gold® + 4 oz. Banvel on 6-12 inch corn; we don't have Fall Panicum problems anymore.

Denis Bitters
Bitter Brothers
Bridgeton, NJ

"We have a problem with late season weeds in our corn. Weeds like Bur Cucumber, Lambsquarters, Velvetleaf, and Foxtail. Shattercane and Johnsongrass are an occasional problem This year we used Basis Gold® on 350 acres of corn and our corn was the cleanest we have ever had. Basis Gold® gave us late season control of grasses and broadleaves."

My experience is that it is cheaper to keep clean no-till corn with Basis Gold® post emerge when you figure in the total costs of a pre- followed by the acres that need a clean-up"

Marty Ross

"My dad said Basis Gold® is the best corn weed control we have had at harvest time in several years. We plan to repeat the one pass Basis Gold® on all 180 acres next season. One thing that impressed me is that all our fields stood a good 7-10 days ahead of other pretreated corn in the area planted at the same time. With the cool wet spring all the pre-herbicide corn seemed to be set back; our Basis Gold® corn took off and stayed ahead all season and seemed to dry down sooner too. I was pleased that we fertilized for 200 bushel corn and our results were 185-205 bushel."

"I decided to use one pass Basis Gold® after the corn came up because my dealer said this was better than a pre then following up post on corn. It worked on the Canada thistle, Jimsonweed, Morningglory and Fall Panicum problems we have. We were spending too much money going over the corn twice. I used Basis Gold® on 75 acres of neglected ground where I knew my standard pre product followed by a strong post broadleaf tank mix would be needed to have clean corn at harvest. This 14 oz. Basis Gold® + 4 oz. Banvel farm saved me money – it cost as much as my pre treatment but we only had to spray once for clean corn at harvest.

The Land Conservancy recently announced an additional three properties have been preserved under its program bringing the number of acres protected in Adams County to 654.

The Donohues retired to the farm recently from jobs in Philadelphia after several years of spending mostly weekends at the farm. They have restored the red brick farmhouse which Jack said took "mostly cosmetic" repairs.

They lease the orchards to a fruit grower, and Jack said, "When you talk about this preservation concept, they (farmers) can lease these places inexpensively so they can add to their acreage and also their profits and not have to go in at today's prices and buy more farmland."

Jack notes that at today's prices for farmland it makes it "almost uneconomical to farm, so if people are in interested in keeping their places as farms, but they're not really farmers, it makes a nice combination, I think. There's a synergy."

The couple learned about the land conservancy program through a friend who had preserved their land.

Claire said, "I was aware that there was a grassroots organization that was getting ready to form a land conservancy out here in our part of Adams County. We didn't have a lot of information because we were living in Philadelphia when they were having their orientation meetings . . . but our neighbors near here put some of their land in the conservancy and we talked to them and that's how we found out about it."

Explaining further, Jack said, "There are two programs. The one is what they call the Ag Preservation Program which pays the farmer and purchases the development rights and that's a program that's supported by the state and the county . . . and that appeals to many farmers.

"In our case, joining this land conservancy which is only a couple years old, we make what amounts to a charitable deduction of the development rights. That presents a more flexible contract. You can put some terms that you might like into it . . ..

Claire picks up the conversation. "You're working with a private organization, not a public organization, so it's less of a bureaucracy so flexibility is inherent."

Landowners who preserve their property can take a charitable deduction under federal income taxes based on an appraisal and formula that establishes the value of the farmland.

Jack explained that taking into account the zoning laws where he lives it was established that their land could have been divided into 35 lots.

They establish the "highest and best use" price less what the farm would sell for to get the final figure that can be used as a deduction. The IRS allows the landowner to spread the charitable deductions over a six-year period.

"It seems ideal for someone who lives in the city and wants to own a farm like we did and has a lot of income (both retired and received a lump sum so the deduction sheltered some of it). This kind of thing can help shelter income . . . it's probably not unreasonable to think that those income tax savings could help pay for a portion of the investment that they make to buy the place. And then if they can rent it out to a farmer, there's something in it for the farmer, and the real bottom line is it keeps the place a farm," Jack said.

". . . When you look at the cost of getting an acre of farmland preserved this way, it's very low, so it's efficient," he said.

Another advantage to the program, Jack said, is that the program reduces estate taxes.

While the program is beneficial to the landowner financially, many do not care about that, but do care about protecting the environment. "Some people will do it just for that, just because they want to preserve the farm. That's the important thing. All these other things are incentives to do what we think is the right thing," Jack said.

At the Land Conservancy's third annual March Membership Dinner Meeting, 70 members heard Russell Redding, a deputy secretary of the state Department of Agriculture speak about Gov. Tom Ridge's 21st Century Environmental Commission Report.

Redding said, "A five-mile wide corridor from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh would demonstrate Pennsylvania's loss of farmland to development since 1985, and since 1960, Pennsylvania's population has increased by 13 percent while land use has increased by 80 percent.

"These alarming facts are attributed to urban sprawl. Urban sprawl is defined as reckless, random unplanned growth and it is the number one environmental concern of Pennsylvanians. It is a sensitive issue and it has to be dealt with. The challenge is to carry the message of education as our daily decisions impact the future of our society. We need to make profound changes and have environmental concern foremost . . . Pennsylvania is the second most threatened state in the United States in danger of losing prime farmland," Redding said.

He praised Adams County for its support of the Land Conservancy of Adams County and the county's Agricultural Preservation Board.

The Land Conservancy which operates currently on all volunteer support is looking for additional help. If you can help contact Liz Brown, volunteer coordinator at 1-717-337-3424.

The group is also looking for a secretary and an executive director. Anyone interested in these posts should contact 1-717-334-2828.

Groff Wins National No-Till Award

ST LOUIS, MO - Steve Groff of Holtwood, recently received the "No-Till Innovator" award at the National No-Till Conference for developing and implementing no-till crop production methods on his farm

Groff was the first vegetable grower in Pennsylvania to experiment with using a mechanized no-till planter vegetable transplanter on a large scale No-till farming differs from more traditional farming methods, which require that the soil be mechanically "worked" by equipment prior to planting.

Groff began no-till farming in the early 1980s with 15 acres of corn. Today, he and his father farm 175 acres of corn, soybeans, alfalfa, tomatoes, pumpkins, soybeans and small grains. All of the crops and produce are grown without any tilling of the soil.

Because the soil is not disturbed prior to planting, no-till systems provide many environmental and economic benefits,

No-Till Farmer publication and Zeneca Ag Products sponsored the awards.

Lancaster Conservation District Presents Awards

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Last week the Lancaster County Conservation District honored individuals and organizations for their contributions at the district's annual banquet here at Yoder's Restaurant.

Following are additional awards presented at the banquet:

Service Awards

Donald M. Robinson, district administrator, recognized staff who recently left the district office and are pursuing careers elsewhere.

"District staff work very close together in very close quarters and we get to know each other well," Robinson said.

"We're like family. When one leaves, they are missed. We watched as one got married while two had their first child, and as one lost her parents and prepared for retirement."

Last year, three of the staff left, devoting a combined total of 28 years of service to the district. They included Lorraine Humbert, who joined the district in 1985 and served for 14 years as secretary to the Bay staff until November 1998, when she retired. While there, Robinson said, she processed more than 250 Chesapeake Bay plans and contracts and prepared billing to provide more than $4 million in cost-share reimbursement, "accounting for every penny of those funds," said Robinson. "I will miss her."

Wayne Carvell began service to the district in 1989, providing regional Bay engineering services to Lancaster, Chester, and Berks counties. When a new engineering position was created to coordinate engineering services for the Bay Program in the state, "Wayne was a logical choice, and now her serves the entire Bay area after almost 10 years on our staff," said Robinson. "He will be missed most by the many technicians he helped train and the contractors and farmers his services benefited."

Also honored was Travis Martin, who served as a Bay technician before moving onto work with the Lancaster Chamber of Commerce, the second of the staff to move to the Chamber (the other was Jim Shirk some years back).

"Travis quickly worked his way into our hearts with his always-present smile, his visionary ideas, and his ready willingness to assist at anything," noted Robinson.

Last year, three of the Lancaster County Conservation District staff left, devoting a combined total of 28 years of service to the district. They included, from left, Wayne Carvell, Lorraine Humbert, and Travis Martin, all honored for their contributions to the district.

Martin ran the very successful Conservation District Expo, said Robinson. "His vision for watershed-based activities as a solution to improving water quality is an idea the rest of the state is now just embracing."

Building Industry Conservation Award

The Building Industry Conservation Award recognizes nonag land uses, according to David D. Miller, a director of the district.

According to L. Nevin Greiner, resource conservationist and narrator of the presentation, Masonic Homes, Elizabethtown, was recognized. Located on 1,400 acres, the Masonic Homes in Elizabethtown is a continuing care retirement community, children's home, and community service organization.

Said Greiner, "Established in 1910, the Masonic Homes is owned and operated by the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania. The founders looked across Pennsylvania for a location that had good transportation, clean air and water, abundant pastureland, and productive agricultural land."

Most of the acreage is in West Donegal Township. The facility serves 1,300 residents and employs about 1,000.

The campus includes 270 residential accommodations, with formal gardens, large water fountain, and other amenities, in addition to the Masonic Health Care Center, a greenhouse, and the Masonic Homes Children's Home.

Expansion took place with the opening of the Independent Living Community in 1990. Since then, construction of 100 additional independent living cottages with various floor plans for residents has been completed. There is also a children's daycare center with all-day kindergarten.

"The Masonic Homes provides many services to the local community," Greiner noted. "Some of these include day care services for adults with physical or cognitive impairments."

Masonic Homes was recognized because "of the way in which they have managed and directed that growth," said Greiner. "Of the 1,400 acres at the location, 600 are cropland and 400 are pasture. There is also an orchard."

The Master Growth Plan for Masonic Homes continues to be "influenced by the land stewardship philosophies that were held by the original founders." Existing buildings were refurbished and expanded. Growth was also

Long-Day Photoperiods Can Increase Milk Production

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Lancaster County Extension held its annual dairy days events recently with topics ranging from tools to use to evaluate the business, as well as the potential benefits of artificial light controls on milk production.

Lancaster's program, organized by county extension agent Glenn Shirk, consists of two different days of events, both featuring different speakers and differing topical emphases.

The first day featured a two-man team from the Midwest — a consultant and a dairy farmer — who traded the stage in discussing techniques and actual applications of theory.

The second day, held more recently, featured four different speakers. Discussed was supplemental controlled lighting to boost milk production in Holsteins (research didn't included other breeds); two types of nutrient management considerations, one based on nitrogen control, the other on phosphorus; and an update on the need for biosecurity and controls against Johne's Disease.

First day speakers were Gary Sipiorski, an agricultural banker and senior president and director Citizens Bank of Loyal, Wisconsin.

In his regular business, he provides financial and business management advice to dairy producers with herds ranging from 15 head of cattle to 1,500 head.

He also writes for Hoard's Dairyman magazine and some other agricultural publications, as well as speaking before groups internationally. He also serves as a consultant to the organization of Professional Dairy Producers of Wisconsin, and to Monsanto Inc.

Prior to joining the bank in 1991, Sipiorski was a district manager in the feed industry, where he had worked with farmers, feed dealers, and field nutritionists for 18 years.

His teammate in the presentation, Ralph Bredl Jr. of Wisconsin, is a successful dairy producer who has managed his farm with a business attitude. His operation expanded from 70 Holsteins to 300 in five years and has a 31,500-pound milk production average.

Bredl shared information on what financial tools he uses in his day-to-day and long-term management decision-making. Effectively, Bredl served as an example of the effects of putting to practice the advice of Sipiorski.

The second day speakers were Dr. Geoff Dahl, Leon Ressler, Dr. Mike Collins, and Dr. Andrew Sharpley.

All of these speakers are involved with research involving the environmental impacts from and to dairy cattle.

Dr. Geoff Dahl talked about the effects of photoperiod (duration of constant light) on lactation in dairy cattle.

Dahl is assistant professor at the University of Maryland since 1994, and has served as coordinator of its undergraduate program since 1996.

According to Dahl, given the day-light periods in the regions where dairy cattle originated, it was theorized that there could naturally be some response to changes in exposure to light.

He said that while the research has been done on Holsteins, he assumed the findings should hold true for the other dairy breeds, including Brown Swiss, which have a slightly different bovine heritage than the others.

While the effect of photoperiod on cattle has been known for some time — such as in growing lankier, faster maturing heifers, though somewhat lighterweight — Dahl's research, and that of some others, has focused on determining the amounts, times and actual durations of exposure to light and the response in milk pounds.

According to Dahl, the response is 4- to 5-pounds per cow (about an 8-percent increase), and the effect is additive when used with bovine somatotropin (BST).

He said that with current technology and research, the most effective production enhancement program would incorporate photoperiod manipulations, three-times-per day milking, and the use of supplemental BST.

While the type of light is not important in achieving a response, it is important when considering cost and safety. He said to use high pressure sodium or metal halide lamps.

Dahl explained that while his research was conducted in an atypical barn design — it was a freestall converted to a tie-stall and there were fewer cows than in a typical situation — the response will occur.

In report he had published last year, he wrote, "The stimulatory effect of long days on milk production in cattle has since been confirmed across North America and Europe."

The duration of long-light days should be 16 to 18 hours. The minimum amount of light required to get a response is at least 10 to 12 foot candles (it is not perceived in sheep and goats below 5 foot candles), but he said he recommends designing to provide 20 foot candles of light for the eyes of the cattle, because of the strength of the light emitted by the bulbs over the lifetime of the bulb.

As bulbs age, the amount of light lessens in intensity.

A photoperiod is the time of light exposure. A timer can easily be used to turn the lights on in the morning for milking, and then having them turned off automatically in the evening.

The light has to strike the eyes of the animal, it can't be directed for exposure on their backs or backend, in order to receive the benefit.

The artificial light should be placed evenly throughout the barn, taking into account posts and beams (which cast shadows).

He said that when setting up the lighting grid plan, consider the height of the light fixture mounts. As a rule of thumb, he said the distance between lights should be no more than 1.8 times the mounting height.

To determine the amount of lighting, he provided a formula.

Total lumens
= (Area)(Foot candles)(K)

Where "K" is a constant, with a value of 3 for supplemental outdoor situations, and a value of 2 for indoor.

To determine the number of lighting fixtures, he also provided a formula.

No. of fixtures
= Total lumens/lamp lumens

He stressed the importance of maintaining a no-light period of 6-8 hours per day.

Without the dark period, there is no milk response.

Furthermore, he said that working with short light periods with dry cows seems to provide a greater response when switching to a long-day during lactation.

In a summary of his work provided, he stated, "Relative to short days (less than 13 hours of light per day), a long day photoperiod increases milk yield from 8- to 10 percent.

"Recently, we determined that this elevated milk yield is associated with an increase in insulin-like growth factor-1 (IGF-1). Further, the photoperiodically regulated hormone melatonin can suppress the long-day induced rise in IGF-1.

"Because IGF-1 is the mediator of growth hormone action, we pursued the possibility of enhancing growth hormone action in lactating cows by combining it with photoperiod.

"Cows exposed to long days and given (injections of bovine somatotropin or BST) showed an additive response with regard to milk production," Dahl stated.

Leon Ressler, a Lancaster County Extension agent who conducts educational programs on environmental issues, has been involved with nutrient management issues and regulations for a number of years.

He reviewed the various regulatory changes that have been issued in recent months and years from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Ressler talked about the threshholds for populations density on a farm for which Pennsylvania law mandates the creation and use of

Breeding Swine Sell Well At Lebanon

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — The Pennsylvania Yorkshire Association held its annual spring show and sale recently at the Lebanon Area Fairgrounds in Lebanon.

The event is a collaborative show and sale involving three swine purebreeds — Yorkshire, Duroc, and Hampshires.

Buyers at the sale represented seven states. Auctioneer was Harry Bachman of Annville.

Bred Gilts

The top Yorkshire bred gilt was exhibited by Leon Arnold of Lebanon and sold for $350 to William Buckman of Sellersville. The sale price of Yorkshire bred gilts averaged $260.

The Duroc bred gilts sold for an average of $220.

The Hampshire bred gilts averaged $330 during the sale, with the champion consigned by Donald Chambers Jr. of Marion Center selling for $260 to Charles Billings of Parish, N.Y.

The top-selling Hampshire bred gilt sold to Lawrence Byrd of Vienna, Va. for $375 and was consigned by Clyd McConaughey of Smicksburg, Pa.

Open Gilts

In the open gilts, Jason Shirk of Lebanon showed the champion Yorkshire, that sold for $250 to Arnold Yorkshires of Lebanon. The top selling Yorkshire open gilt was consigned by Jim Parlett of Airville and sold for $260 to Greg Innerst of Red Lion.

The top Duroc open gilt was exhibited by Holloway Genetics of Glen Rock and sold later for $440 to Jimmie Clark of Mt. Airy, Md. The Duroc open gilts sold for an average of $173.

In the Hampshire breed, the open gilts sold for an average of $165. The champion was exhibited by Holloway Genetics and sold to David Bahrs of Parish, N.Y. for $310.

Boars

In the boar show, the champion Yorkshire was exhibited by Conrad Neutzel of Glen Rock. It sold for $325 to Flemming Brothers Inc. of Hampstead, Md. The top selling Yorkshire boar was consigned by Jim Parlett of Airville that sold for $425 to Henry Johnson and son of Selbyville, Delaware.

In the Duroc breed, the boars averaged $245. The champion was exhibited by Holloway Genetics and it sold for $400 to Jimmie Clark of Mt. Airy, Md.

The champion Hampshire boar was exhibited by Charles Bomgarder and sons of Annville. It sold for $200 to Todd Bennecoff of Kutztown. On average, Hampshire boars sold for $200.

The Pennsylvania Yorkshire Association has also announced that its annual fall show and sale is scheduled for Sept. 9-11. For more inforamtion, contact the association.

DEP To Hold NPDES Permit Public Hearing For CAFO

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The state Department of Environmental Protection is to hold both a public meeting and hearing March 30 in Mansfield to answer questions and receive public comment on two permit applications by Hostetter Management Company of Lititz for a concentrated animal feeding operation (CAFO) in Sullivan Township, Tioga County.

The meeting is to start at 6:30 p.m. at the Mansfield Hose Company Fire Hall, 381 South Main Street, Mansfield.

The public hearing is to start at 8 p.m. at the same place.

According to an announcement published in DEP's weekly Update publication (available through the agency's website at www.dep.state.pa.us), "This is the first operation of its type proposed in our region," said DEP Acting Regional Director William Parsons. "We expect the public will have questions about the proposal, and we want to make information available to them before they present testimony at the hearing."

CAFOs are U.S. Environmental Protection Agency coined terms referring to high-density, confined housing livestock operations.

High density operations existed prior to confinement housing. Confinement housing arose because it offers better climate control, disease control and health control for the livestock. Ultimately, controlling climate and disease results in better productivity and higher efficiencies.

Pennsylvania has its own Nutrient Management Law, but the U.S. EPA has created a national program whereby states are to adopt regulations that fulfill EPA requirements.

Recently, DEP proposed changes to existing regulations to conform to EPA regulations.

The federal government considers that CAFOs are point sources of nutrient pollution, and thereby require federal permits authorized under the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES). That means an NPDES permit is required to operate a CAFO. Public hearings can be required as part of the NPDES permitting program.

An NPDES permit is also required for earth-moving activities in excess of a certain acreage, which, in this case, relates to the construction activities of the proposed facility.

Hostetter Management Company is a fairly well known business that is involved in what is commonly referred to as contract swine housing operations. The company manages sow units in different locations throughout the state. (The company was profiled in an article in the Oct. 18, 1997 issue of Lancaster Farming.)

During the meeting, DEP water management program officials are to explain the applications for the discharge and impoundment construction permits, and answer questions.

During the hearing, citizens are to be allowed a maximum of 10 minutes to present oral testimony regarding the permit applications.

Additional written testimony also may be submitted.

All oral testimony is to be recorded and transcribed and combined with written testimony into a final written document for review.

DEP is to respond in writing to all pertinent testimony before making a decision on the permit applications.

In order to testify, citizens can register as they enter the Mansfield Hose Company Fire Hall.

To review the permit applications, they are to be made available at the regional DEP Office in Williamsport, located at 208 West Third Street, Suite 101.

However, an appointment must be made to review the permit applications. To make an appointment, call Kathy Arndt at (570) 327-3693.

USDA Economist: Future Looks Grim For Tobacco Growers

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

BAREVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Cigarette manufacturers are becoming larger and more conglomerated. Decisions are falling into the hands of fewer and fewer people.

Increasingly, more foreign tobacco is going into a typical cigarette — most cigarettes use about 44 percent foreign tobacco.

Unless domestic growers come up with some way to direct-market their tobacco, they will continue to lose ground, mostly because of declining use of the product and trouble spots in wake of severe nationwide litigation against processors, according to Dr. Thomas Capehart, ag economist and tobacco analyst with the USDA Economic Research Service, Washington, D.C.

Despite Maryland tobacco market prices averaging $1.74 a pound, southeast Pennsylvania tobacco prices have plummeted to almost unheard-of lows, averaging near 58 cents a pound — dangerously close and in some cases below break-even costs. (For hired labor, $1 per pound is about break even, according to some growers.)

Capehart addresed these issues Wednesday afternoon in front of 170 growers and agri-industry representatives at a Tobacco Futures meeting at the Bareville Fire Company.

As a USDA economist, Capehart provides information about historic trends in tobacco prices to various agencies, growers, manufacturers, and even the "anti-tobacco" people, he said.

Cigarettes make up about 95 percent of total product sales. A typical cigarette includes the flue-cured, burley, type 32 (the same as the Maryland Type 609 grown only in Maryland and Pennsylvania), and oriental blends.

Domestic manufacturers import a lot of tobacco, Capehart noted. Forty-four percent of the tobacco used to manufacture cigarettes is imported. About 14 percent is oriental. tobacco from Turkey, Macedonia, and Italy. Flue-cured tobacco in cigarettes comes from Brazil and Zimbabwe, and burley from Brazil, Zimbabwe, Malaysia, and other areas.

Another factor that has contributed to the chaotic market is that cigarette consumption is doing down, 2 percent per year in the U.S., because of health issues and steep price increases. The tobacco market was at its prime in 1996, when one-third of all cigarettes manufactured in the U.S. were exported. That year, 760 billion cigarettes were manufactured, "the highest ever," said Capehart.

Since then, domestic consumption has declined, the Asian financial crisis has put a stopper on export sales, and sharp price increases have done their damage — by 45 cents a pack right after the huge lawsuit settled by the states and the manufacturers in November. "This was an unprecedented increase," said Capehart.

Capehart outlined just how big that problem is. The original trend for price increases was 50 cents in 10 years. According to the economist's projections, that kind of increase, by the year 2010, would put cigarette output down to 620 billion annually and a demand for tobacco leaf down from 820 million pounds today to 740 million pounds.

The settlement — $206 billion to the states over a 25-year period of time — includes $1.5 billion on smoking bans in advertisements and other areas.

The U.S. remains the largest importer and exporter of tobacco (sometimes Brazil beats out the U.S. for exports). For each $1 the average consumer spends on cigarettes, the farmer receives about 2 cents. Twenty-five cents is taken up in taxes.

And the strong supply of burley tobacco does not bode well for growers in Pennsylvania.

For tobacco grown in other countries, a great deal of the seed, fertilizer, and other inputs come directly from the tobacco companies.

For many reasons, Capehart couldn't answer exactly why the prices in Pennsylvania have been so low, when Maryland tobacco bids at $1.70 or more are being rejected by growers in Maryland.

Other forces are obviously acting to keep the market low.

As for the future of Lancaster County-grown 609 tobacco, Capehart said, "I wish I could tell you want was going to happen," he said. "No matter what I said, it probably would be the wrong thing."

He said that though cigarette consumption has dropped a few percentage points, there was no explanation for the 150 percent decline in prices paid to farmers at the local auctions.

"There are factors here I just don't understand," he said. "But something is going on."

For growers, he said, these are awfully depressing times.

"Right now the U.S. is not looking at a real bright market for Maryland 609 tobacco," he said.

According to Jane Balmer, Lancaster County Farm Bureau president who spoke to growers at the fire hall, the lowest price she saw at all five warehouses in Maryland the past week was $1.40 a pound. The high was $2 a pound, she said.

"The farmers are unhappy and there's an awful lot of rejection," she said. Average sale prices were $1.74 per pound.

If Lancaster growers could get those kind of prices, she noted, "we'd just be rejoicing."

According to Bob Anderson, Lancaster County crops agent, so far the Pennsylvania Tobacco Marketing Association auction sold about 3.7 million pounds this year, with an average price of 66 cents per pound.

(Just a few years ago, some growers were getting $1.40 a pound or more.)

The Maryland growers operate under a checkoff. The checkoff fuels international marketing efforts to sell the tobacco to Sweden, Italy, France, and even Japan.

Those international deals made 40 years ago have really paid off, according to Balmer. The growers became friends with the markets and the loyalty has been in place ever since.

Balmer said the Pennsylvania marketing association will try to seek out markets through several sources, including the Internet.

"In order for us to get better here, we need to stick together," noted Balmer. "We need to become friends to the companies."

John Yocum, Penn State Extension Southeastern Research Center manager in Landisville, noted to the growers that blue mold has already shown up in beds in Georgia and Florida — so this year could provide additional blue mold challenges for Pennsylvania growers.

Blue mold spores travel up the East Coast on storm fronts and can sometimes sweep in the same way from Kentucky. Growers should pay attention to the weather and their stock and use proven control methods to keep this year from becoming disastrous in the field.

Also, growers should do what is necessary to control insect challenges, such as aphids and flea beetles. Because of the warm temperatures recorded this winter, this could prove to be another bad flea beetle year, noted Yocum.

The past growing season was the first time in Yocum's career spanning 38 years in the county that he's seen real serious problems with budworms. The warmer winters are allowing higher insect carryover.

To get better tobacco prices for high quality material, growers should do what is necessary now to prepare their crops, Yocum noted.

Farm Safety - Article 40

The goal is to keep the farm a safe and enjoyable place for family, friends and workers Alert family, friends, workers and guests to existing hazards and offer appropriate training programs to people working in hazardous environments and with hazardous equipment and chemicals Respect your own life too, because you mean a lot to others Don t take chances! Some possible safety hazards are listed below

1 Killer gasses

- Silo gasses

  It can cause serious lung damage and death Once exposed, people generally are more sensitive to future exposures

  Be alert to the presence of yellowish brown, acrid smelling gasses that accumulate around the base of silos at silo filling time and in the weeks that follow Also look for dead birds at the base of the silo chute

  Aerate the silo, feed rooms and other areas around the silo well before entering If necessary, use a breathing apparatus when entering suspect silos

- Manure pit gasses

  These can be silent killers! Some of them attack the nervous system and kill your sense of smell

  Some of these gasses (methane) are explosive Keep sparks and flames away from enclosed manure pits

  Aerate pits well before entering

  Never work alone Never enter a pit to rescue someone else Instead, use a tether so you can pull people out of problem situations, or summon qualified rescue workers

  Fence off and grate manure storage areas

2 Machinery and equipment
- Know the machinery and equipment you are operating Read the manual
- Keep alert and respect its power
- Power shafts, pulleys, augers, etc
  Use protective shields
  Disengage power to avoid working around moving parts
  Wear tight clothing
- Extra riders Don't allow them
- Observing children Supervise them and know where they are
- Slow moving vehicles on highways
  Display slow moving vehicle (SMV) signs
  Practice highway courtesy and use lights and turning signals whenever appropriate

3 Upsets (overturns)
- Drive at safe speeds
- Respect slopes, hidden holes and soft spots
- Avoid driving too close to banks, edges of bunker silos, etc
- Keep front loader low when driving and when turning
- Avoid elevating front end loaders when sitting or operating on a side slope
- Install roll-over bars and use seat belts as appropriate

4 Animals
- Bulls Keep them constrained or penned, and don't trust them
- Protective dogs Keep dangerous animals tied or penned and warn people of them

5 Chemicals
- Pesticides, ammonia, cleaners, drugs, needles, etc
  Store them safely -- separate from other products, out or reach, locked up, etc
  Store chemicals and other dangerous materials in their originally labeled containers
  Comply with label instructions
  Wear protective gear, change clothing and wash-up after using pesticides
- Empty containers Wash them and render them useless

6 Flammables
- Petroleum products Keep sparks, matches, etc away from them

7 Falls
- Unsafe Heights Supervise children
  Silos, hay mows, tobacco scaffolds, etc
- Hay holes, etc Keep them protected
- Slippery floors Make skid proof
- Ladders, steps, etc Keep them in good repair
- Clutter Remove it

8 Electricity
- Faulty wiring Update electrical system
- Frayed cords Discard or repair them

9 Shops and shop equipment
- Saws Use guards, exercise caution, wear tight clothing
- Torches Keep away from children

Pa. Guernsey Breeders Plan 68th Annual Meeting

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — Plans for the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Guernsey Association have been announced recently.

According to published reports, the meeting is to take place at The Arena Restaurant in Bedford, April 23-24.

The deadline for making reservations for meals during the annual meeting is April 20.

The event is to begin at 12:30 p.m., April 23, with registration, followed at 2 p.m. with the annual business meeting of the association.

A hospitality hour is set to start at 5 p.m., followed at 6:30 p.m., with the 68th annual awards banquet, featuring the presentation of adult production awards and All-Pennsylvania awards.

Also, a special guest is to speak, as is state Dairy Princess Jennifer Dotterer.

A craft auction is also planned as part of the awards banquet.

At 10 p.m., an association social is scheduled.

On April 24, at 8 a.m. a junior member awards breakfast and crowning of the state Guernsey queen is planned, followed at 10 a.m. with a meeting concerning Middle Atlantic Guernsey Sires (MAGS).

At 12 p.m., the action moves to the Bedford County 4-H Building, for a pre-sale luncheon, followed at 1 p.m. with the Blue Halter Calf Sale, and additional consignments.

Reservations for accomodations are to be made individually. To make reservations, call the Bedford Quality Inn at (814) 623-5188. Indicate the reservations are being made in conjunction with the annual meeting.

Meal reservations need to be made for the April 23 awards banquet ($12.50 per adult, $6.50 per child younger than 11), for the April 24 junior member awards breakfast ($6.50 per non-junior member, no cost to junior members).

To make meal reservations, complete a reservation form, or indicate on paper for which meals and for how many people reservations are being made, and send a check for the total amount, made payable to: PA Guernsey Breeders Association.

Reservations should be mailed to: PA Guernsey Breeders Association, 222 Martin School Road, Enon Valley, PA 16120.

of Medicine and has taken on national leadership roles within her profession.

As a University extension director, Schadler has impacted the lives of hundreds of individuals. She has served as an adviser for the Master Gardener program in her region; has served on dozens of committees locally, regionally and statewide; is deeply involved in 4-H programs in the county, is a founding member of the Lebanon Family Health Services Board; and helped to develop Leadership Lebanon Valley, a community-based leadership program for men and women. She also is a guest on a monthly local radio show.

The Schaer Award was instituted in 1994 to honor individuals who exemplify the mentoring of Rosemary Schraer, who joined Penn State in 1959 and served from 1981-85 as associate vice provost, before being named the first woman chancellor in the University of California System. She died in 1992.

Penn State's Commission for Women, in existence since 1981, advises the university president on matters concerning women at all of Penn State's 24 locations. The commission recommends policies and programs to enhance Penn State's working and learning environments.

In 1998, she received the Distinguished Athena Award from the Lebanon Chamber of Commerce, recognizing her for her advancement of women in the Lebanon Valley and her contributions to the economy of that region.

Schadler who was first hired by Penn State in 1969 as an assistant extension home economist, has shown her leadership skills from the beginning, encouraging new colleagues and involving them in the community.

"Letie has an innate ability to encourage others both personally and professionally, and she does this with everyone she comes into contact," said one nominator. "She is skillful at helping others succeed without placing herself in the limelight," said another.

Cited for her humor, leadership, compassion, guidance and ability to bring out the best in others, one nominator called Schadler, "our universal aunt" for the sage advice she dispenses and the overall caring attitude she displays.

"Alletta Schadler has given fully of herself in the investment of people for a better Penn State and community."

Dairylea Sponsors Dairy Conference

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — A conference with the objective of discussing the revitalization and growth of the dairy industry in the Northeast is set to be held March 31-April 1 at the Syracuse Marriott on Carrier Circle, in East Syracuse, N.Y.

The two-day conference has been planned to serve dairy farmers and the agribusiness sector.

Though a detailed schedule was not announced, both days are to consist of expert speakers and panel discussions on topics ranging from the government's role in supporting agriculture to processor perspectives to producer concerns for managing for profitability.

The cost of the conference is $75 per person and reservations are needed. Call Mary Downes at 1-800-654-8838, extension 526, for registration information.

Overnight accomodations can made directly by calling the Marriott at 1-800-782-9847. A block of rooms has been reserved for the conference at a rate of $89 per night.

Dairylea Cooperative Inc. is based in Syracuse and has more than 2,600 member dairy farmers in the Northeast. It markets 5 billion pounds of milk annually and participates, and is invested in, a milk marketing network throughout the region.

The cooperative also has a subsidary that provides member services, such as insurance, lending, leasing, and risk management.

The conference is to start March 31 with a welcome by Dairlea President Clyde Rutherford, followed by USDA Under-Secretary August Schumacher Jr.

Also scheduled is a panel discussion with panel members consisting of representatives of sectors of the dairy industry, including Dairylea's CEO Rick Smith; a talk by Monte Hemenover, director of industry affairs for Monsanto Agricultural Company; and a panel discussion by representatives of the dairy processing and manufacturing industry.

On April 1, Dr. David Galton, Cornell University professor of dairy management is to start the day with a talk about competitive advantages in the Northeast; followed by a panel discussion with the panel consisting of dairy producers; followed by questioning of the panel by financial and legal specialists.

"We believe that the Northeast, with its many advantages, is, and will remain, among the best places in the country for dairy farming," said Dairylea CEO Smith in a news release.

Senate Hears Concerns On Expanding Endangered Fish Listing

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Members of the state Senate Game and Fisheries Committee recently heard concerns about proposed regulations that would expand the listing of endangered and threatened fish species in Pennsylvania, according to Committee Chairman Edward Helfrick (R-27).

Sen. Helfrick said the committee held a public hearing to learn more about the economic and environmental impact of a plan by the Pennsylvania Fish and Boat Commission to add 13 new species to the endangered and threatened fish species list.

Among those expressing reservations about the plan were representatives of industry groups who felt such an expansion could pose a high price tag for many businesses that will have to comply with tougher regulations in areas where endangered species are identified.

Helfrick said he agreed with many of those testifying that the regulations, because of their major economic and environmental impact, should go before a regulatory review board before being approved. Such a step would ensure that they are fully reviewed before taking effect.

"The Fish and Boat Commission currently does not have to undergo regulatory review, a process that makes sense when the issues require quick approval, such as the setting of seasons and creel limits. But in cases like this where many people and businesses will be affected, the proposals should face closer scrutiny," Helfrick said.

Several senators also questioned whether information about the proposed changes had been disseminated widely enough and if more public input was needed before the Commission moves ahead with plans. They recommended more hearing in the western part of the state, which will be most affected by the list expansion.

As a result of the hearing, the Fish and Boat Commission announced it would hold a public hearing on the issue, March 29, in Meadville.

Helfrick said he also shares concerns about the statistical data used to make decisions on what types of fish to add to the threatened and endangered list.

He added that the Fish and Boat Commission should make public the criteria used to add fish to the list and provide more public information about its sampling data.

Other senators wanted to know why no fish species have been removed from the endangered list. They questioned the effectiveness of the program if no species has been restored as a result of the endangered status.

University of Delaware 25th Ag Day

NEWARK, Del. — The University of Delaware, has announced its 25th Ag Day celebration, April 24, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., rain or shine. This annual event will be held on the grounds surrounding the Townsend and Worrilow halls and the farm on South College Avenue in Newark.

Ag Day is organized by student organizations at the University's College of Agriculture and Natural Resources and their advisors.

There are to be many educational displays, demonstrations and activities devoted to agriculture and the environment. Children can hold a chick, ride a pony, pat a piglet at the farm-animal petting zoo or catch a wagon tour of the farm. 4-H will set up an educational display for kids.

Parents can get a free car seat safety check sponsored by the Delaware Safe Kids Coalition. Home gardeners can stock up on vegetable and flower bedding plants or learn to identify garden pests and weeds at a Master Gardners booth.

In the Fischer Greenhouse, visitors can peruse and purchase a plethora of perennials at the 7th Annual UD Botanic Gardens (UDBG) Benefit Plant Sale. This year the sale will feature hypericums, ferns and illicium, as well as difficult-to-find flowers, shrubs, and trees.

Ag Day is free and open to the public. Parking is free. For more information, call 302-831-1125.

Why Supplement Feeds?

Increasing demands for peak production and sustained lactation drain vital nutrients from your herd. Heavy producers are more likely to need supplemented, but there are many factors influencing supplementation requirements.

Feed supplements are used to replenish nutrients the body is burning.

Pro-Min™ may be fed to dry or lactating dairy cows on a regular basis. Fortified with Vitamin E and Selenium.

Vita-Guard™ for those times when you want to provide additional support. Vita-Guard™ may be given at freshening, when animals are off their feed and given to calves at weaning. No withdraw.

QUESTION: We have been testing for milk urea nitrogen for a year now and are still confused on the proper way to make it pay for us. How do we start to use our MUN report?

ANSWER: I have a feeling that even though Pa. DHIA has been testing for milk urea nitrogen (MUN), as well as keeping a data base, since October 1995, this still is a question on the minds of a lot of people who are involved in feeding dairy cows.

For those with experience, just consider this article a review. For those who have not yet tried to use this technology, I hope to shed some light on the subject.

The first step in starting to use MUN technology is to look at the average that has been established when we test all individual cows in the herd.

Common sense tells us that what we are trying to determine is whether we are feeding all cows within a herd correctly.

The average MUN value shows us that we may be feeding the herd properly, if the average is between 10 and 14.

A lower than 10 MUN value indicates the herd is not being fed to reach its productive potential. Higher than 14 indicates that the feed cost may be higher than it needs to be.

Low MUN simply means that the relationship between protein and energy is not in line, and there are two possible scenarios that may cause this to happen.

The first thing blamed in most cases is not meeting the protein needs of the cow. This is especially true concerning the rumen degradable portion of the protein.

We also need to consider that we can supply the cow with the correct protein type and amount, but still have excessive rumen-available carbohydrates that will result in lower MUN values.

High MUN can tell us that too much protein is in the diet.

Because protein is the highest cost component in most diets, we can be wasting money when this is the case.

Increased MUN values can also be seen when protein is correctly supplied in the diet, but we short the cows as far as carbohydrates are concerned.

In either case, the cow must convert the unused protein into urea and expel it from her system. This will deplete the energy that is already in short supply and may result in decreased production.

As MUN value increases, so does the chance of complications. In severe cases, reproductive performance can also be hampered.

The last place to stop using MUN is when your value is neither high nor low. That's right!

Stopping here is the place where people using MUN make the most common mistake.

An average MUN between 10 and 14 should be our goal, but what makes up that average is equally important.

As an example, a herd average of 12 is optimal when all cows are between 10 and 14. The same average can be attained by half of the herd with a MUN value of 6, and the other with a value of 18.

In this latter case, we would be suppressing production on half the herd (MUN 6), while the other half (MUN 18) is costing us money because we're supplying protein that cows aren't using.

Interpreting MUN does not have to be done alone.

Veterinarians, nutritionists, extension agents, feed consultants, can all be used to help determine the direction we need to go with our feed management.

Pa.DHIA is offering our members a free farm visit to enhance the usage of MUN to all who are willing to pick up the telephone and ask.

I've done many farm visits to date, and I'm looking forward to more in the future. Waiting to hear from you.

nitrogen-based nutrient management planning and implementation.

He also discussed the EPA's Concentrated Animal Feeding Operation (CAFO) national rules. Pennsylvania recently finalized its proposal for compliance with EPA.

Ressler also discussed the EPA-USDA Unified Strategy for Animal Feeding Operations (AFOs).

While much has been written about the changes and the regulations, he reminded farmers that more and more public attention has been directed toward agriculture, especially high density operations.

He advised that there are new permitting requirements and costs associated with manure management and operational size.

Furthermore, the size or intensity of the farming operation no longer has a bearing on whether it is subject to mandatory planning.

Depending upon the rating of the water quality of the watershed basin in which a farm is sited, it may be required to adopt an approved nutrient management plan.

He supplied a list of watersheds in Lancaster County that have been assigned high quality values, so that farmers could better determine if they are in such an area.

Follwing Ressler on the program was Dr. Andrew Sharpley, a soil scientist at the USDA Agricultural Research Station at Penn State. He works at its Pasture Systems and Watershed Management Research Laboratory.

Last year, Dr. Sharpley headed the first regional phosphorus conference at Penn State, a conference filled with detailed research reports that attracted a number of academic, commercial and political specialists.

Sharpley's research with USDA has investigated the cycling of phosphorus in soil-plant-water systems in relation to soil productivity and water quality, and includes the management of fertilizers, crop residues, and animal manures.

He has developed models that simulate soil chemical processes and transport of phosphorus in storm water and other runoff.

Currently, Dr. Sharpley is leading research to develop ways of identifying agricultural fields that are vulnerable to phosphorus loss in runoff, so that more flexible and effective best management practices can be developed and targeted for use on those fields.

He reviewed that initial research and the likelihood that should Pennsylvania's Nutrient Management Act be revised to account for phosphorus, it would be targeted to areas of the farm where phosphorus leaching is more likely.

The problem with phosphorus, Sharpley explained, is that the level in soil needed to evoke a crop response is 2 parts per million, while the amount of phosphorus in water needed to evoke a response is .02 parts per million.

The Chesapeake Bay, he explained is unique in the fact that its watershed is tremendously large in relationship to the size of the body of water. That makes it especially vunerable to effects from land disturbances and activities.

Maryland Dairy Industry Association Promotes Compact

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Members of the Maryland Dairy Industry Association (MDIA) recently joined other producers and co-op groups in Washington, D.C. to promote Option 1-A marketing order reforms, and reauthorization of the Northeast Interstate Dairy Compact.

Meetings were held with senators, congressmen, and their staffs to discuss these issues and their impact on dairy operations.

Although lawmakers in Annapolis approved Maryland's entry into the Northeast Dairy Compact last year, federal reauthorization is still required for full implementation.

MDIA President Myron L. Wilhide of Detour, Maryland, was joined by Jesse Burrell, a producer from Monrovia, Maryland, along with representatives from the Maryland Department of Agriculture and the Maryland & Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative, in meetings with the Maryland congressional delegation.

"I believe our visits were a great success," said Wilhide. "I tip my hat to the States Ratification Committee for their efforts in putting this initiative together. In order to be effective in the public policy arena, dairy farmers must bring their concerns straight to the halls of Congress. Only then can lawmakers get a better idea of our needs and concerns. I was pleased that MDIA was able to be a part of this effort, and can assure Maryland producers that their concerns were heard."

The two-day program attracted over 120 dairy farmers from 30 states nationwide. Over 200 visits were made to congressional offices in the House and Senate. Efforts to reauthorize the Northeast Dairy Compact, along with authorization for a similar compact in the Southeast, are currently pending in Congress.

The House measure, sponsored by Rep. Bob Etheridge (D-NC), currently has 52 cosponsors. The Senate bill has 27 supporters, including Maryland Sens. Barbara Mikulski (D-Md.) and Paul Sarbanes (D-Md.). A decision by USDA Secretary Dan Glickman is anticipated later this month.

"MDIA plans to continue promoting producer concerns through future activities on Capitol Hill," Wilhide said. "Our ongoing efforts in Annapolis are important, but we need to make sure that our close proximity to Washington is effectively utilized as well."

MDIA represents dairy producers and the industries that serve them from the Cumberland Valley to the Eastern Shore. It also seeks to enhance the economic viability of the state's third largest agricultural sector.

When applying manure to fields to meet nitrogen needs, the level of phosphorus in the manure is more typically two to three times what the crops need.

To help control phosphorus levels in soil, Sharpley said there are several suggestions — the use of the phytase enzyme in feed (helps animal use a greater percentage of phosphorus in feed, thus eliminating the amount discharged in manure), using customized feed rations, strategically apply manure in locations not subjected to high soil losses at rates to prevent overloading, and in some cases, incorporating the manure below a 2-inch depth will help.

The incorporation below 2-inches is a technique to lock away phosphorus from the upper-soil microbes which can convert it into a soluble form and subject it to storm water runoff.

Poultry house have been using alum, which binds with phosphorus and makes it chemically inert.

Dr. Mike Collins is an expert on Johne's disease and works at the Veterinary School at the University of Wisconsin.

He presented a brief overview of how and why the organism Mycobacterium paratuberculosis causese Johne's disease and precautions to take to prevent its occurance on a farm.

Though around for years, the disease has been the subject of more and more discussion, partially because of the difficulty in detecting it in subclinical cases, and because some of the early symptoms can be assumed to be cause for other problems, such as stray voltage.

Though not mentioned during the meeting, the USDA has been encouraging states to adopt and promote Johne's eradication programs. Pennsylvania already has a program, and it is expected that additional funds are to be included in the upcoming state budget to help pay for testing.

A blood test, called ELISA, is a screening test. A fecal culture is needed for confirmation.

MAKE A SICK HOUSE WELL with the LIVING AIR XL-15

According to the EPA, indoor air pollution is our nation's biggest pollution problem. Modern homes and buildings are so energy efficient they block out nature's air cleaning agents and trap pollution inside–inside where you probably spend 90% of your time. What can you do? Ventilation systems can be expensive, and filters provide only a partial remedy. Why not look at nature? Living Air looked to nature before designing the revolutionary XL-15, an electronic thunderstorm in a box. A thunderstorm is nature's most powerful air cleaning activity. Why not take the test? Ask for a free, no obligation demonstration of the powerful Living Air XL-15.

Milk Prices Hit Bottom

BOB PARSONS

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Dairy farmers will experience one of the largest drops in milk prices in their upcoming milk checks.

The record high level (USDA-set) Basic Formula Price (BFP) of $17.34 per hundredweight of milk, set in December 1998, dropped by $7.07 to $10.27 in February. That was a 41-percent drop in milk price in two months.

The impact on milk checks will show up in payment for February milk and will be fully implemented with April milk payments.

The delay in the drop in milk pay is the result of the two-month lag that is incorporated into the calcuation of Class I prices. (Commonly refered to as beverage milk, the price for Class I milk is based on BFP lagged two months plus the Class I differential.)

The outlook for the remainder of the year is mixed at best.

The future prices on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange indicate BFP prices are expected to remain below $11 per hundredweight from April to June, and then gradually rise through the fall to the $13 level.

It goes without saying that lower milk prices will severely impact 1999 dairy farm income. The price volatility of the past year demonstrates the change in market conditions facing dairy farmers today.

Cash management will be crucial in the coming months, as smaller milk checks may not offset current farm operation expenses.

What can farmers do to cope with these conditions?

Many of the answers have been heard by farmers for years: Keep costs under control. Make monthly budgets and stick with them. Keep family living costs under control. Put off any unnecessary expenses.

On the income side, make sure you are trying to capture any quality bonuses. Make sure you are doing all the small things that contribute to milk production.

For the longer term, dairy farmers need to make efforts to determine their cost of production.

Analyze costs, try to determine which costs can be lowered.

Examine the production setup. Try to focus on what obstacles it carries to gaining greater milk production, such as in the areas of nutrition, ventilation, or cow care.

What kind of investments would produce the most return for the farm.

On the nutrition side, make sure the cattle are being fed a balanced ration.

Check feed costs. Are purchased feed costs too high relative to milk prices, that is, is $1 being spent to produce 90 cents worth of milk?

There are questions that each dairy farmer and farm manager needs to ask of himself and his operation. Remember, keeping dairy farms profitable in times of low milk prices challenges the business management skills of the best farm managers and requires the efforts of all family members and employees.

(Registration Deadline July 1)

The Maryland Brown Swiss Association and the Maryland Ayrshire Association are serving as host organizations for the event.

A joint convention logo was developed for the historic occasion, and the Turf Valley facility was selected for its accomodations, as well as its proximity to a spectrum of educational, entertaining and historical institutions, landmarks and sightseeing attractions.

The black, gold and red logo features head profiles of both Brown Swiss and Ayrshire cows, black-eyed susans (Maryland's state flower), an outline of Maryland, and the Maryland state flag.

It is to be used for all convention promotional items, such as letterheads, advertising, etc.

Maryland's dairy community is proud of its heritage as well as its current accomplishments. Its Brown Swiss and Ayrshire breeders have long been recognized for outstanding achievements in breed development, both in the show ring and in production.

According to a news release from the associations, because of the respective successes of the state organizations, "The idea to combine efforts and talents to cooperate on a joint convention was born. This project has gained momentum and support throughout the year from the industry, other state breed associations, and breeders, all realizing joint cooperation is a key factor to maintaining a strong position in the dairy industry as we approach the 21st century."

In 1989, Maryland served as the host state for the national conventions for the Brown Swiss and Ayrshire breed organizations. "Ten years later, we have joined forces to roll out the red carpet for old and new friends, breeders and guests," according to the news release.

National convention co-chairpeople representing the Maryland Brown Swiss Association are Bill and Cindy Warner, while Martha Clark and Becky Long Chaney are co-chairpeople representing the Maryland Ayrshire Association.

A steering committee, comprised of members from both organizations, has been working to develop the groundwork for the convention.

Each association is to hold independent spring meetings, during which volunteers are to be sought to help with convention committees and duties.

While final details are still to come, some plans have been established.

Wednesday, July 14, the convention is to kick off with a "Joint Welcome Reception and Ceremony" featuring a genuine Maryland seafood buffet.

In addition to the special meal, other evening highlights are to include special political entertainment, Maryland dignitaries and representatives from the agriculture department.

However, even prior to that, plans are being developed for pre-convention tours on July 13 to Washington, D.C. and Baltimore, as well as other sites of interest.

In addition to the special joint welcome ceremony and banquet, planned for the day on July 14 are a golf tournament, preliminary rounds in the dairy bowl competition, interviews of the Ayrshire princess and Brown Swiss ambassador candidates, and a youth pizza party and dance to music provided by a disc jockey.

The outline of activities for Thursday, July 15, includes a joint buffet breakfast, tours to Washington and Baltimore, and Ayrshire banquet, a fun acution, senior slide show presentations, crowning of

PMMB Testimony Rules

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — As some have discovered in the past, there are rules that must be followed if testimony is to be presented during a scheduled public hearing of the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board.

The PMMB has issued notice of intent to hold a public hearing April 6, and April 7 if necessary, in Room B of the state Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, to consider changes to the Class I over-order premium paid to dairy farmers.

The PMMB requires that those who intend to present testimony at the April 6-7 hearing follow a specific set of rules.

According to the PMMB:

The parties (intending to provide testimony) shall observe the following requirements for advance filing of witness information an exhibits. The board may exclude witnesses or exhibits of a party that fails to comply with these requirements. In addition, the parties shall have available in the hearing room at least 20 copies of each document for the use of nonparties attending the hearing.

• By 4 p.m., April 1, each party shall file with the (PMMB) seven copies and ensure receipt by all other parties of one copy of:

a. A list of witnesses who will testify for the party, along with a statement of the subjects concerning which each witness will testify. A witness who will be offered as an expert shall be so identified, along with the witness's area or areas of proposed expertise.

b. Each exhibit to be presented, including testimony to be offered, in written form.

• By noon April 5, each party shall file and ensure receipt as set forth in paragraph 1, information concerning rebuttal witnesses and copies of rebuttal exhibits.

Parties that wish to offer in evidence documents on file with the PMMB, public documents, or records in other proceedings before the PMMB, or who wish the board to take official notice of facts, shall comply with, respectively, 1 Pa. Code, Section 35.164; 35.165; 35.167, or 35.173.

Whenver these rules require production of a document as an exhibit, copies shall be provided to each board member and to all other parties. In addition, at least 20 copies shall be available for distribution to nonparties attending the hearing.

Requests to testify must be made with the board by March 31.

Requests for PMMB staff to provide pertinent data shall be made in writing and received at the board office no later than 4 p.m., March 29.

Furthermore, a prehearing conference is scheduled to be held at 2:30 p.m., April 5 in Room 110 of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture Building, in Harrisburg. (Located across Cameron Street from the Farm Show Complex.)

The prehearing conference is for all parties intending to testify. Parties shall come prepared to address requests for the production of documents relied upon in forming testimony and exhibits.

To file documents or intent with the PMMB send correspondence to: Pa. Milk Marketing Board, Room 110, Agriculture Building, 2301 N. Cameron St., Harrisburg, PA 17110.

Milk Marketing Board to Consider Over-Order of milk paid to farmers has recently plummeted from an all-time high to below average price, it is expected that testimony will likely be in favor of raising the over-order premium.

According to a news release from the PMMB, "The premium has accounted for an additional $19 million being generated for the Pennsylvania dairy farmer."

Those who wish to testify, present exhibits or evidence must follow some requirements in order to qualify. Those who don't comply with the requirements can be excluded from testifying.

The premium has been raised as an issue in recent dairy industry discussions involving the Northeast Interstate Dairy Compact.

Some groups, especially those strongly in favor of expanding the borders of the Compact to include New York and Pennsylvania, have expressed disatisfaction with the effectiveness of the PMMB's over-order premium to benefit all dairymen.

According to national dairy cooperatives and some others in favor of Compact expansion, the PMMB overorder premium only reaches about 20 percent of the state's dairy producers.

However, of those producers eligible to receive the PMMB over-order premium, those who are also members of the dairy cooperatives only receive a small percentage of the PMMB premium, because the cooperatives pool the premium and distribute is among all national members, diffusing, if not eliminating, the intended local farm support benefit.

Thanks and Congratulations to ...

Cumberland County 4-H Banquet Held

NEBURG (Cumberland Co.) - The Cumberland County 4-H Dairy achievement banquet was held recently and several 4-H members were recognized for their efforts

The outstanding 4-H dairy member for 1998 was Amy Kaucher, Mechanicsburg. Amy completed six years in the local 4-H dairy club and is the daughter of Bonnie Kaucher This past year she kept records and showed six project animals Amy was one of two finalists in the county's 11-13-year-old dairy showing contest She was a member of the junior 4-H dairy bowl team that participated at the regional level and the junior dairy judging team that competed at State 4-H Days at Penn State University last summer. She showed animals at the local, district, and state dairy shows The award was sponsored by AgChoice Farm Credit.

The first year 4-H dairy member award is primarily based on interest shown, attendance, quality of project work, scores at roundup and participation at workshops, roundups and meetings. This yea the award sponsored by Cumberland Valley Cooperative was given to Sonya Rinker, the daughter of Linda and Dave Rinker, Carlisle. She has been a very active member attending the dairy showman workshop, dairy judging activities and presenting a demonstration at county speak out night. Sonya turned in a very complete project record book

The achievement award is based on the member's achievement The winner this year is Amy Kulick, dauther of Ann and James Kulick of Carlisle. Amy was also presented the Merle Miller Memorial Award. She is starting her sixth year in the county-wide club and was last years club president. She has kept records and showed three project animals last year. She was a member of the county 4-H dairy bowl team that placed first at the regional level and competed at State 4-H Days placing second as a team.

Amy received a blue ribbon for her dairy demonstration and impromptu presentation at 1998 speakout night and she showed animals at the district and state junior dairy shows. She has completed five years of project work and is currently a junior at Cumberland Valley High School Amy is also serving as one of Cumberland County's dairy maids.

Amy Kaucher received the Cumberland County outstanding 4-H dairy member award. Making the presentation is Chris Renner representing AgChoice Farm Credit.

Sonya Rinker received the first year 4-H dairy member award for Cumberland County at the achievement banquet. Making the presentation is Scott Hodgkins from Cumberland Valley Cooperative.

Alfred State Horticulture 33rd Show

ALFRED, N.Y. — Students enrolled in Alfred State College's ornamental horticulture will preside over the 33rd annual flower and garden show in the Anderson Horticulture Center here, Saturday, March 27, from 5-10 p.m., and Sunday, March 28, from 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

Admission is open to the public and free of charge. The show is handicapped accessible.

The theme of this year's show is "A Garden Renaissance" and will be interpreted by students in some unique ways.

The landscape development freshman will give show visitors a look at unique uses for plants in hanging gardens and in bonsai form, with a waterfall backdrop.

Senior students in the landscape program will stage two display gardens. The first will feature a naturalistic scene with a dry streambed and native plants with unique bark. Their second display will show what is new in backyard landscaping. This area will feature a deck, garden sculpture, a sitting area, and plants which can be grown in this area.

Floriculture merchandising students will recreate a Renaissance festival in their area, complete with costumed fair maidens and floral designs representing this period which is viewed as being the starting point for floral design. The students will showcase a waterfall-style design made entirely of cut foliage and flowers. The student-operated flower shop, "The College Florist," will be well stocked with seasonal plants and flowers for show visitors to purchase. The shop will be open during show hours.

directed in developmentally challenging, rocky areas. In some cases, units were blended into the hillside and existing vegetation was preserved. Included was a storm water detention basin enhanced and diversified by incorporating wetlands into the basin bottom.

"It is believed that Masonic Homes is the only retirement community in the country to operate a dairy," Greiner said. "The dairy uses modern waste storage facilities."

A beef cow herd is maintained on some pastureland. Stream fencing is used to protect the banks of Conoy Creek.

Greiner offered many examples of cooperation with the district, including a wastewater plant purchased from Masonic Homes in 1925 by the Elizabethtown Borough. Also, private water system and transforation, with access to an Amtrak Station, was recognized.

"Conservation is still very much a personal decision," Greiner noted. "How many times are you and I found waiting at a point where there are two routes of passage, two options to consider, two different means to an end?"

Through the use of photos showing unique arches on a building, joined yet separate, pointing out different paths, "perhaps the architect of this building was challenging us all to stop and consider they ways," explained Greiner.

Receiving the award was Paul Klinger, township manager, and Elizabethtown Mayor Bud Greiner. Representing Masonic Homes was Jere Tracy, director of environmental services and land management.

Soil Stewardship Award

A special Soil Stewardship Award went to Robert G. Harnish, Jessie L. Fehl Harnish, and Joan E. Fehl farms.

Jere Swarr, a director with the district, said the award shows a farm that puts terraces, no-till, "everything working together — an excellent example of a Lancaster County farm."

Gerald M. Heistand, director of agricultural operations with the district, narrated a slide show on the Robert Harnish farm.

A challenge is to not only farm profitability, but to relate to more than 70 mobile home owners to reside downslope of his farm.

"In the words of Jessie, his wife, to be a good neighbor you have to use some good planning on locating your farm buildings and consider the wind direction when spreading manure," said Heistand.

Jessie and Joan own the Fehl family farm where the sisters grew up together. Bob and Jessie own the Harnish family farm.

Included in the farm are many practices, including waterways, diversion, and terraces. In 1965, waterways were put on both farms. By 1969 they had 2,600 feet of waterways, 500 feet of diversions, and 6,926 feet of terrace installed, noted Heistand.

"These terraces will soon be in 30 years without needing to be reshaped by heavy equipment."

The key is to keep adequate cover on the fields. Harnish started no-till corn planting in 1968. Since soil tests show high phosphorus and potassium levels, Harnish only adds nitrogen in the spring.

The Harnishes manage 205 acres on their two farms with 70 acres in corn, 70 in woodland and wildlife, 20 acres in alfalfa/orchardgrass, 20 acres in pasture, and five acres devoted to the farm building area.

Robert manages a sheep herd. He started by raising Shropshire sheep while in 4-H. He then began raising western ewes and finally decided to work with the Polypay breed bought from sheepmen in Idaho.

Jessie and Joan (the two Fehl sisters who own one of the farms) have taught school most of their lives. They enjoy being farmers, but realize that in today's economic conditions with urbanization, most farmers need a cottage industry to survive, Heistand noted. That's why Robert and Jessie have a mobile home park on the southern end of the farm. Complaints are minimal because the farm operators control the dust, keep mud off the roads, and spread manure only when the wind blows in the right direction.

ADADC Mid East Meeting

COLUMBUS, Ohio – Dairy farmers will have the opportunity to learn more about their dairy promotion investment at the 1999 Spring Dairy Expo.

The American Diary Association & Dairy Council Mid East will host their annual information meeting and barbecue dinner Thursday, April 1, 1999 from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. in the George V. Voinovich Center on the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

Dinner is free to all dairy farmers in attendance. Spring Dairy Expo events will follow the dinner.

Producers will learn how their checkoff dollars are making a difference for the dairy industry through advertising, marketing, nutrition education, promotion and communication programs.

The checkoff program has increased total milk sales by 29 percent since 1983 when the Dairy and Tobacco Adjustment Act established the national dairy promotion program. All dairy farmers invest 15 cents per 100 pounds of milk sold into the dairy promotion checkoff program.

In addition, per capita consumption of all dairy products has risen by 11.5 percent since 1983 – that's an increase of 72 pounds more dairy products per person.

Sight-seerers View Dairies of Distinction

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Urban sprawl and commuter traffic intensity may have made casually paced sight-seeing a lot more difficult, but people still enjoy a nice view from the road.

When they can find a nice view.

That is the simple foundation of the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program, also known as the Dairy of Distinction program.

That premise is that an attractive, sanitary appearing dairy farm conveys to the public the perception that the milk coming out of that farm must be good, and wholesome.

Combined with the fact that most people's experience with a farm is from an automobile (if not through a television), applications to the Dairy of Distinction are reviewed primarily for their aesthetic appeal, as the farm appears from a vehicle traveling along an adjacent road, or farm lane.

What a farm looks like from a roadway is important to the image of the dairy production industry.

To encourage dairy farm beautification, the program was begun in 1983 and set standards of beautification.

In more recent years, the quality of the milk produced on the farm also is reflected in the award. If the buyer of milk reports that the quality is poor, the applicant may have to reapply another year, after correcting the quality problems.

Successful applicants (owners or operators) receive an 18-inch by 24-inch, red and white metal Dairy of Distinction sign that is to be posted visibly in front of the farm.

All dairy farms in the Northeast that produce milk are eligible to submit an application for the award.

In Pennsylvania, the program divides the state into 21 districts, and each district is represented by a team of judges who score the farms during a drive-by done sometime during May.

During that month, teams of program district committee volunteers in Pennsylvania, as well in neighboring and Northeastern dairy states, are to be driving around the countryside, taking photographs of the farms of successful applicants.

Receiving a Dairy of Distinction award isn't a permanent award, however. Failure to maintain beautification and production standards can be cause for having the award rescinded.

During April, the district committees review past winners and those that fail to have maintained their farm's appearance are required to take down the red and white Dairy of Distinction sign and return it to the respective local committee.

The rules of the program allow the top 10 applicants per district to receive the award. There is no cost for the application, committee scoring, or for the signs.

The cost for the signpost however, is to be the responsibility of the successful farm owner.

For more information on the program in your state, see the advertisement in this issue of Lancaster Farming, contact a local Extension dairy agent, or contact the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program Inc. executive secretary, Helen Fountain, at 103 Vollmer Road, Fayetteville, N.Y. 13066; telephone (315) 637-5734.

THIS WEEK	2773	1811
LAST WEEK	2513	1647
LAST YEAR	2878	1735

CATTLE: Compared to last week's close, slaughter steer and heifer prices ended the week steady. There were several spots of strength through the week, but by late Thursday the market showed no improvement over last week. The plainer cattle sold very well as many small packers increased their orders for the upcoming religious holidays. The Western fat cattle market lost 1.00 this week, after the futures market suffered stiff losses at midweek. Midwestern cattle brought mostly 64.00 live and 103.00 dressed. Holstein steers finished steady to .50 higher with the best demand for the leaner types. Slaughter cows closed 1.00 to mostly 2.00 lower on a weak boneless beef market. The slaughter bulls were active again this week and prices were firm, instances 1.00-2.00 higher on the younger bullocks and stags. Supply included 47 percent slaughter steers, 7 percent slaughter heifers, 34 percent slaughter cows, 5 percent slaughter bulls, with the balance made up of feeder cattle.

EPA Approves Pennsylvania Well Protection Program

PHILADELPHIA — The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has approved Pennsylvania's wellhead protection program, a voluntary program for communities, which can safeguard drinking water for three million citizens.

That's the number of Pennsylvanians who get drinking water that public water suppliers pump from wells.

"Pennsylvania's wellhead protection program reflects the Commonwealth's commitment to protecting critical underground sources of drinking water. EPA supports wellhead protection in Pennsylvania," said EPA Regional Administrator W. Michael McCabe.

During 1997 and 1998, EPA provided DEP with a total of $500,000 This year Pennsylvania's Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) is eligible to receive additional funds for this important component of the Safe Drinking Water Act These funds will be awarded as small grants to communities

Drinking water can be contaminated if pollution occurs anywhere within the wellhead protection area It can be contaminated in many ways, including. underground storage tanks leaking oil, pesticides leaching into the soil, or improperly situated or maintained on-site wastewater disposal systems spilling harmful bacteria. Wellheads are the point where the water rushes into the well. The wellhead protection area is a wide, often irregularly shaped area, from which the water is drawn to the well.

Community-driven wellhead protection can include community planning, identifying wellhead areas that need protection, identifying potential contaminants, and managing the protected are.

If your community is interested in launching a wellhead protection program call Pennsylvania DEP's Bureau of Water Supply Management at 717-772-4018 or visit their website at www.dep.state.pa.us/dep/deputate/water mgt/wsm/wsm_dwm/srceprot/whppover.htm.

Local and state governments, and water suppliers promote wellhead protection through public education, health regulations, monitoring surveys, zoning ordinances, land acquisition, and other types of local planning.

The wellhead protection is designed to protect public water supplies — water pumped from wells by water companies But it is important to note that, in Pennsylvania, an additional 1.5 million people using private wells could also voluntarily use these same methods to protect their private water supply.

Candy Making Made Easy

Making Easter candy is a tradition for many families. A popular method for dipping chocolate in past generations was to use paraffin wax, which is no longer approved by FDA for human consumption. The purpose of paraffin was to keep the chocolate from clumping and give the chocolate a glossy color.

If your favorite recipe handed down through generations listed paraffin, take heart. Use the same recipe, but make the dipping chocolate by following one of these recipes for safe and simple chocolate coating.

SAFE AND SIMPLE CHOCOLATE COATING

2 cups semi-sweet chocolate chips or mini chips
2 tablespoons plus 2 teaspoons shortening (not butter, margarine or oil)

OR

2 cups milk chocolate chips
2 tablespoons shortening

Place chocolate and shortening in 4-cup glass measuring cup or 1½ -quart glass bowl. Fill another larger glass bowl or large pan with 1-inch very warm tap water.

Place measuring cup or bowl containing the chocolate in the larger bowl or pan so that water covers bottom half of cup or bowl containing the chocolate.

Note: Keep water level low so that water does not get into the chocolate mixture and ruin the coating.

Stir the chocolate constantly with rubber scraper until chocolate is melted and mixture is smooth. The process is not difficult, but it does take time. Do not rush. It should take about 20 minutes to melt chocolate. If the water begins to cool, pour it out and add more warm water. Be careful not to get any water into the chocolate mixture. Remove the measuring cup or bowl containing the melted chocolate mixture from the water.

Dip chilled centers completely into chocolate mixture, one at a time, with fork.

Gently tap fork on side of cup or bowl to remove excess chocolate. Invert coated center onto wax paper-covered tray or cookie sheet; decorate top of coated center with small amount of melted chocolate, using tip of fork.

Store coated centers, loosely covered, in a cool, dry place. Makes enough coating for five dozen centers.

One of the best ways to achieve chocolate-coated candy that stays glossy and firm at room temperature is to temper it; otherwise the candies will probably have a sticky coating that will bloom with white or gray spots or streaks caused by separation of the sugar or fat particles from the chocolate. Chocolate that has bloom is not harmful and does not taste differently but may look unappetizing.

Tempering is achieved by heating and cooling chocolate pieces to specific temperatures, causing cocoa butter crystal formation. This keeps the chocolate coating firm and glossy without the addition of wax or refrigeration of the coated candy.

Even if chocoate is coated during manufacturing, melting destroys the temper, thus the process must be repeated by the candy maker.

TEMPERING INSTRUCTIONS

Melt 8-ounces baking chocolate, or the amount and type of chocolate and shortening specified in recipe, in a small bowl set in a pan of very warm water. Make sure water level is 2 to 3 inches below rim of bowl.

Heat chocolate to 108 degrees, stirring constantly with rubber spatula; scrape down sides and bottom of bowl frequently so that the chocolate is evenly and uniformly heated.

When chocolate reaches 108 degrees, remove bowl from pan of water. Continue stirring and scraping bowl constantly until chocolate cools to 85 degrees.

Keep chocolate at 80 degrees, stirring constantly, for 10 minutes. This is important because it develops the crystals necessary for gloss. It may be necessary to briefly set bowl in warm water to maintain temperature.

Rewarm chocolate in pan of water to 86 degees; hold at that temperature for 5 minutes before dipping.

Important: Keep chocolate at 86 degrees during entire dipping process. If temperatures at this point go below 84 degrees, the entire tempering process must be repeated.

Centers should be removed from refrigerator and allowed to reach room temperature before coating. (Dipping chilled centers may result in cracked coating and or bloom on the coating).

Potatoes add a wonderful creamy consistency to Peanut Butter Potato Truffles, pictured at bottom, and Creamy Potato Fudge.

Dip room temperature centers or confections completely in tempered, melted chocolate. Dip one at a time using fork, fondue fork, or hat pin. Gently tap fork on side of bowl to remove excess chocolate. Invert onto wax paper covered tray; swirl small amount of coating over utensil marks.

Chill coated candies a maximum of 15 minutes in refrigerator to help coating harden. Remove promptly or bloom may occur.

Store coated candies at room temperature (60-75-degrees) but keep well covered.

PEANUT BUTTER EGGS

4 cups confectioners' sugar
1½ cups peanut butter
2 sticks butter

Mix together until smooth. Hands work best. Roll into egg shapes and chill, coat with chocolate.

For the chocolate, melt semi-sweet chocolate chips in double boiler.

My home economics teacher in high school gave this recipe to me many years ago. It is a family favorite.

Featured Recipe

Potatoes add a wonderful creamy consistency to candies. For many families, potato candy dipped in chocolate is a tradition passed down from Grandma.

Unfortunately, many of those chocolate coating recipes included paraffin in the ingredients to keep the chocolate from clumping and to add a glossy appearance. Paraffin is not approved for human consumption by FDA.

You can still use those old recipes, but modify the chocolate dipping by following one of the recommended procedures in today's selection of recipes or use the following recipe sent in by the Colorado Potato Committee.

PEANUT BUTTER POTATO TRUFFLES

1 cup mashed, unseasoned potatoes
1 cup smooth peanut butter
5-6 cups powdered sugar, sifted
6-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate pieces
4 (1 ounce) squares semi-sweet chocolate, chopped
2 teaspoons vegetable shortening*
Chopped nuts, optional
Colored sprinkles, optional

In a medium bowl, beat mashed potatoes and peanut butter on high with an electric mixer until well blended. Beat in powdered sugar, 1 cup at a time to a stiff dough. Dough should be smooth and easily rolled into balls. Roll in ¾ to 1-inch balls. Cover and chill several hours.

For chocolate covering: In a small saucepan, heat chocolate pieces, chopped chocolate and shortening over low heat, stirring frequently, until melted. Dip each ball into chocolate; allow excess chocolate to drip off. Decorate, if desired, with nuts or colored sprinkles. Place candy on a rack or waxed paper. Chill to harden. Make 55-60 pieces.

*Do not substitute butter, margarine or oil for the shortening in the chocolate covering. Only works with shortening.

Variations: White chocolate may be substituted for semi-sweet chocolate, or candy may be rolled in cocoa or powdered sugar instead of chocolate.

Candy Making Tips

BASIC EASTER EGG CANDY

¼ pound butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 pounds confectioners' sugar
½ cup hot mashed potatoes (nothing added)

Blend butter with hot potatoes, mixing well. Let stand until cold. Add sugar and vanilla, mixing until creamy. Shape into egg-shape size desired. Place on waxed paper. Chill several hours. Dip in melted chocolate and refrigerate.

Variations: Coconut — Add 1 to 1½ -cups grated coconut

Fruit and Nut — Add ½ cup each fruit and nuts

Chocolate — Add ¼ cup unsweetened cocoa.

Millers, Md.

PEANUT BUTTER BON BONS

1 pound plus 1 cup powdered sugar
2 sticks softened butter
1 cup preanut butter (creamy or crunchy)
1 teaspoon vanilla
Milk chocolate

Cream together: sugar, butter, peanut butter, and vanilla. Chill for about an hour. Roll into walnut size or smaller balls or egg shaped. Melt chcolate in double boiler over low heat. Roll peanut butter balls in chocolate to coat, allow excess chocolate to drip off and place on waxed paper coated trays. Place in refrigerator until chocolate is set. These freeze well.

Pa. First Alternate Dairy Princess

CREAMY POTATO FUDGE

3 (1-ounce) squares unsweetened chocolate
3 tablespoons butter
⅓ cup mashed, unseasoned potatoes
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 pound sifted confectioners' sugar
½ cup chopped nuts

Melt chocolate and butter in top of double boiler. Remove from heat. Add potatoes, salt, and vanilla. Mix well. Blend in sugar and mix thoroughly. Add nuts and knead until smooth. Press into buttered 8-inch square pan. Cool in refrigerator before cutting. Makes 1¼ pounds.

QUICK AND EASY EASTER EGGS CANDY

¼ pound butter, melted
½ teaspoon salt
½ pound cream cheese
2 pounds confectioners' sugar

Mix and add coconut or peanut butter to taste. Refrigerate one hour. Roll into egg shape.

Coating
12-ounce chocolate bits
2 tablespoons vegetable shortening

Melt chocolate bits in double boiler. Add shortening, stir occasionally. Dip egg shapes into coating. Lay on cookie sheet and cover with wax paper.

We always did the first part one day and refrigerated overnight, then coated them the next day.

Pauline Hess-Fisher
Lancaster

COCONUT MACAROONS

1⅓ cups angel flake coconut
⅓ cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 egg whites
½ teaspoon almond extract

Combine coconut, sugar, flour, and salt in mixing bowl. Stir in egg whites and almond extract; mix well. Drop from teaspoon onto lightly greased baking sheets. Garnish with cherry halves if desired. Bake at 325 degrees for 20-25 minutes or until edges of cookies are golden brown. Remove from baking sheet immediately.

For variation, add before baking:

⅓ cup raisins or semi-sweet chocolate chips or chopped pecans or almonds or chopped mixed candied fruit.

Marjorie Wright

EASTER EGG POTATO CANDY

½ cup mashed potatoes
¼ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup creamy peanut butter
2¼ cups confectioners sugar
½ cup salted peanuts, chopped fine

Place mashed potatoes in large bowl. Beat in salt and peanut butter, beating well. Add sugar, one-half at a time until knife dragged through mixture leaves a trough. Butter hands. Shape dough into egg shape and place on buttered wax paper and chill. How large you wish to make the egg-shape is up to you. This makes one pound candy. Melt 12-ounces regular or semisweet chocolate pieces or coating chocolate and dip eggs to cover and place on waxed paper. Sprinkle with chopped peanuts or decorate with your favorite decorator icing.

The peanut butter may be replaced with coconut, green and red cherries or chopped pecans or walnuts.

This recipe has been handed down and adapted to satisfy different tastes in the family.

CHOCOLATE PEANUT EGGS

3½ -ounces flaked coconut
1 cup chopped salted peanuts
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups graham cracker crumbs
½ cup crunchy peanut butter
1 cup peanut oil

Combine sugar, coconut, peanuts, vanilla, peanut butter crumbs, and oil. Mix well. Knead into a smooth ball. Pinch off piece about 1¼ -inch and shape.

Coating:
12-ounces chocolate pieces
2 tablespoons vegetable shortening

Melt these ingredients together in a pan set over hot water. Melt until smooth and keep over the hot water. Place candy, one at a time, in chocolate and roll to coat evenly. Refrigerate until chocolate hardens. Store in container in cool, dry place. Makes about 65 pieces.

CHOCOLATE CENTERS

⅓ cup butter, softened
¼ cup heavy or whipping cream
1½ teaspoons vanilla
3 cups confectioners' sugar
½ cup semi-sweet chocolate chips or mini chips, melted

Combine butter, crea, vanilla, and 1 cup confectioners' sugar in small mixer bowl; beat until smooth.

Gradually blend in remaining 2 cups confectioners' sugar and chocolate. Chill about one hour or until mixture is firm enough to handle.

Shape into 1-inch balls; place on wax paper-covered tray or cookie sheet. Cover loosely; chill 3 to 4 hours or overnight. Centers should feel dry to touch before coating.

Coat centers with one of the recipes included in this section. Makes about 5 dozen centers.

There it is
In the backyard Again

For the umpteenth time, I trudge back through the yard, grab a corner of the front porch "mud" rug, drag it back to its assigned position outside the front door And decide maybe we need a heavier rug

March may not have come in like a lion on its first day, but it's certainly done some roaring as the month wore on. Though wind does have its benefits.

It's ideal for drying sheets and towels out in the fresh air, flapping them to softness and lending a pleasing fragrance that can't be found on any retail perfume counter If you can keep the stuff pinned to the line and not blown somewhere down through the yard

Wind sucks the moisture from the mud around the buildings and firms up the fields so that the winter's bedding pack manure build up can be recycled to the soil Cows, cars and kitchen floors stay cleaner in the wake of wind Wind twirls our decorative windsocks, snaps flags to attention, and boosts kites into the air for kids

But wind deserves a hearty respect Crank it too high, and wind creates havoc, devastation, destruction Property damage At the most dangerous extremes, death

Our farm, perched near the bottom of a hill, lies in what often feels like a giant wind tunnel Wind has periodically yanked off portions of roofing, unhinged large barn doors, blown over trees It bangs loose corners of tin roofing, whines high-pitched complaints through the old maple trees around the house and repeatedly slams open the front door loose if the latch hasn't been carefully closed. Fred, the 16-inch-high flintstone pet rock which has resided on our front porch for at least two decades, serves as an unmovable backstop for the door against these winds

Fortunately, the relentless blowing usually does little more harm than devise for us puzzling scavenger hunts and lost-and-found collections scattered around

Invariably, with the thawing of the pond ice, at least one five-gallon bucket will turn up floating in the water Those big plastic buckets serve a multitude of uses and are often let set at various spots around the buildings. An empty one, left set outside on a blustery day, can soon go tumbling And since the farm is all on a slight grade, with the ponds at the bottom, at least one bucket will find its way into the water during winter's windsweeps

Calf feed and water buckets of a smaller size also turn up around the yard, around the dairy barn or in the meadow Playful calves often yank the five-quart plastic bucket from their holders and dump them to the ground, just for the sake of chewing on something. Powered by strong gusts and the slope, they roll and toss for some distance before settling down in a patch of weeds or sheltered corner

This tendency to breeziness also delivers fairly regularly to us - hung up in fields, trees and fencerows - clusters of deflated mylar balloons Still shiny though limp, their messages exclaim "Happy Birthday" or "Congratulations!" or a red-heart-shaped "I Love You " If they're clean and intact, I sometimes salvage parts of their glittery brightness and upbeat messages for wrapping tiny gifts or craft use or Sunday School bulletin boards

Plastic garbage bags, paper calf feed bags, newspaper bits from the heifer bedding, candy papers, crumpled cigarette packs, used styrofoam and paper coffee cups, an occasional empty soft drink can, and battered sections of cardboard all become yard litter, blown here by Ole' Man Wind into gates, fences and flower borders

Along with their persistent displacement of our mud rug and the usual paper and plastic residue, recent stiff breezes tossed more interesting accessories into the back yard A small section of tin roofing, one colorful, metal storage can, a large plastic flowerpot, and the grapevine wreath, which persists in flying off the front door and sailing out into the grass like a runaway Frisbee, all turned up in one day. Apparently it will take hurricane-gauge wire to keep the wreath fixed to the door

Lately, I've pondered the wisdom of opening all the doors and windows and just letting the windy blasts of Mother Nature do the closest thing to a spring cleaning we might get in this busy household.

But would it bring in more junk than it would take out?

Conference To Examine Food Science Trends

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Leaders of industry, government and academic research will look at emerging opportunities in the state's food industry at "The Pennsylvania Food Industry: Strengthening Partnerships for Growth," a conference to be held March 31 through April 1 at the Harrisburg/Hershey Holiday Inn in Grantville.

"The purpose of the conference is to enhance communication within the food processing industry in Pennsylvania, and between the food industry, state government and Penn State to address the critical issues facing the food industry," said C. Daniel Azzara, senior manager for ingredients research at Hershey Foods Corporation and a conference co-chair. "The issues include assessing technology, food safety, workforce issues, regulations and international trade."

Catherine E. Wotecki, USDA undersecretary for food safety, will speak on "Integrating Resources to Optimize Food Safety." Clare Hasler, director of functional foods in the Department of Food Science and Human Nutrition at the University of Illinois, will discuss "Nutraceuticals: A Regulatory Challenge."

Peter Cunningham, director of world wide operations for the Pennsylvania Department of Community and Economic Development, will talk about "Opening Global Markets for Pennsylvania Products," and William J. Rothwell, Penn State professor of education, will look at "Attracting and Retaining a Frontline Workforce." The presentations will be followed by a panel discussion moderated by Bonnie K. Jackson, program manager for training and new business at the Ben Franklin Technology Center of Central and Northern Pennsylvania.

Stephen L. McGregor, associate director of Penn State's Industrial Research Office, also will moderate a panel discussion on "Accessing Useful Technologies" with Joel Cutler of Cutler Egg Products, Inc., Gregory R. Ziegler, Penn State associate professor of food science, and Robert J. Booz, director of research and technology at the Ben Franklin Technology Center of Central and Northern Pennsylvania.

The conference is sponsored by the Department of Food Science in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, the Penn State Food Industry Group and the Ben Franklin Partnership, with support from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania Department of Community and Economic Development.

For registration and schedule information, call the Office of Conferences and Short Courses at (814) 865-8301 or visit the conference Web site at http://www.cas.psu.edu/docs/CASDEPT/FOOD/FdIndusconf/html.

Family Living Focus

by
Marion R. Furlow
Phila. Extension
Educator

Hats off to grandparents raising grandchildren. The relationship between grandchildren and grandparents, is often very special.

It is estimated that approximately 4 million children live in a household headed by a grandparent. Census Bureau data indicates that grandparents heading families represent all socioeconomic levels and ethnic groups. Reasons for this vary, but include substance abuse, teen-age pregnancy, divorce or death of parents, parental unemployment, incarceration, child abuse or abandonment, bad health and diseases.

Caring for children is a responsibility, which can truly be a challenge for aging grandparent. With their own health in jeopardy, many grandparents speak with their hearts and not with their physical strength when confronted with a decision to open an "empty nest" to tiny tots, teens or even adolescents. Having inadequate financial resources, the new caretaker may face legal and social problems. They may find themselves under stress, eventually causing physical and mental health problems such as exhaustion or depression.

If the grandchildren come with special medical situations such as Attention Deficient Disorder (ADD), violent attitudes, or learning disabilities, grandparents may not be equipped to handle the "new generation" challenges.

However, Marion R. Furlow, PSU Cooperative Extension educator, offers some recommendations for grandparents entering the youth caregiver's market. "First and foremost, please do not be shy about asking for help. It will not be viewed as a weakness or as poor parenting skills. Our youth of today live in a new computer age society. Peer pressure may be especially stressful and intense."

Many grandparents raising their kin find that although it is rewarding, there are challenges. Kinship care has been applauded by many people. However, many grandparents are having serious problems obtaining financial assistance to care for their underaged relatives. It may seem to be a natural bridge but social services, legal custody, supportive services, such as, health and educational issues, and child care are serious concerns. In addition, child welfare and welfare reform has added a new twist to the caring-giving formula.

New responsibilities revolve around a host of new situations. Finding a way to pay for the additional costs for food, medical checkups, and overall upkeep for this extraordinary act of kindness needs to be addressed. Outreach programs and information for grandparents are available.

As a place to start, Furlow suggests looking in your phone books. Government agencies and offices are usually listed in a separate section, the blue pages. Many communities publish their own local phone books which have separate sections that list community resources, such as family services, charitable organizations, and referral services.

You may also contact the AARP Grandparent Information Center at (202) 434-2296 or any local youth care agency before making a permanent decision about kinship care.

Hershey Garden Opens

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Spring is around the corner and the time has come for Hershey Gardens to open on Saturday, April 3 for the season.

This season, spring is especially exciting for the gardens. Profuse beds of tulips have historically been an important part of the flowering displays at the gardens, but over the years the tulips suffered from pest problems. Director of Horticulture Barbara Whitcraft has re-initiated the historical tulip planting display. More than 10,000 tulip bulbs were planted this past fall, as the first part of the display initiative, and are already showing signs of sprouting. Planted in the Square Garden in the North section of the Gardens, there are more than 40 different varieties of tulips. Daffodils, widely planted throughout the gardens, brighten the palette with their cheery yellow and cream colors, with sizes ranging from miniatures to large cupped varieties.

Spring-flowering trees are scattered throughout the gardens and add to the atmosphere. A variety of flowering cherries, plums, crabapples, and dogwoods create a succession of bloom. Twelve different varieties of magnolias will produce lovely fragrant blossoms complementing the spring burst of color.

Hershey Gardens will be open April 3 - October 31. Hours are: 9 a.m.-6 p.m. daily April-September, with evening hours until 8 p.m. on Fridays, Saturday, and Sundays from Memorial Day through Labor Day. October hours are 9 a.m.-5 p.m. daily. Admission is $5 adults, $4.50 seniors 62+, $2.50 youths 3-15, children under 3 are free. Bloom schedules vary and are dependent on weather conditions, so to insure particular bloom times, or for general information, call (717) 534-3492.

Tractor Safety Course

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.) — If you are between the ages of 14 and 16 and wish to work on a farm (other than your parents'), you are required to have a certificate showing that you completed a tractor safety course. Penn State Cooperative Extension and Octorara High School's Vo-Ag Department jointly present the 1999 Tractor and Farm Machinery Safety Course on Mondays, April 5, 12, 19 & 26, 6:30-9:00 p.m. at Octorara High School, Route 41 & Highland Road, Atglen

A tractor driving session is scheduled on Saturday, May 1, at 7:30 a.m. The registration fee is $12 and is due no later than April 1. Space is limited, so register early!

For registration information, contact the Extension office at (610) 696-3500

Feedsacks Piece Together Bits Of History

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

FELTON (York Co.) — Antique shop owners and garage sale holders beware: Sandy Guilbeaux is out to uncover every nook and box in search of feedsacks.

"Feedsacks are part of our heritage and wonderful reminders of history," Sandy said of the era when resourceful mothers salvaged the material from the bags filled with livestock feed. From them, mothers fashioned dresses for their daughters and underwear for the family.

During the Depression Era and World War II, the colorful patterned feedsacks provided many families with the only means of new clothing. During the war, many fabric companies either reduced fabric production or became a major supplier for the war effort. Fabric was hard to find in stores and feedsacks provided cloth not only to make clothing but also sheets, pillow cases, curtains, kitchen towels, and other uses around the home.

While buying feed in the colorful bags is no longer possible, Sandy and hundreds like her now consider the sacks a valuable collection. So much so that an annual Feedsack Club Conference is held. Hundreds of members and curious onlookers gather to trade, buy, and sell the salvaged material from the sacks. Wonderful quilts and other articles made from the sacks are on display. Lectures, special exhibits, a contest, a Chinese Auction, and quilt appraisals are also scheduled during the conference.

Sandy said that feedsack material promotes conversational dialogue with friends, family members, and strangers who share memories of feedsacks. Many wonderful bits of history have been uncovered by family members who reported such things as a grandmother having a "shuckie bed," which was eight feedsacks sewn together to form a large bag stuffed with dried corn husks that crunched and squished whenever the person moved.

Others remember pillow cases, kitchen towels. One woman remembered her grandmother covered canned foods in the smokehouse with a worn-out feedsack quilt to keep the canned goods from freezing.

Sandy's own interest in feedsacks was spurred by a depressing era of her life. In 1992, Sandy was a certified public accountant in nursing home administration supervising 600 employees when she was diagnosed with lupus and chronic fatigue. The illness forced her to resign from her career. In search of therapy to boost her morale, Sandy took up quilting.

Soon she became involved in making ABC quilts the acronym for At-risk Babies Crib Quilts. ABC quilts is an organization that provides a baby quilt to each child under the age of six who is born with alcohol or drug-affected problems.

Sandy said, "Each year, thousands of children are born affected by alcohol and other drugs. Many of these babies are also infected with the HIV/AIDS virus. These children require extended medical care.

A Texas resident at the time, Sandy searched for other quilters and found a select few in church sewing circles. Through a church, Sandy was notified that some women prisoners wanted to learn to quilt.

"I was scared to death, but I went," Sandy said of working with convicted felons.

Sandy now considers that move as one of the best things that happened to her.

"I had been feeling sorry for myself because of my illness, but hearing the story of women prisoners helped me realize how fortunate I was," Sandy said.

To her surprise many prisoners who had never quilted before became avid quilters. Sandy introduced the prisoners to the ABC quilts and within a few years, the prison quilters donated more than 500 quilts to the organization.

"I think the ABC quilts really appealed to the prisoners because so many of the women had left children behind. In quilting for ABC, the women were able to give back to others," Sandy said.

Two years ago Sandy's husband's company transferred him to York. Sandy found that it is much harder to get into prisons in Pennsylvania than in Texas. She has needed to go through training offered by Prison Fellowship and is now working on final approval to offer prison quilting classes.

"I have quilt tops and fabrics—all donated—and ready for quilters," Sandy said.

When Sandy moved to Pennsylvania she discovered the Feedsack Club. The club had been organized in 1987 with five members and now, 12 years later, the club has a membership of more than 500.

"I had always loved feedsacks," Sandy said of childhood memories. "So I joined the club and volunteered my services."

Sandy is now using her organization skills by editing and printing the program for the Feedsack Club Conference to be held April 8-10 at the Holiday Inn Lancaster—Vistors Center, 521 Greenfield Rd., Lancaster.

On Thursday April 8, the conference will open at 6 p.m. with vendor set up and a Show and Tell session at 7 p.m. until 10 p.m.

On Friday and Saturday, conference doors will be open from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m.

Registration for classes is required. Some of the classes offered include the following:

- "Mini Double Wedding Ring Quilt" with Janet Butler. A $10 kit includes feedsack fabrics and all materials needed to make a wonderful mini-quilt.
- "Appliqued Pansy Wallhanging" with Sharon Kennedy and Mary Alice Schmader. Teaches to applique with patterns that adapt easily to the spray starch method of applique, which makes beginning seamtresses look like professionals.
- "Let's Show the Beauty of Feedsacks" with Daphene Parks will demonstrate turning feedsack

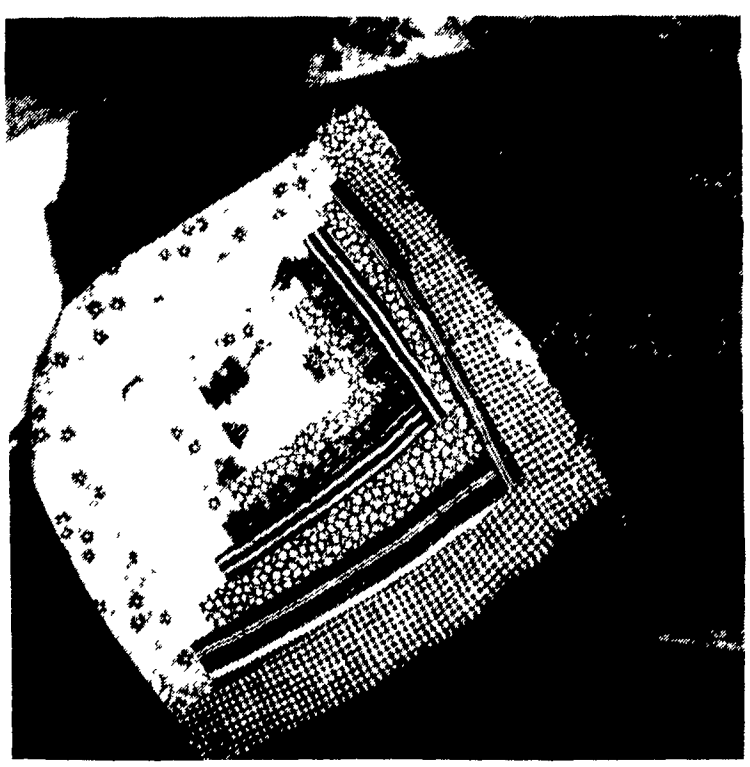
While buying feed in the colorful bags is no longer possible, Sandy and hundreds like her now consider the sacks a valuable collection. So much so that an annual Feedsack Club Conference is held. Hundreds of members and curious onlookers gather to trade, buy, and sell the salvaged material from the sacks and to admire many completed projects pieced together with feedsack material. The Feedsack Club Conference will be held April 8-10 at the Holiday Inn Lancaster—Vistors Center, 521 Greenfield Rd., Lancaster.



In one antique shop, Sandy uncovered a collection of quilt squares incorporating feedsack material.

Sandy uses feedsack material for the many quilts she makes. The Feedsack Club Conference will feature many items that members fashioned from feedsack remnants.

"Feedsacks are part of our heritage and wonderful reminders of history," Sandy said as she examines some of the material she has found at garage sales and antique shops. During the Depression Era and World War II, the colorful patterned feedsacks provided many families with the only means of new clothing, sheets, pillow cases, curtains, kitchen towels, and other items.

scrapes from other projects into a work of art.

• "Hunter's Star—The Easy Way Out," with Diane Holmes includes a pattern to make three wall hangings. Color theory is discussed.

• "Optional Fabric Exchange" is available for those who want to broaden their fabric collection. Place 10 different 6-inch fabric squares into a clear plastic bag. Fabric should be prewashed, dried and pressed prior to cutting. Exchange only good quality cotton.

• "Quilt Designing Is Fun for the Entire Family," with Vicki Davis teaches how to quilt with children and grandchildren, and fabric gifts to make for all occasions. Includes creating quilt labels, business stationery items, home decorating itesm, wearable art, etc.

• "Charming Chicken," with M.B. Hayes teaches making a chicken block for a wall hanging or quilt using "thangles" and 6-inch feedsack charm squares.

• "Applique The Legendary Dogwood," with Sharon Kennedy and Mary Alice Schmader is another spray starch method of Applique.

• "Primitive Posies," with Merry May makes a mini quilt 24x32½ -inches.

• "The Great Millennium Cover Up," with Diane Holmes teaches using 1,000 pieces for quilt top (with a major quilt swap and repeating fabrics).

• "Feedsacks and Their Companies," by Ron Bennett, Finger Lake Region of N.Y., gives a historical lecture on companies that issued feedsacks.

• "Looking for Feedsacks in All the Right Places," by M.B. Hayes.

• Quilt appraisals will be available for a $35 fee per quilt.

"Unfortunately it is not uncommon for a quilt owner to have a quilt that is damaged from flood or fire or from shipping to shows. Insurance companies will only pay the cost of materials unless the value can be sustantiated with a written appraisal by a qualified quilt appraiser," Sandy said.

Quilts should also be appraised to determine fair market value if selling or buying a quilt and for tax donation purposes if the quilt is donated to a museum or organization.

Deborah Roberts, a certified quilt appraiser for corporations, museums, and private collectors, will be available from noon to 6 p.m. on Thursday and Friday conference days to appraise quilts. Fee and appointment must be established in advance.

For further information and a pre-registration packet for the Feedsack Club Conference, send a large self-addressed stamped envelope with request to Sandy Guilbeaux, 6776 Church Rd., Felton, PA 17322. Or, on the internet: fabriclove@aol.com

Sandy also teaches prisoners how to quilt ABC quilts for children born affected by alcohol and other drugs. With Sandy's help, prisoners made more than 500 quilts to donate to the ABC organization. Prisoners made this quilt as a present for Sandy.

Cook's Question Corner

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send an SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Sometimes we receive numerous answers to the same request, and cannot print each one.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — Patricia Flickinger, Gettysburg, is looking for a recipe for pickled spiced green tomatoes. She had tasted them in an Arkansas restaurant this past summer.

QUESTION — Blanche Klopsfenstein, Wattsburg, would like a recipe for homemade Thousand Island dressing.

QUESTION — George Strauss Jr., Randallstown, Md., would like a recipe for pickled pigs feet made with vinegar.

QUESTION — Shirley Miller, Nazereth, is looking for recipes using pastry flour, for a recipe for doughnuts baked in the oven, and for a doughnut mix that can be mixed up at home.

QUESTION — Mary Martin, Pen Yan, N.Y., would like a recipe for ketchup that uses a minimum amount of sugar and that tastes similar to store bought.

QUESTION — G. Sweitzer, Airville, would like to know how much salicylic acid to use when canning sweet corn and if the acid can be used to preserve other canned products.

QUESTION — Ezra Gottschall, Ephrata, would like recipes for creole and for Cajun cooking and some old-time favorite soup recipes.

QUESTION — A reader would like directions on how to can carrots without a pressure cooker.

QUESTION — Carrie Sponseller, Gettysburg, would like a recipe for Snow Flake Cookie mix in a jar. It includes white chocolate chips and macadamia nuts that are layered in a quart jar.

QUESTION — A reader, who has a Whisper Mill Grain Grinder, would like some other readers' favorite recipes using fresh ground flour such as barley, rice, spelt, rye, etc. She would like ideas to include a variety of grains in the family's diet instead of wheat, wheat, and wheat.

QUESTION — John Telford, Swampscott, Mass., is looking for two old Dutch recipes. One is to make a Dutch cake, which was a bread-like cake with flour and crumb topping. The other is for Dutch coffee cake, which was a sweet yellow cake-heavy, buttery, with a thick layer of brown sugar and cinnamon in the middle and a topping of the same mix.

QUESTION — A reader from Topton wants a recipe for peanut butter and coconut eggs for a diabetic. No granulated or confectioners' sugar can be used.

QUESTION — Kenneth Hixon, Warfordsburg, would like a recipe for spiced sickle pears, which are spiced with the peels intact.

QUESTION — Several years ago, J. Rouse clipped a recipe from this section for maple syrup pork chops. Her family loves the recipe, but she lost it. Anyone else clip the recipe? Send it in so we can reprint it.

QUESTION — A reader wants to know how to make cheese using calf stomach for rennet or is there a way to make her own vegetable rennet?

QUESTION — Sherry Rechlin, N. Franklin, Ct., wants a recipe for farmer's cheese and for clotted cream.

QUESTION — Linda Garber, New Ringgold, is looking for recipes for vegetable cream cheese to spread on bagels.

QUESTION — Mary Ann Lapp, New Holland, would like a recipe for Breakfast Quiche and one for French toast sticks that taste like those served by Shady Maple Smorgasboard.

QUESTION — Ben S. Stoltzfus, Honey Brook, would like a recipe bran muffins that tastes like the Sara Lee brand.

QUESTION — Doris Fenninger, New Holland, wants to know how to can soups and how long it can be kept after processing. (Only pressure canning methods will be printed as water processing is no longer recommended by the USDA for foods containing meat or dairy products).

QUESTION — Lester Horvath, Washington, N.J., would like a recipe for hot pickled ring bologna.

QUESTION — Madeline Raub, Easton, would like to know where to buy a round biscuit shaped like a basket with a fluted edge. She thinks the biscuits had been made by Nabisco and sold loose by the pound. Her mother used them at Easter to make "bird nests" by putting icing inside and colored jelly beans.

QUESTION — A Leola reader would like a recipe for breadsticks that tastes like those served at Olive Garden.

QUESTION — Barb Fox wants to know how to make blueberry pig.

QUESTION — Jack Hohmeier, Painter, Vir., wants to know how to actually can canned milk, not just duplicate for immediate use.

QUESTION — Bonnie Gibble, Ono, would like healthy recipes with nutritional counts.

QUESTION — Martha Gerber, Littlestown, is looking honey/mustard pretzels that taste similar to those made by Snyders.

QUESTION — Lynn Rossi, Lititz, would like a recipe for marinated mushrooms, which are made without cooking oil and sold by S. Clyde Weaver, East Petersburg.

QUESTION — Mrs. Dale Burkhart, Narvon, misplaced a recipe for a seasoning mixture to rub into beef roast before roasting. She recalls that some of the ingredients included instant coffee granules, beef bouillion, salt and pepper.

QUESTION — Anna Showalter, Weyers Cave, Va., would appreciate a pork roll bologna recipe that tastes like that made in Lancaster County.

QUESTION — Herman Ikeler, Bloomsburg, would like a recipe for dried cured pepperoni.

QUESTION — A long time reader from Ticonderoga, N.Y., would like recipes that use northern-hardy kiwi, which is small and grapesized with a smooth skin. It grows on clusters of vines.

ANSWER — Dave Akins wanted recipes to make chicken wings and nuggets. Thanks to Alice Keppley, Boyertown, for sending a recipe.

'La Brea Tar Pit' Chicken Wings

24 chicken wings
1 cup soy sauce (preferably Kikkoman)
½ cup dry red wine
½ cup plus 1 tablespoon sugar
¼ teaspoon ground ginger

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Cut off wing tips, reserving them for another use, and halve wings at joint. Arrange wings, skin side down, in a roasting pan large enough to hold them in one layer.

In a small saucepan, heat remaining ingredients over moderately low heat, stirring until sugar is dissolved and pour evenly over wings. Bake wings in middle of oven 45 minutes. Turn wings over and bake until cooking liquid is thick and sticky, about 45 minutes to one hour more.

Transfer wings with tongs to a platter. Serves 8 to 12 as an hors d' oeuvre.

ANSWER — Darvin Moyer, Johnstown, wanted a recipe for the beef and lamb mixture used to make Greek Gyro sandwiches. Thanks to Josephine Matenus, Dallas, for sending her recipe.

Gyros

¼ cup minced onion
1 small garlic clove, minced
½ pound ground lamb
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon oregano
½ teaspoon ground cumin
½ cup seeded, pared, cucumber, diced
¼ cup low-fat yogurt
1 tablespoon chopped fresh mint
2 pitas
½ cup each shredded lettuce and diced tomatoes

Spray small skillet with nonstick cooking spray. Add onion and garlic, cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until softened about 30 seconds. Transfer to medium mixing bowl; add lamb, lemon juice, oregano, and cumin. Mix thoroughly. Shape into two equal patties. Spray rack in broiler pan. Broil, turning once for 3 to 5 minutes on each side until done. In small serving bowl, combine cucumbers, yogurt, and mint and stir to combine; set aside.

To serve, using a sharp knife, cut one-fourth of the way around edge of each pita. Open to form pocket. Fill each pita with half of lettuce and tomatoes, 1 lamb patty, and half of yogurt mixture.

Where Are My Poisons?

This past week was designated National Poison Prevention Week. Each year health and safety organizations work together to remind consumers about the everyday hazards in their homes that could end up poisoning an unsuspecting person (usually an inquisitive child). At this time of year, take some time to survey your home and ask, "Where are my poisons?"

Most people know the typical spots — cabinets under the kitchen or bathroom sink, laundry room closets, medicine cabinets. But there may be others. Do you have chemicals like screen cleaners near your computer? Where's the bottle of cleaner that you use with audio and video equipment? Craft enthusiasts, where do you keep your tubes of glue and paints? Where is the can of wasp spray? jug of antifreeze? bag of weed-and-feed?

All these areas are potential hazards for the exploring infant or toddler who by his very nature will stick everything in his mouth for a taste.

The Consumer Products Safety Commission reported that in 1992, 42 infants or small children died from accidental poisoning with medicines or household chemicals. Yearly, an estimated 135,000 children under the age of 5 (1 in 100) are victims of accidental ingestion. Most of these tragedies are preventable.

Does your home pass the safety test? Are medicines stored in child-resistant containers and placed out of reach of children (remember some children are great climbers!)? It's best if cleaners and medicines can be locked up. Do you store supplies in your garage and house in the original containers with their labels? (Don't use soda bottles, plastic cups, freezer containers and other typical "food" containers for non-food products.)

Here are some other steps that you can take to prevent a poisoning accident. Flush out-of-date medicines down the toilet or pour them down the drain, so they can't be retrieved.

Make a habit of calling medicine what it is — medicine — not candy. One of my early childhood memories is of me sitting underneath my bed eating a large quantity of orange-flavored baby aspirin because they tasted good. Fortunately quick action from my parents and some doctor's advice kept this misdemeanor from becoming a horror story.

Although the most likely victims, children aren't the only people who can accidentally be poisoned. Adults can too. Remember to turn on lights if you get up to take medicine or give a child medicine at night. In the dark, it's easy to mistake "adult strength" cough syrup for children's stength medicine. It's also easy to grab the wrong bottle and take the wrong medicine.

Finally be aware that visitors and visiting increase the risk of poisons. Be especially alert when grandparents or other older friends come to visit. They may have medicines in their purses, overnight bags or even coat pockets and not think that a little child may go exploring.

Also be cautious when you visit a non-baby-proofed home. Many people put a week's worth of medicines in plastic pill boxes on a kitchen counter or bathroom vanity. These are in easy reach of many children. Think about it — some medicines look a lot like tic-tacs or skittles. There are other look alike products that may be confused in a hasty moment — toothpaste and tubes of epoxy, non-stick vegetable sprays and oven cleaners. The risks are there.

Pleast take some time to see if you can improve the safety in your home this weekend. And remember to post emergency numbers by your telephone. As careful as we can be, accidents still may happen. That's when we need to be able to call for help quickly. In addition to a reminder card listing "911" or your local ambulance number, write down your doctor's name and phone number, the closest hospital number, and the poison control hotline (800)-722-7112.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — For those who request recipes for cookie and cake mixes in a jar for gift giving, here is one from Tracy Marchini, Narvon. Tracy recommends a booklet, "Cookies in a Jar," by Jackie Gannaway. The booklet has 26 recipes and can be purchased at Pfaltzgraff Factory Outlet or by mail for $3.95 plus $1.50 for shipping. Send requests to Cookbook Cupboard, P.O. Box 50053, Austin, TX 78763.

White Chocolate Macadamia Nut Cookie Mix In A Jar

1¼ cups sugar

½ cup chopped macadamia nuts (or chopped almonds)

3 (1.4 oz.) Nestles White Crunch candy bars, coarsely chopped (press this layer in very hard)

2 cups flour mixed with:

½ teaspoon baking soda

½ teaspoon baking powder

Layer ingredients in order given in a one-quart wide-mouth canning jar. Press each layer firmly in place before adding next ingredient.

Baking instructions:

Add:

1 stick butter, softened

1 egg

1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix until completely blended. You will need to finish mixing with your hands. It will take a while to mix into a smooth dough.

Shape into walnut sized balls. Place 2-inches apart on sprayed baking sheets.

Bake at 375 degrees for 12-14 minutes until tops are very lightly browned. Cool 5 minutes on baking sheet. Remove cookies to racks to finish cooling.

Makes 2½ dozen cookies.

ANSWER — Debrah Giambalvo, Lancaster, had such a high yield of soybeans that she is in need of recipes on how to use them. Thanks to Josephine Matenus, Dallas, for sending two recipes.

Soybean Croquettes

2 tablespoons butter
1 cup chopped onion
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 cups cooked soybeans, drained
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup chopped, peeled tomatoes
¼ cup lemon juice
½ cup chopped peanuts
½ cup chopped walnuts
2 cups whole grain bread crumbs
2 tablespoons vegetable oil

In a small skillet, melt butter and saute onions and garlic until slightly golden. Combine onion mixture, soybeans, eggs, tomatoes, lemon juice, peanuts, walnuts, and 1 cup bread crumbs in large bowl. Mix well. Form into 8-10 croquettes and roll in crumbs to coat.

Heat oil in large skillet. Lightly fry croquettes until golden brown. Serve plain or with tomato sauce.

Beans Italiana

2 tablespoons olive oil
2 large cloves garlic, minced
2 cups sliced mushrooms
2 cups fresh green soybeans or lima beans
1 tablespoon dried basil
½ teaspoon dried oregano or pinch of dried tarragon
2 cups stewed tomatoes, crushed
1 pound uncooked whole wheat spaghetti or other pasta
½ cup cup grated Romano cheese

Heat oil in large saucepan, add garlic and mushrooms and saute for 2 minutes. Add beans, basil, oregano, tarragon, vinegar, and tomatoes. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Remove lid and simmer 10 more minutes.

Cook pasta until tender, drain. Stir half the cheese into sauce. Spoon over hot pasta and sprinkle with remaining cheese.

Serves 4.

Why do skunks stink?

Skunks, with their silky black fur and pretty white stripes, might seem a lot like an oversized kitty cat. But catch a whiff of their distinctive spray, and you'll lose all desire to cuddle up with one

Skunks produce the spray in glands on both sides of their tails When another animal, such as your dog, threatens a skunk by barking or cornering it, the skunk will immediately start showing warning signs It will stomp its feet and flick its tail If Fido doesn't get the message to back off, the skunk will turn around and eject its yellow, stinky spray Some skunks can spray this liquid as far as 12 feet

The spray is made up of sulfur, hydrogen and carbon atoms The sulfur and hydrogen bond together, creating the bad smell. (Sulfur smells a lot like rotten eggs and a little like natural gas.) The spray also will cause temporary blindness and make Fido's skin burn and itch for a little bit — giving the skunk a chance to make a quick getaway

And, that's the idea behind the nasty spray. Animals that think a skunk might make a tasty meal — or even a fun playmate — quickly associate the distinct markings with the memory of getting sprayed These animals learn their lesson quickly. Stay away from the black cat with stripes!

Hidden Word Puzzle Correction

Thanks to Jessica Worley, age 8, for writing that she found an error in the Hidden Word Puzzle that appeared in the March 7, issue. The puzzle had words related to St. Patrick's Day. The word CLOVER could not be found because a typographical error appeared in the 12th column across and 13th column down. The letter should have been E instead of F.

We are sorry that many boys and girls spent hours searching for this word. Thanks to Jessica for bringing this to our attention. Jessica lives in Northeast, Maryland, and writes that her favorite part of the paper is "Kid's Korner." She especially enjoys word puzzles.

The Biggest Snake

Did you know there s a snake that can grow up to 33 feet long and weigh more than 500 pounds?

Found throughout tropical South America the anaconda is the largest known snake in the world The yellow anaconda grows up to 16 feet long and the green anaconda can grow to 33 feet long or more

Because they can weigh up to 550 pounds or more the anaconda usually swims instead of trying to drag its body on land It can breathe while swimming because its nostrils are on top of its snout

The anaconda usually hunts at night and eats large rodents wild pigs birds, fish and deer The snake waits in forest streams for an animal to come and drink then attacks the animal and uses its sharp teeth to drag it into the water Once in the water the anaconda wraps itself around the animal and squeezes it until it can t breathe any longer After that, the anaconda swallows the animal whole

After an anaconda eats it may sleep for many days Sometimes it won't eat again for days or weeks

Consuming Thoughts

Penn State Extension Home Economist For Berks Co.

Don't let your healthy eating intentions go astray when cooking faces you at the end of a busy day. Eating enough veggies is vital to lower cancer risk, so it's smart to include them at dinnertime - even when you're short on time.

This time of year the answer to your dilemma might be to have plenty of frozen vegetables at your finger tips. Frozen veggies are the quick fix that can solve many menu problems.

When you can't fix fresh, your supermarket freezer case is a storehouse of nutritious and good-tasting veggies that cook in just a few quick minutes. You can follow the microwave directions on the package, or prepare vegetables more traditionally by placing them in a small amount of boiling water. These tasty dishes prove there's never too little time to prepare and enjoy your vegetables.

• Lemon-Broccoli Salad - Cook frozen broccoli spears as directed, then cool overnight in the refrigerator. Toss with lemon juice, a touch of olive oil, garlic and a little salt for a delightfully tangy salad.

• Curried Vegetable Rice - Add cooked frozen green peas and chopped carrots, garlic, pepper, and curry seasoning to cooked brown rice for a high-fiber treat. If a creamy texture is desired, add non-fat sour cream or yogurt.

• Sesame Cauliflower - Cook frozen cauliflower as directed. Just before serving, toss with toasted sesame seeds, soy sauce, and a few drops of sesame oil.

• Easy Spinach Roll-Ups - Thaw and drain frozen spinach. Squeeze out excess water, then mix with non-fat cottage cheese, egg whites and small amount of Parmesan cheese. Spread mixture over cooked lasagna noodles, roll lengthwise, and place end-side down in a baking dish. Cover with spaghetti sauce, sprinkle with lowfat mozzarella cheese and bake at 350 degrees F for about 30 minutes, or until cheese is melted and sauce bubbles.

Food labels help you choose healthier frozen foods - By making it quicker and easier than ever to learn about the nutritional qualities of frozen vegetables you buy, the food labels are a valuable tool.

Realistic, Consistent Serving Sizes - Scrutinizing the serving size is now a thing of the past. The food labeling laws on frozen "veggies" require serving sizes to be basically the same for all brands in a product category, so you can easily compare similar foods for nutrients like fat and fiber. Serving sizes will be listed in both common household and metric measures and will reflect the amounts of foods people actually eat.

Nutrient Listings - Now you can find information on the nutrients you're most interested in. The revamped labels reflect current health concerns like cancer and heart disease, so you'll see listings for important things like vitamin A, vitamin C, dietary fiber, calories from fat and more. And if a manufacturer makes a claim on the package about a nutrient that's not on this required list, then information about the nutrient must also appear on the label.

Smart Storage Tips - Taste and texture decline considerably if frozen vegetables languish in the freezer much longer than two or three months. The optimum storage temperature is 0 degrees F Avoid thawing and refreezing, as this significantly affects quality too. Opened packages should be tightly resealed to avoid freezer burn.

Dairy Of Distinction Program Again Seeks Nice Looking Farms

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) - Do you take pride in maintaining your dairy farm? Does your dairy farm project an attractive, wholesome image to consumers? If so, the Dairy of Distinction Program of Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey, will consider your farm for the program's annual recognition awards.

The Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program that oversees the Distinction program was first started in 1983 in Pennsylvania to recognize the hard work and dedication of the farmers who maintain attractive farms. The purpose of the program is to instill a greater sense of confidence in the wholesomeness of dairy products, and increase their sales.

Farms that apply are judged on the roadside appearance of buildings, grounds, and surroundings, since this is what our dairy product consumers observe as they drive by the farm.

The cleanliness of the barnyard, feed areas, and manure management are all areas taken into consideration when a team of judges takes a look at your farm from a roadside point of view. Judging is conducted during the month of May. Award winners are announced during your local June Dairy Month activities.

To qualify for consideration, you must be actively dairy farming and shipping milk.

Applications are available for Pennsylvania dairy farms from Michael O'Conner, 324 Henning Building, Dept. of Dairy and Animal Science, Penn State University, University Park, PA 16802. Phone: (814) 863-3913.

For New York State applications are available from Carol Keene, RD 1, Box 31, Gilbertsville, NY 13776. Phone: (607) 783-2169.

For New Jersey applications, send to: August Knispel, 641 Sidney Road, Pittstown, NJ 08867. Phone: (908) 735-4989.

For Vermont applications, send to: Elisa Clancy, Vermont Department of Agriculture, 16 State St., Drawer 20, Montpelier, VT 05620-2901. Phone: (802) 828-3835.

All applications must be completed and returned to your respective state secretary by April 15, 1999.

The Dairy of Distinction program is financed in Pennsylvania by Dairy Farmers through the American Dairy Association Dairy Council and Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program in cooperation with many local agribusiness organizations. The program is conducted with advice and help from Penn State Cooperative Extensi.on.

Dairy of Distinction 1999 Pennsylvania Application

PURPOSE OF PROGRAM

Attractive dairy farms give the consumer greater confidence in the wholesomeness of milk and stimulate milk sales which encourages public support for the dairy industry The award gives recognition to the dairy farmer for maintaining a well-kept farmstead.

ELIGIBILITY

All Northeast dairy farms producing milk for sale are invited to submit an application for the award. Dairies receiving the 10 highest scores in each of the 21 districts will receive an 18" x 24" Dairy of Distinction sign to be displayed in front of their farm.

Dairy of Distinction

Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program, Inc.

Awards will be based upon neatness, good maintenance and other factors which can be controlled by the farmer. Attractive background scenery should not be weighed heavily in judging All judging observations should be made from a vehicle at one or more points on an adjacent public highway (or if farm is off the road, the nearest lane). Judging should give equal consideration to old wood construction and new construction of metal or concrete block

The award program may be used for subsequent advertising or promotion activities for dairy products or dairy farming Farmers who apply for awards agree that, if selected they will cooperate with these activities and make all reasonable efforts to maintain both the exterior and interior of their properties in an acceptable condition

HOW THE APPLICATION WORKS

The owner or operator of the dairy farm should sign the application and send it to NEDFBP secretary by April 15

HOW THE JUDGING WORKS

Judging teams will visit farms during the month of May Farms will be judged each year as the award is presented on an annual basis. Any dairy failing to maintain appearance standards will be asked to remove their sign. The Dairy of Distinction signs remain the property of the committee, not the property of the dairy farmer. All farms must achieve a compliance score of 90 percent on their Dairy of Distinction score card. Your cooperative or milk handler will be contacted to approve your milk quality.

RULES FOR THE DAIRY OF DISTINCTION AWARD

1). The Dairy of Distinction sign remains the property of the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Committee.
2). The post and bracket shall be supplied by and maintained by the dairy farmer. It is suggested that a wood post 4' x 4' x 12' or iron pipe 2' x 12' be used. Posts or pipe should be installed and maintained in true vertical position with 8' above ground. Top of the bracket shou'd be lower than six inches from the top of the post.
3). Sign shall be displayed in front of the dairy at roadside. An attractive post and bracket, or other frame, shall be used to display the sign. No more than three signs should be displayed from the sign frame or post, and all shall be of a style, general size and quality comparable to the Dairy of Distinction sign. Sign should be secured on all sides to avoid wind damage.
4). Signs shall not be moved to other premises. New owners of a Dairy of Distinction farm must apply to retain the sign.
5). Replacement of damaged signs shall be the discretion of the committee.
6) No producer shall be charged with scoring or sign expense
7) Judges' decisions will be final.
8) Judging will take place between May 1st and May 31st
9) Farms awarded a Dairy of Distinction sign in previous years will be judged between April 1st and April 30th If they do not qualify, they will be rejudged between May 1st and May 31st so they have the opportunity to keep the sign

Little Bit Of Country Smack In The City

RANDY WELLS

OXON, Hill, MD – Tammy Farmery McKibben finally arrives at work each morning after enduring 45 minutes of heavy suburban traffic

That's nothing out of the ordinary for many working Americans But it's a little unusual in McKibben's line of work She's employed on a farm

Her down-on-the-farm job is also different because on some days, hundreds of kids stop by to watch her work

And she can see the Washington Monument from her barnyard

McKibben is the animal caretaker at Oxon Hill Farm, a 512-acre spread operated by the National Park Service at Oxon Cove Park near Oxon Hill, Md , just south of Washington, D C

McKibben grew up on a farm and has been around farm animals all her life But on the farm at Oxon Hill the sounds of chickens clucking and cows mooing mingle with the noise of traffic on the nearby Interstate 95/495 Capital Beltway and with passenger jets landing and taking off from Ronald Reagan National Airport just across the Potomac River

In 1891 the federal government acquired the Oxon Hill land and established a farm for St Elizabeth's Hospital Patients worked on the farm for therapy and to grow their own food In the mid-1960s the farm was entrusted to the National Park Service, and in 1967 Oxon Hill Farm welcomed its first visitors

"Basically we get a lot of families with kids," McKibben said "Being that we're so close to D C , we have a lot of school tours "

The Park Service runs Oxon Hill as though it were still the early 1900's, and a big attraction for many visiting youngsters are the farm's beef and dairy cows, draft horses, sheep, goats, pigs, chickens, turkeys, ducks and geese

And that's where McKibben fits in She grew up helping her parents, Dwight and Shirley Farmery, run their dairy operation near Marion Center, and was Indiana County Dairy Princess in 1992-93 After graduating from Marion Center Area High School in '93, she earned an associate degree in Wildlife and Fisheries Technology from Penn State University

That combination of formal education and hands-on farming experience helped McKibben land the job as animal caretaker at Oxon Hill

"I'm also in charge of a curriculum-based program for preschool and kindergarten students called Animal Life on the Farm "

Under McKibben's supervision kids have the opportunity to milk a cow, feed the chickens, pet the horses, and ask questions

"A lot of them have never been exposed to farms They hardly even know what a farm is," she said

A frequently-asked question arises about one of the farm's Ayrshire milk cows

"Everybody thinks she's a bull because she has horns," she said

McKibben believes the Oxon Hill Farm experience is especially important for children from the cities

"It's amazing that many don't know that some farmer out there grows all the crops," she said, and she emphasizes to the children the "no farms-no food" concept

"The kids like to come out and see the animals But they also need to know that pigs give you ham," she said

McKibben also participated in a holiday tradition that involves two of the farm's Belgian draft horses - delivery of the official White House Christmas tree

"We use one of the old-time wagons to haul the tree to the White House," she said "The

2-for-1: A tedder and a rake

The Model 255 rake tedder is a flexible machine – it's the tedder that also rakes.

- Rake a swath into a windrow.
- Rake two windrows into one
- Turn windrows for faster drying
- Move crop away from fences or borders
- Ted a 10 1/2-foot area to fluff up wet, matted-down crop for quick drying

And you can change the "255" from one function to another without tools! Stop by for a demonstration.

Put quality silage under wraps

New Holland round bale wrappers are the low-cost alternative to traditional silage storage—they seal your silage bales in "mini silos". You can harvest silage during peak feed quality, store it with greater flexibility, and feed it more efficiently with less waste.

Choose from two models:

- Model B27P is an economic utility wrapper for medium-volume silage producers
- Model B37P is ideal for custom harvesters or operations wrapping large volumes of bales

Both offer a side-mounted lifting arm, three-belt turntable, two large side-support rollers, and cable controls. The B37P is available with computer controls.

Country Auction Raises Funds For World Relief

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

FARMERSVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — After 43 years the annual Pennsylvania Relief Sale, conducted in the Harrisburg Farm Show Building the first Saturday in April, has become widely known for raising money for national and international relief. People mostly acquaint quilts with the fund raising effort, but quilts are only one part of the massive sale that garnered about $300,000 for relief last year.

One of the popular segments of the sale is the Country Auction held in the Small Arena at the Farm Show Complex. People and businesses donate new and used items to be auctioned.

"You never know how much we're going to get," said John Rutt, who with his wife Esther have been in charge of Country Auction for about eight years.

John, owner of Farmersville Auction, solicits businesses and individuals to donate items. It's almost a year-round solicitation that he combines with the duties of operating a family furniture business and the Farmersville Auction.

"If I'm going past a business, I might stop in and tell the owners about the Relief Auction and ask for donations," Rutt said.

Rutt is able to store many items in the warehouse adjacent to his furniture shop in Farmersville. Some people transport donated items to the auction, but many depend upon Rutt for the transportation. He and his sons haul truckloads up to the Farm Show Friday morning before the sale.

"We can't put the items in the small arena when we unload because a hymn sing is held there on Friday night," Esther said.

That means the Rutts and many other volunteers need to be on site by 6 a.m. on Saturday to move the items into the arena for bidders to view.

This year, one of the big draw items for collectors is a fully restored 1946 John Deere Model A Tractor, Serial #552384 with a slanted cast-iron dash. Other antique items include a hit and miss engine, an oak icebox, dishes, crystal, agateware, and wooden boxes.

Some of the more unusual items to be auctioned include an eight-foot gazebo and a weekend vacation at a two-story cabin in Mifflin County.

New furniture donated includes sofas, reclining chairs, a handcrafted wooden rocker, table, hutch, cedar chest, and chest of drawers.

"Items keep coming with some even bringing them in on the morning of the sale, so we don't know what all we will end up with," Rutt said.

Every year there are several big ticket items, but the Rutts never know in advance what those will be.

"Every sale is thrilling, because we see different prices on some of the same items," Esther said. "Last year an icebox brought $2,100."

Some people shy away from the auction because they erroneously believe that everything goes for a high price. The Rutts emphasized that there are bargains every time.

John and Esther Rutt show off some of the items to be autioned at the Country Auction held in the Small Arena at the Farm Show Complex. The Rutt family collects and transports new and used items that people donate for the annual Relief Auction.

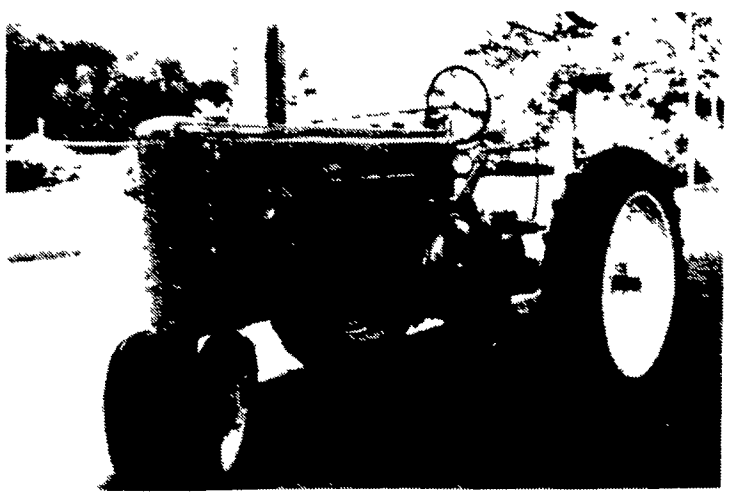
In fact, some donors would prefer a guarantee that their donations will go for a high price and are disappointed if the items don't bring the price anticipated. But Rutt said, "The idea is to give from the heart. Whatever is given is for relief."

Also to be sold at the Country Auction is a selection of original and reproduction art, which will go on the auction block at 1 p.m. on Saturday. This will be followed by craft items.

The quilt auction is not held in the Small Arena with the Country Auction but in the main exhibition hall. However, some quilted wall hangings are sold in the Country Auction.

Every year the board searches for new ideas to generate income for relief.

Rutt said that when someone suggested the Penny Power project, he didn't think it would work.



This fully restored 1946 John Deere Model A Tractor, Serial #552384 with a slanted cast-iron dash will go to the highest bidder.

Ten-month-old Cameron tries out one of the child's rockers donated for the Country Auction. Cameron is the grandson of John and Esther Rutt and the son of John Jr. and Andrea Rutt.

Quilters worked on this quilt at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in preparation for the annual Pennsylvania Relief Sale to be held April 2-3, in the Harrisburg Farm Show Building

In this project, children are encourage to collect coins and bring them to the relief sale. Last year, with the help of matching funds, $50,000 was raised through the Penny Power project.

The Rutts enjoy visiting relief sales in other states for ideas. An estimated 1,000 volunteers work together to make the annual auction a successful fund-raising event.

The Pennsylvania Relief Sale opens at 4 p.m. Friday evening April 2, with an auction of some quilts, comforters, afghans, rugs, and wallhangings beginning at 6:30 p.m. At 7 p.m. the Pennsylvania Men's Chorus and a mixed chorus will provide musical entertainment in the Small Arena.

On Saturday, April 3, breakfast will be served beginning at 6 a.m Both the Quilt Auction and The Country Auction begin at 9 a.m., with volunteer auctioneers taking turns with the auction gravel. (Note: The Relief Sale does not include the use of the Large Arena, where a circus will be operating simultaneously).

More than 3,000 seats are available at the quilt auction. About 300 reserved seats will be sold for $10 each, and the other seats are free. There are no reserved seats for the Country Auction, but available on a first-come basis.

Those who have items to donate should contact the Rutts at (717) 354-2471.

Little Bit Of Country

First Lady is there with the press, and she accepts the tree."

After the delivery, McKibben met the president and Hillary Clinton

Two of the other horses at Oxon Hill Farm are retired from their service of pulling caissons in funerals at Arlington National Cemetery

McKibben is responsible for grooming the horses, assisting a farrier who trims their hooves every six weeks, and summoning a veterinarian when one is needed But sometimes reassuring advice from her dad back on the farm at home is enough

She recently called him to make sure they were in agreement on what the weaning time should be for a Brown Swiss calf

"He's been really helpful I just call to ease my mind," she said

McKibben is putting her wildlife degree to work by developing a basic wetlands program she can present to visitors, because wild creatures along the Potomac wetlands also live on the farm

An assignment to one of the national parks in the American west - especially Montana - is an opportunity McKibben would jump at

"Now that I'm in the Park Service, if an opportunity arises, I can apply for something," she said "But I'm pretty content with where I'm working right now"

McKibben's husband Gordon is an electrical engineer for the Department of Defense and works at Annapolis, which is a shorter commute than his wife has to the farm

"I'm a country girl," and Oxon Hill Farm is "like this little chunk of country smacked into the middle of the city"

After her drive through suburban-Washington rush-hour traffic, "It's nice to get to work," she said

"I'm a country girl and Oxen Hill is like this little chunk of country smacked in the middle of the city," Tammy McKibben said. Photo by National Park Service.

We waited until March to have our first real snowfall of the winter Then in two days it was gone In the 1950s my cousin took many pictures and I have her slides showing drifts that were 15 feet high. That did not disappear in two days

The question is asked, "Do you know where your children are?" I must admit that I do not Within the last year some have been in Spain, London and Canada Now I hear that others are going to Singapore and Australia Flying on planes is second nature to some of them as their business takes them away from home

One of my first big trips was a train trip across the United States In two weeks a group of farmers crossed central North America and returned on a southern route We saw many attractions during the day and traveled at night as we slept in berths that could be converted by day into seats Considering that this was 50 years ago, it is a wonder that it still lingers in my mind

It has been a pleasure to spend the last few months in the house There are many houseplants to tend and papers to read Each morning I feed our cats and my one goldfish We watch the half-dozen bluebirds that sit on our rail fence I expect this will soon change as the gardens are prepared for planting Many hours have gone into making braided rug number 17 It is a multicolored one while others have had only two or three colors It reminds me of an old-fashioned one where you use whatever scraps of cloth that you can find Who knows, maybe one of the grandchildren will see beauty in it At least, it keeps me busy before I start outdoor work this spring

Lancaster Bed And Breakfasts Now Have Cookbook

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Whether it's a continental breakfast with a sampling of homemade breads or a hefty egg casserole, some of the best breakfasts are served at Bed and Breakfasts of Lancaster County.

Now the hosts and hostesses of the county's Bed and Breakfasts have compiled a cookbook divulging their favorite recipes.

The 130-page cookbook features 20 different Bed and Breakfasts. The cookbook is not arranged like the typical cookbook into food categories. Instead, each section features a different bed and breakfast, complete with a brief discription about the innkeepers, the home, farm, or village where it is located, and a sample menu served at each one.

Traditionally only breakfast is served at these establishments, but the owners often end up sharing other family favorites also. The cookbook includes much more than a breakfast menu. Desserts, salads, soups, casseroles, and even a special dog biscuit recipe are included.

Charlene Sweeney, who compiled the cookbook, operates Cocalico Creek Bed and Breakfast, Denver. She and other members of the Authentic Bed and Breakfasts of Lancaster County are often asked to share recipes that they serve to guests.

Charlene said, "The cookbook is a result of the many requests from our guests. These recipes are not necessarily original, but happen to be the ones most requested by our guests."

To order cookbooks, send $10 per book plus $3 for postage and handling to Authentic B&B of Lancaster Co., 224 S. 4th St., Denver, PA 17517. For more information on the cookbook, call Charlene Sweeney at (717) 336-0271 or

For more information about the Bed and Breakfasts, call 1-800-552-2632.

COW PIES

2 cups milk chocolate chips
1 tablespoon shortening
½ cup raisins
½ cup slivered almonds

In a double boiler, over simmering water, melt the chocolate chips and shortening, stirring until smooth. Remove from heat; stir in raisins and almonds. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto waxed paper. Chill until ready to serve. Yields: 2 dozen.

Cocalico Bed & Breakfast

BARLEY SPELT BREAD

Makes 1½ pound loaf in bread machine:

1½ tablespoon canola oil
2 tablespoons honey
1½ teaspoon salt
½ cup cooked barley
3½ cups spelt flour
2 tablespoons powdered whey
2 teaspoons active dry yeast

Bake in basic wheat cycle light crust in bread machine.

Elm Country Inn

STRAWBERRY CHIFFON HONEYDEW WEDGES

½ cup cold water
½ cup frozen strawberries
1 cup strawberry low-fat yogurt
2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
1 honeydew melon, halved

In small saucepan, dissolve gelatin completely in cold water. Place on stove to bring to boil. Remove from heat. Add yogurt; mix well. Stir in strawberries; chill, stirring occasionally, until thickened, but not set. Beat with electric mixer on low speed or wire whisk until fluffy. Spoon mixture into melon halves. Cover; chill 3 hours or until firm. To serve: Cut each melon half into four wedges. Garnish with additional strawberries, if desired.

Makes 8 servings.

Hillside Farm B&B

OYSTER OMELET

6 oysters
½ cup milk
Salt and pepper
2 teaspoons butter
2 teaspoons flour

Melt butter in a saucepan; add flour and milk gradually; stir until thick and cook until raw flavor of flour is gone. Season well and add chopped oysters. Keep hot while omelet is cooking.

Omelet:

Chopped parsley
2 tablespoons cold water
Pepper and salt

Beat egg whites until quite stiff. Beat yolks, add parsley and seasonings. Fold into beaten egg whites. Cook in greased omelet pan. Brown underneath, then brown top under broiler. Place oysters on omelet, fold over and serve. Garnish with parsley.

Carter Run Inn B&B

HAM SOUFFLE ROLL

½ cup all-purpose flour
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
6 beaten egg yolks (save whites)

Line a 15x10x1-inch baking pan with foil, extending foil one-inch beyond edges of pan. Grease and lightly flour the foil. In a medium saucepan, melt butter. Stir in flour and pepper. Add milk all at once. Cook and stir until mixture is thickened and bubbly. Remove from heat; cool slightly. In a medium bowl, slowly stir thickened mixture into egg yolks.

6 egg whites
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar

In a large bowl, beat egg whites and cream of tartar until stiff peaks form (tips stand straight). Fold a little of the beaten whites into the yolk mixture. Fold the yolk mixture into the remaining beaten egg whites. Spread in the prepared pan and bake in a 375 degree oven about 20 minutes or until the souffle is puffed and slightly set and a knife comes out clean.

6-ounces sliced ham
6-ounces sliced provolone or Swiss cheese

Meanwhile, place a long piece of heavy foil (about 22x18-inches) on a large baking sheet. Generously grease the foil. Immediately loosen the baked souffle from the pan. Place the foil-lined baking sheet over the souffle. Invert souffle onto the foil-lined baking sheet. Carefully peel off foil on top of souffle. Place ham and cheese in a thin layer on top of souffle. Use foil on the baking sheet to lift and help roll up souffle from one of the short sides. Lift souffle roll with the foil into a 13x9x2-inch baking pan. Cover roll with the foil. Chill for up to 24 hours. Reheat in foil at 375 degrees for 40 minutes. Slice one-inch circles. Serve immediately.

Beef Campaign Touts Convenience

MIDDLETOWN (Dauphin Co.) — The National Cattlemen's Beef Association (NCBA) is putting its marketing muscle behind the growing convenience meal category with a new advertising campaign. Designed to build consumer awareness and trial of new heat-and-serve beef products which are available in the supermarket fresh meat case, the ad campaign:

• Is themed "In the Next 10 Minutes" and speaks to amazing lifestyle breakthroughs that can happen in short spans of time, including preparing a homestyle beef meal in just minutes from the microwave.

• Aims to raise awareness and drive purchase of new innovative beef dinner options being supplied by several beef product manufacturers.

• Positions the supermarket fresh meat case as the destination point for these new beef products.

• Debuted nationally January 18 and ran in two waves to secure heightened consumer awareness. Wave II runs April 3 - 25 following the post-Easter timing.

• Can be seen nationally scross network and cable television channels and in women's magazines and other strategic print publications.

• Brings back the "Beef. It's What's For Dinner.®" advertising tag and celebrity voice-over — this time from actor Sam Elliott. The advertising tag has a 70 percent awareness with consumers.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Society 8

The Lancaster Society of Farm Women #8 met in the community room of Mount Joy Country Homes on March 10. The lovely dessert table featured the theme of St. Patrick's Day. Rev. Robert Lescallette presented a slide show and narrative on the life of Simon Cameron, who lived in Maytown as a young lad and later retired to his country home in Donegal, when he was a benefactor to many causes in the area.

President Helen Wivell led the business meeting. Members will travel to the Mennonite Central Committee workshop for a day of volunteer services on March 24.

On April 14, the group will entertain Society of Farm Women #23 at Reich's Church, 338 Stackstown Road, Marietta Rev. Earl Carver will speak on "Health and Humor."

York Society 26

York County Farm Women #26 celebrated the March meeting by going to Ruth Sweitzer's on Admire Rd., Dover for a tour of her new gourd museum

After a tour the group went to Dover Family Restaurant for lunch and the monthly meeting Athena Beshore and Janette Lowery were hostesses

Vice President, Jan Sechler, conducted the business meeting

Twelve members were present

Donations were given to the Cancer Fund and the Heart Association

Janet Lahr won the door prize

Doris Goodlander and Martha Yost had March birthdays

Cards and dishcloths are for sale

The April meeting will be at Lewisberry Methodist Church It will be a yearly safety meeting

LANCASTER FARMING'S INTERNET HOME PAGE DRAWS FAVORABLE COMMENTS

In recent months Lancaster Farming joined the wide world of agriculture on the Internet with a homepage that has already started to draw favorable comments from our viewers and traffic counts of 25,000 plus per month for our advertisers. We have worked hard to keep our down-on-the-farm values in this ultri-modern communication system. The first items we put on line, mailbox markets and public sale registry, still bring a lot of people back again and again each week. Farm News headlines, Glenn Shirk's dairy management course and the archives of the Penn State's Dairy and Animal Science Department's columns that run in the paper, have added to the popularity of the site.

Today, we have the Pennsylvania Corn Contest Winners, Accu Weather reports, a featured recipe from Section B, and from time to timet we add the program schedules for various conferences and conventions. Tomorrow, who knows? We'll find other things of interest and educational value as they come and go. And we'll keep updating the weather, recipes and news headlines each week.

In addition, we are pleased to announce that a few advertisers have chosen to place banner ads and display pages on-line with us too. When you visit our site you will want to see the farm equipment, auction, and other ads with products and services that are so much a part of our weekly publications. Of course, you can subscribe to Lancaster Farming by the email hot link, and you can find a short history of our forty-two years.

SO, IF YOU HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY TO GO ON-LINE AND WANT A GOOD PLACE TO BOOKMARK, RIDE YOUR MOUSE TO OUR CORN CRIB.

You Ask, You Answer

QUESTION — Marian Belka, Old Forge, N.Y., is looking for the descendants of Rudolph and Anna Harris who once had a farm in West Nantmeal Township in Pa.

QUESTION — David Thompson, New Market, Md., would like to know if there is anyone to reproduce several brass shippers identification tags, which had been placed on the top of milk cans. The letters are approximately ½ -inch high.

QUESTION — Ezra Gottschalk, Ephrata, wants information on the Armchair Video Club of York County. He believes they have videos of European Gardens, etc.

QUESTION — A reader wants to know if there is a place to purchase hair pins that won't cut fine hair. Years ago she got some with rounded ball-like tips. She does not want hair pins that are coated like bobby pins.

QUESTION — Earl Thoman, Railroad, is looking for a U.S. Army Veteran or someone who help give him the history of a picture taken in France in 1919. The 4-foot picture of 189 soldiers is of Co. C 115th Infantry, taken with a city background. Call Thoman at (717) 235-3197.

QUESTION — Doris Gehman, 1207 W. Elizabethtown Rd., Manheim, PA 17545, wants a children's book, "Roundabout Red Gate Farm," a lift-the-flap treasure hunt book by Linda Hayward and published by Grosset and Dunlap, copyright 1987 ISBN 0-448-11326-0.

QUESTION — A reader from Mt. Carmel would like information on starting a home business selling baked goods. She heard a program had been offered by Penn State Extension about a year ago and asked if there were any upcoming programs.

QUESTION — Steven W. VanKuren, R.1, Box 26, Montrose, PA 18801 would like to know if any readers know who has a registered Holstein with Coleman-Crest prefix or a daughter from a Holstein with that prefix. He writes that Coleman-Crest was his family's dairy farm and he would like to purchase a heifer or calf for showing.

QUESTION — D. Himmel, Chester Springs, would like to know where to purchase good quality dark brown velvet for a women's coat collar.

QUESTION — Mrs. Clyde Sauder, 270 Reifsnyder Rd. Lititz, PA 17547, wants to find a crock dish for an old-fashioned chicken waterer that measures 7¼ -inch across the bottom. She found the waterer when getting ready for her parents' farm sale. She would also like to purchase a gas cook range in good condition. It should be in the Lancaster County area.

QUESTION — Mrs. David Wadel, Washington Boro, would like to know where to find a copy of one of Edgar Guest's books of poetry.

QUESTION — A reader wants to know where Quincyville, Pa., is located. She also has lyrics to a song, which includes the words "We'll spend the day in our model A" and the refrain: "She'll go 15 miles per hour." She wants to know the title of the song and the composer's name, but does not need the lyrics.

QUESTION — Thomas Yarnall, Gilbertsville, writes that cabbage, cauliflower, and grass hay is showing purple color in them. He heard that it is blamed on an environmental problem. Also if you walk in wet ground and manure, your feet will swell. If others have this problem, Yarnall would like to know what area they are from and what they attribute to the cause. He and other farmers in his area are having health problems and with their livestock.

QUESTION — Richard O'Rourke, 2846 Highland Rd., Warrington, PA 18976, needs at least six regency blue ceramic V-cap tiles and two corner caps manufactured by Monarch Tile Co. The company went out of business about a year ago. The tiles are needed to finish a bathroom sink top edge, which is a project O'Rourke is doing for his parents.

QUESTION — Ruth Becker, Dover, would like to know where to find the deluxe version of the game "Aggravation," number 8321 and made before 1989.

QUESTION — A reader would like to know where to purchase a weather house that has a sunshine lady and a raincoat man, which automatically comes out whenever it is going to rain or the sun shines. The weather detector houses were made in western Germany. The reader wants the type made with plastic people and not the wooden people.

QUESTION — Brenda Garber, East Petersburg, would like to know where to purchase millet hulls to use pillows.

QUESTION — Ken Myers is searching for an original photo of the Adam Greer Motorcycle Motordrome (wall of death) which was in operation during the early 1930s in Columbia. Write to him 1885 Felker Rd., Middletown, PA 17057-4204.

QUESTION — A reader recently purchased a small farm in Lancaster County with a 4,000 square foot tobacco barn on it. The barn is in excellent condition. Can anyone suggest an appropriate charge to rent out the tobacco barn?

ANSWER — A Shippensburg reader wanted help with her Majesty potted palm, the leaves are turning yellow and brown and drying up. Thanks to a Manheim reader who writes that the palms should be fertilized only once every two months with a liquid fertilizer at half strength. Only water when the top half of the soil feels dry to the touch, about once a week. Use only a well drained pot and only two-inches bigger than the root ball, transplanting into a bigger pot as needed about every 18 months.

ANSWER — A Snyder County reader wanted to know what kind of crocus is used for saffron and how is it picked and dried. Thanks to a Manheim reader for sending the following information: Go to your local nursery and purchase saffron bulbs, not crocus. Plant saffron bulbs in loose, rich soil 6-inches deep, about 6-inches apart. You can make a square bed or a long row. Saffron blooms in the fall, from Sept. until a hard frost. Stem with flower comes up first, when bud opens there are three bright reddish orange staymens (not the yellow ones) pick these and lay on brown paper bag or paper towels in a place where they won't be disturbed. Each flower only gives three staymens. Unlike crocus, they only last about three days. Flowers are usually tri- or bi-colored purple to lavendar to white assorted. About every three years, dig up bulbs, separate, let dry off, and replant by sizes. Do this early in the summer. When the stamen are dry, place in a small clean jar or plastic bag, seal, store in a cool dark place.

ANSWER — For Ronald DeGraw, J. Leader has a 1999 calendar "Workhorses of Yesteryear," which you can have for the postage. Write to Leader at 256 Menchtown Rd., Everett, PA 15537.

ANSWER — In response to the reader who was looking for "The Mouse and the Motorcycle," and Runaway Ralph," by Beverly Cleary, Debrorah Frock, Spring City, writes the books can be purchased from the White Horse Press Motorcycling Catalog Winter 1998-1999 or by dialing 1-800-531-1133.

ANSWER — In answer to Diane Ferway, Ulysses, who wanted seed for Cannellini beans, Karen Moss, Perkasie, sends this source: Johnny's Selected Seeds Catalog, Foss Hill Rd. Albion, ME 04910. Phone (207) 437-4301.

Another reader writes that nonhybrid seed varieties no longer sold commercially may be found through the Seed Savers Exchange, 3076 N. Winn Rd., Decorah, IA 52101. For an annual membership fee, members receive the "Garden Seed Inventory," a huge directory of 230 seed companies and nurseries, and members exchange nonhybrid seed varieties.

ANSWER — Harold Stoudt, Hamburg, answered the reader who wanted to know why English (Persian) walnut trees do not bear nuts: If the trees are otherwise healthy, the problem is likely that the male catkins shed pollen either before the female blossoms or too late. This is a common problem of Persian walnuts. California nut growers solve this problem by harvesting catkins from other varieties at the proper time, placing them in a paper bag along with a small stone and throwing it into the trees. The stone should break the paper bag. More information is available from the Northern Nut Growers Assoc., 4518 Holston Hills Rd., Knoxville, TN 37914. Stoudt also has the problem and plans to solve it by grafting a branch of another cultivar onto the tree.

BOU-MATIC

Equipment & Systems To Improve Your Bottom Line

BOUMATIC Working for you

Because good companions are hard to come by...

Bou-Matic introduces its new Companion Portable Stall Barn Detacher

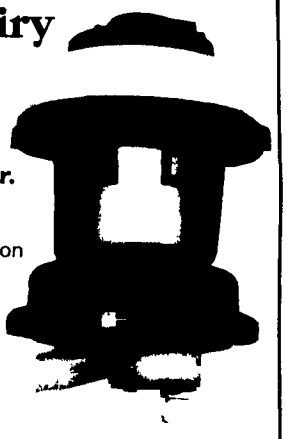
Finally. A portable detacher that milks your cows as reliably as a faithful companion. Plus the companion offers other great features like.

- Full-flow sensing and non-restrictive shut-off that reduces vacuum fluctuation and vacuum drop, so cows are milked faster
- Programmable, filtered alternating pulsation, so you are able to customize your herd's milkout
- Adjustable letdown delay, to help prevent premature detaches

The Companion portable detacher. Dependable, reliable, faithful. Only from Bou-Matic.

BOUMATIC Working for you

Perfect your dairy operation...



With the Bou-Matic Perfection 3000 milk meter.

Unsurpassed milk measurement accuracy. That's what the Perfection offers you But that's not all you get

- Small, compact design
- Simple, non-motorized operation
- Built-in milk conductivity sensor

Of course, what really matters in a milk meter is how accurate it is And that's what the Perfection excels at

Plus, if you use the Perfection milk meter in conjunction with the ProVantage Integrated Management System, you've just added an endless amount of management possibilities.

Corn Tops In County

MIFFLINTOWN (Juniata Co.) — Robert Sprowls, Honey Grove, manager of Cedarrows Farms, Inc., won the top award for Juniata County with his yield of 182.4 bushels per acre of shelled corn, according to a story that appeared in the Juniata Sentinel.

Sprowls used Chemgro 7343 planted April 25 last year at a rate of 27,000 plants per acre with a harvest population of 24,600 plants per acre.

Cedarrows Farm II's yield was also sixth in the state in 1998, with a three-year average of 158.4 bushels per acre.

Recently, Chemgro, East Petersburg, awarded Sprowls and farm managers with prizes. Congratulating Sprowls were local Chemgro dealer Vernon Diem and Jim Bowersox, Chemgro sales manager.

First Union Names Three To State Agri-Finance Board

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — First Union has named three area individuals to its Pennsylvania/Delaware Agri-Finance board of directors. The members were recently inducted, according to Darvin E. Boyd, manager of agri-finance for the bank. They will serve three-year terms on the 14-member board representing the two-state region.

Named to the board are Phoebe R. Bitler of Fleetwood, Keith Masser of Sacramento, and Ann Risser of Holtwood.

Bitler and her husband David, are the co-owners of the Vista Grande Farm in Fleetwood. She is a member of the Berks and national chapters of the Holstein Association of America and the Master Farmer Association. Bitler also serves on the Berks County Cooperative Extension Board, the 1999 National Young Farmer Institute Tour Planning Committee, and the Berks County 4-H Dairy Council. She is a former spokesperson for the National Young Farmer, a member and Sunday school teacher at the Hope Community Church, a 4-H Dairy Club organizational leader and was the 1994 co-recipient of the Master Farmer Award.

Risser and her husband Mark are co-owners of Risser Grain in Holtwood. She serves as secretary for the Farm Women Society #3, is a member of the Red Rose Antique Car Club, and is a Sunday school teacher at the New Danville Mennonite Church.

Masser is president of Sterman Masser Inc., based in Sacramento. He serves as chairman of the Hubley Township board of supervisors, is a member of the National Potato Council board of directors, is president of the Pennsylvania Co-operative Potato Growers, and is a member of the Pennsylvania Potato Research advisory board.

Masser is also chairman of the Schuylkill County Land Preservation Board, director of the Schuylkill County Farm Bureau and chairman of the Susquehanna River Basin Commission Agricultural Advisory Committee. He and his wife, Helen, were the recipients of the 1998 Master Farmer award.

Kuhn Introduces New Rollover Plow

VERNON, N.Y. — The Master 100 plow range has been added to the product line of Kuhn Farm Machinery, Inc., Vernon, New York USA, and Kuhn S.A , Saverne, France.

The Master 100 plows are designed to meet the plowing needs of farms with low to moderately powered tractors. The Master 100 is available with two to four bottoms for tractors up to 100 hp. Two styles of safety reset are available that are exclusive to Kuhn — the economical Traction-Bolt system and easily adjustable Non-Stop Hydraulic automatic reset system.

Other exclusive of the Master 100 plows include long-wearing "Triplex" moldboards and forged shares, choice of moldboards including European and American styles, and a full range of skimmers and coulters are also available.

Kuhn offers seven lines of conventional and rollover plows with sizes from 2 to 12 bottoms and tractors up to 420 hp.

Transmission Choices Ensure Productivity, Performance

TORRANCE, Calif. — Kubota's category-leading Grand-L line has been upgraded and improved on every level.

The stylish new Grand L Ten Series tractors reveal Kubota's menu of technical innovations and the Grand-L's long list of standard and optional features not the least of which are three transmission choices, each suited to a particular work need or operator demand.

Fully synchronized main and shuttle transmission (FST): This option provides economy and reliability. The FST permits shift on-the-go operation between forward and reverse, or any of the four speeds in the main transmission. There is no need to stop when shifting, simply depress the clutch, shift and go. High and low ranges are provided, with eight speeds F/R.

Glide shift transmission (GST): This GST represents a long proven design, originally introduced in 1986. The GST transmission technology is perfected and offers quick shifting performance especially suited to front loader work and turf applications. The GST affords clutchless, shift on-the-go operation. The hydraulically shifted mechanical transmission easily changes to the right synchronized gear with a touch of a lever. The GST hydraulic clutch pack offers pressure rise control characteristics for low speed shifting, neutral through fourth gear, and high speed shifting between fifth through eighth gear. There is minimal power loss during shifting between gears and between forward and reverse; this minimizes turf damage from the tires or implement pressure.

Feather-step hydrostatic transmission (HST): Grand-L Ten Series operators will quickly discover that nothing outperforms Kubota's revolutionary feather step hydrostatic transmission. The HST features a unique hydraulic servo mechanism that reduces the amount of foot pressure needed to depress the foot pedal. Additionally, the servo eliminates sudden pressure and helps deliver seamless operation. Shock is reduced even when making sudden stops or changing directions. The servo control virtually eliminates vibration from the HST pedal and helps reduce overall hydrostatic.

Monsanto Dairy Business Names Technical Services Specialist

ST. LOUIS , Mo. – Monsanto Dairy Business, manufacturer of Posilac 1 Step, announces Ken Sanderson, D.V.M., has joined the company as a technical services specialist. Sanderson will provide technical support to dairy producers in northeastern New York and New England.

For the past 15 years, Sanderson operated three veterinary clinics, with one specializing in dairy health management services. He also has served as an international consulting facilitator, providing educational training opportunities for dairy industry professionals Additionally, Sanderson was a consultant in the creation of the Monsanto Dairy Business technical services division and debottlenecking seminars.

Sanderson received his doctorate of veterinary medicine and advanced certificate in dairy health management from the University of Guelph in Ontario, Canada.

Sanderson's technical support will center on the needs of customers of Posilac 1Step.

Wide-Tread Option For Tractors

MOLINE, Ill. — John Deere has announced a factory-installed wide-tread option for its 8000T Series tractors.

The new 120-inch-wide axle provides eight different tread settings from 92 to 120 inches and permits straddling four 30-inch or six 20-inch rows.

The new axle offers a choice of 16-, 24-, or 30-inch-wide rubber tracks. The standard axle offers eight tread settings from 60 to 88 inches and the same choice of rubber-track widths as the new axle.

Adjusting tread settings on the wide-tread and standard axle is done without the use of spacers.

The wide-tread axle enhances turning performance under load and reduces berming during turns. It also further improves row visibility and increases lateral stability, especially in hillside applications.

Because some chassis components have been redesigned for the wide-tread configuration, the new optional axle will not retrofit to earlier models.

DEFINING NUTRIENT REQUIREMENTS: A QUESTION OF PRECISION ACCURACY, OR RISK?

Dr. William B. Roush
Department of Poultry Science

The word "precision" is often used in relation to the nutritional requirements of animals. Precision suggests a level of exactness that, on its own, is not appropriate for meeting the nutrient requirements of an animal population.

Nick Dale (Mendez et al., 1999) defined the difference between precision and accuracy. Precision refers to consistency in making repeated measurements, while accuracy reflects the closeness of a measured value to its true value. He used the analogy of hitting the bullseye of a target. Accuracy would be the ability to hit the bullseye repeatedly; whereas, precision would be the ability to closely group a series of shots even though those shots may not be near the bullseye.

When seeking and obtaining an accurate and precise answer to a nutritional question, the result is an accurate and precise average of the nutrient requirement. As a result, the average reflects the nutrient requirement for 50 percent of the population of animals. The reason for this is biological variability. Within a population of animals, ingredients, and other biological entities, there is inherent biological variability. The description of this is statistically identified with an average (or mean) and a standard deviation. There is variability no only in nutrients (and their availability and digestibility), but also in animal requirements.

The problem of nutrient variability was recognized many years ago. Nott and Combs (1967), at the University of Maryland, suggested adjustment of the nutrient database by one half of a standard deviation of the mean. This would insure meeting the nutritional requirement 69 percent of the time. The probability of meeting the nutrient requirement of animals introduces the concept of risk into meeting nutrient requirements.

Statistical factors, which deal with variability and risk, involve nonliner inputs. Research on feed formulation methodology has shown that conventional linear programming over formulates the nutrient requirement to deal with ingredient variation in the feed. This is of concern because overformulation can result in increased ration cost. Stochastic nonliner programming was developed to handle the problem of variability.

To facilitate the use of stochastic programming, means and standard deviations of nutrients are needed. These values can come from analytical values, historical lab values or ingredient table values. Interestingly, the 1968 National Research Council ingredient tables included the Coefficient of Variation to give a global estimate of nutrient variation in ingredients. Unfortunately, this was discontinued in later editions of the ingredient tables. This author advocates the inclusion of mean and standard deviation values in nutrient tables, as well as the use of scholastic programming to deal with biological variability in feed formulation (Roush et al, 1996).

There is a school of thought that the incorporation of Near Infrared Reflectance (NIR) technology does away with the need to worry about variation. However, variation is present in all processes (especially those involving biology). The use of NIR technology is an important step forward in decreasing the error of determining nutrient levels in ingredients. However, there is still variance that must be considered in the sampling of large lots of feed ingredients.

Of course, there is a cost in looking at the formulation problem from an insurance of risk point of view. The question is whether the increased cost of the ration is offset by the increased performance of the population of animals. This is something that must be determined by the decision-maker.

Precision, accuracy, and risk are all involved in defining and meeting the nutritional requirements of animals. Analytical tools such as NIR and stochastic formulation methods offer approaches to accurately and precisely meet the nutrient requirements of animals in a population at a reduced risk and cost.

Select Hereford Sale

MORRISVILLE, N.Y. – Quality is the only way to describe this year's Northeast Production Select VII Sale.

The sale committee selected cattle that the consignors really wanted to keep home in their herds. This year's sale has 45 lots with a good mix of open yearling heifers, bred heifers, cow-calfs, and 11 outstanding bulls to pick form.

There are 24 show prospect heifers from New York, Pennsylvania, Vermont, and New Jersey. The pedigrees of these animals represent many well-known cow families and sires. Some animals are offspring of national winners.

This year's sale is Saturday, May 8 at 12:30 p.m. in Morrisville, N.Y. at the cooperative extension building. Preview of the cattle is on Friday, May 7, starting at 4 p.m.,with a dinner starting at 6 p.m.

The Junior Hereford Associations Semen Sale will start at 8:30 p.m. Auctioneer Patrick Kenny will sell the best group of Hereford cattle offered in New York in recent times.

For a sale catalog or more information, contact Bill Metch, (607) 967-3020 or Charlie Davis at (315)-662-7691.

FSA Disaster Funding For Crops

POTTSVILLE (Schuylkill Co.) – Congress has approved special disaster funding for producers suffering crop losses in 1998.

Producers could also find they are eligible for benefits if they have received paid losses in three of the years from 1994 through 1998.

If you have suffered a yield loss over 35 percent you must apply for the crop loss benefits by April 9, 1999.

Both insured and non-insured crops are eligible for payment. Crop guarantees are at 65 percent of normal yields and losses are paid at 60 to 65 percent of established prices.

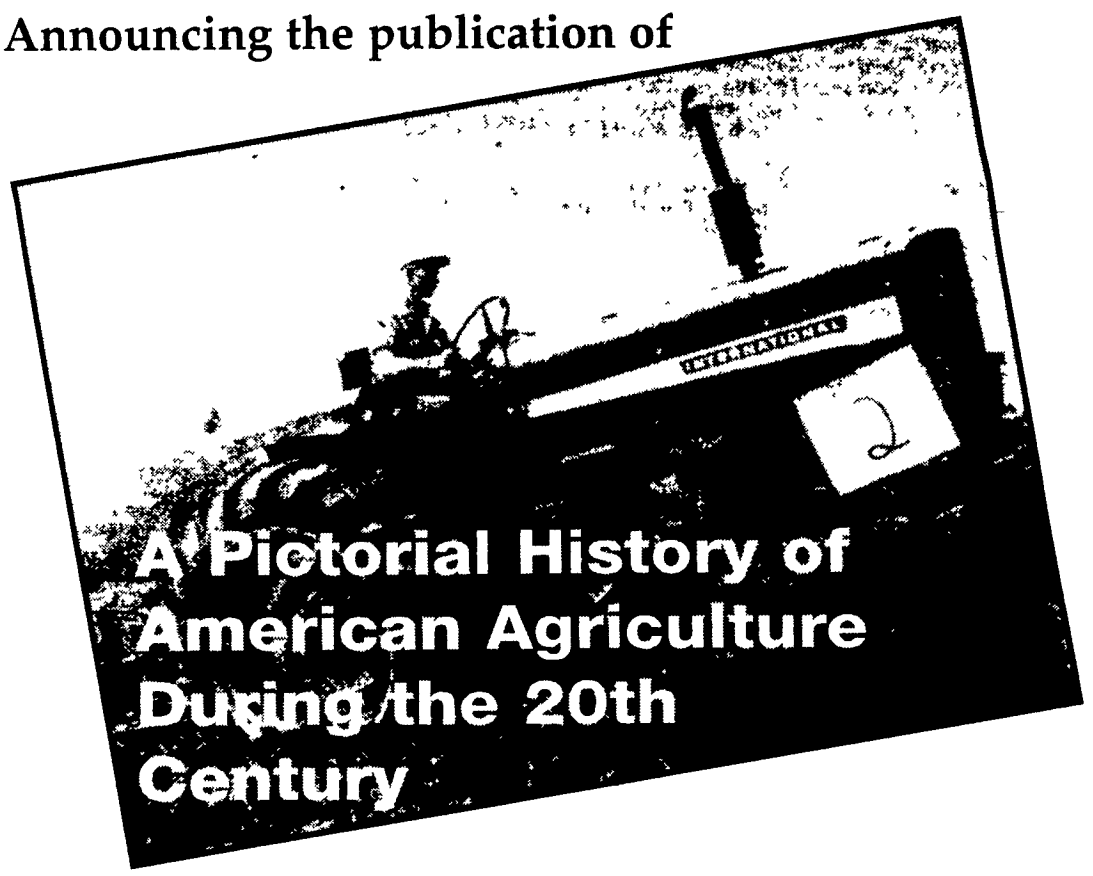
Your County Farm Service Agency Office has established normal yields and prices for all crops and will assist growers in completing the forms required to apply.

Benefits will be calculated at the time of application and payment amounts till be factored at the conclusion of signup. This will allow USDA to pay each producer an equal share of the money allocated by Congress for this program.

For those in Schuylkill County, the Farm Service Agency is located on the Gordon Nagle Trail in the Ag Service Center. Additional information may be obtained by calling 570-622-1555.

Others should contact their local FSA office.

Announcing the publication of



Recalling our agricultural heritage, a new book entitle A Century of Farming (a pictorial review),will be published by Lancaster Farming in time for Christmas giving and the millennium. This work will feature several hundred photographs that show life on the farm from 1901 through the 1990's Lancaster Farming is commencing work on this pictorial history right now, but we need your help.

WE NEED YOUR HELP...
If you have photographs of bygone days that show old agriculture enterprises and events during this century, would you please share them with us and our readers? Prospective entries would include photos from family albums that show activities such as hay making, milking, range shelters for poultry, harvesting, planting, types of livestock, fair or farm show activities, and farm organizations and extension, 4-H, FFA, ect

In summary, Lancaster Farming is looking for photographs of people, places and things that depict the history of agriculture during this century

-The photographs should be identifiable, including the names of at least some of the individuals in the photo, and the time, place and background of the photo. To help insure a speedy return of your photographs, please include a self-addressed envelope large enough to accept your photographs. They are sent at your own risk.

-Lancaster Farming will print a credit line with each photo to identify the person or organization who shared it with us.
-You may bring your photos to our Lancaster Farming office, 1 East Main St., Ephrata, PA or send them to:

Va. To Host Beef Improvement Federation Research Symposium, Annual Meeting

ROANOKE, Va. — The 31st annual convention of the Beef Improvement Federation is set for June 16-19 here at the Hotel Roanoke.

The Virginia Beef Cattle Improvement Association and Virginia Tech University will host the annual event, which is expected to draw an international audience of 500 to 600 beef cattle enthusiasts. BIF is composed of national, state, and provincial beef cattle associations involved with beef cattle breeding and improvement. Anyone interested in the improvement of beef cattle is invited to attend.

The convention will open with a cattle reproduction seminar on Wednesday evening, June 16 sponsored by the National Association of Animal Breeders. A symposium on "Profiting from Efficiency" will be Thursday morning, June 17.

A second symposium will be Friday morning, June 18, on the topic of "Profiting from Increased Demand."

Special interest sessions will be conducted on Thursday and Friday afternoons on the subjects of producer technology application, live animal evaluation, genetic prediction, multiple trait selection, whole herd analysis, and emerging technology.

On Thursday evening, a food, fun, and educational event will be conducted at the nearby Transportation Museum. The BIF awards banquet will be Friday evening.

Two tours to Virginia beef cattle farms and historical sites are scheduled Saturday, June 19. Spouse tours are planned for Thursday and Friday, June 17 and 18.

Registration information is available on the worldwide web at www.conted.vt.edu/bif/va.htm or by contacting either Dr. Don Boggs, BIF Executive Director, Department of Animal and Range Sciences, South Dakota State University, Box 2170, Brookings, SD 57007 or Virginia Convention Chairman, Dr. John Hall, Department of Animal and Poultry Sciences, Virginia Tech, Blacksburg, VA 24061-0306.

Has Single-Trait Selection Returned To The Beef Business?

TOM BRINK
American Gelbvieh Association
Executor Director

Single-trait selection cost cattle producers untold millions of dollars during the 1980s. Breeding cattle with larger and larger frame sizes—while ignoring other important traits—nearly became an obsession. As an industry, we proved we could make cattle bigger. But in the end, producers were no better off. Single-trait emphasis on frame size resulted in hard-doing females, increased calving difficulty, compromised fertility, and a host of other problems.

It took most of the 1990s for our industry to overcome mistakes made during the 1980s. Pick up a current beef semen directory and you'll now see bulls of all breeds being promoted because they offer a moderate frame size. We've come full circle. You would think we'd have learned our lesson. but here we are at the end of another decade, and the single-trait mindset seems to be surfacing again.

It's not frame size this time. IT'S MARBLING! Marbling is in vogue in the beef industry right now and it gets a lot of media attention. Yes, those little flecks of intra-muscular fat are enjoying a great deal of popularity. Marbling is the primary factor that determines USDA quality grade. And cattle with super-high quality grades are being extolled by some "experts" as the pathway to better producer profitability.

Mad Chase for Marbling

But with all the marbling hype, has our industry again lost perspective on the need for balanced-trait selection? Are commercial producers chasing marbling to the point they'll give up something as valuable as hybrid vigor to get it?

Well, based on what I see happening, some producers are going too far in this direction. They've bought the rhetoric and become single-trait focused on marbling. Case in point; some commercial producers have begun using straight-bred Angus cows, and are mating them to Angus bulls, in an attempt to maximize quality grade.

This is unfortunate to say the very least. Those involved in the mad chase for marbling will eventually find they can produce cattle with sky-high quality grades. But it will cost them money in the end. They are sure to find (as in the 1980s) that maximizing any single-trait compromises too many other important areas.

Balanced, multi-trait selection is the proven way to breed profitable cattle. This approach takes more time and effort than single-trait selection. But it is is sustainable, and it benefits the beef industry at all levels–cow/calf, feedlot, packer and consumer alike.

Weaknesses in High-Marbling Cattle

During the 1980s, it took a while before the weaknesses of big-framed cattle were fully recognized. The same will be true for high-marbling cattle. It may take time before those who chase the marbling fad understand what they've given up to get those high quality grades.

But the facts will surface. Here at the American Gelbvieh Association (AGA) we've analyzed feedlot and carcass data on thousands of cattle representing a wide range of breeds and breed crosses. The analysis has repeatedly revealed two weaknesses in high-grading cattle 1) they gain weight more slowly and less efficiently in the feedlot compared to other cattle and 2) they produce carcasses with more external (waste) fat. For a summary of this analysis, contact the AGA office and request a copy of "Where High Marbling Cattle Fall Short.

Trait Balance is the Key

Obviously, the point of this discussion is not that marbling is a bad thing. Marbling is an economically important trait But it's not THE ONLY economically important trait.

Make sure your breeding program is firmly based on balanced, multi-trait selection. The U.S. beef industry is about to begin a new decade and a whole new millennium. Let's not repeat the mistakes of the past

Pa. Shorthorn Breeders Meet

VOLANT (Lawrence Co.) — Members of the Pennsylvania Shorthorn Breeders Association conducted their annual dinner meeting Saturday, Feb. 13 at Hartners Restaurant in Cranberry Township with 47 people present.

Eric Peoples, president, presided at the meeting. Peoples congratulated the Allen family of Saxonburg on winning the grand champion shorthorn bull award at the North American International Livestock Exposition in Louisville, Ky. in November. They also exhibited the grand champion bull on another individual at the National Western Stock Show at Denver in January.

Peoples introduced David McElhaney, Hookstown, chairman of the promotional committee. McElhaney presented a proposal to affiliate with the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Beef Council. This was approved following a motion by William Beinlich and seconded by John Allen II. The 1999 Pennsylvania State Shorthorn Show will be in conjunction with the Keystone International Livestock Show in October.

Marc Peoples, chairman of the by-laws committee, presented an update of the bylaws. This was approved.

Members voted to support the Tri-State Show at Waynesburg and the Northwest Show at Butler.

Don Cowden, Hickory and David McElhaney, Hookstown, were elected directors for three-year terms. Officers elected for 1999 were president, Frank Stoltzfus, Elizabethtown; vice president, William Beinlich, Monongahela; secretary, George Hunter, Stoneboro; and treasurer, Mary Lou and Richard Peoples, Volant.

Agronomy Guide Goes Online

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — "The Agronomy Guide," published every two years by Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences with yearly supplements, can be found on the World Wide Web.

"After talking with extension agents, industry people and farmers across the state, it became clear to me that there is a need for continually updated information," said Steve Fales, professor and head of the agronomy department." This is particularly important with pesticide labels changing so rapidly.

"The Agronomy Guide" is a 251-page handbook that addresses all production practices for agronomic crops. Topics include pest and soil fertility management, corn, grain sorghum, soybeans, small grains, forages, cover crops, and conservation tillage for soil erosion control, enterprise budgets, and computer uses for business and home.

The guide also includes tables of useful weights and measures, English/Metric conversions, average bushel weights and seed per pound, and keys for identifying common grassy and broadleaved weed seedlings in Pennsylvania.

The website features a searchable index that makes finding information quick and easy. "Users also can download printable PDF files of enterprise budgets using Adobe Acrobat Reader," said designer Carole Backman. "We've included a link to install the Reader on the enterprise budget page."

"The online guide gives us a tremendous opportunity to include interactive programs that make everyday calculations much easier," said Fales. "In the future, farmers using IPM, for instance, will be able to plug in the number of insects in the field and get back the economic thresholds. We'll also add such things as color photographs for weed and insect identification.

"The online guide will be evolving constantly," he said. "Anything the Web can do, Penn State will try to incorporate."

The Agronomy Guide can be found at http://AgGuide.agronomy.psu.edu/.

"Just because we're online doesn't mean we'll stop making the printed publication," Fales said. "The Agronomy Guide probably can be found in every pickup on every farm in the state. Until every farmer has a laptop, we won't stop printing the hard copy."

GET PRECISE APPLICATION CONTROL

New Holland side-delivery spreaders provide the most material control. Whether you're light top dressing, laying down a heavy layer, or anything in between, the Model 3110 puts the right amount of material right where you need it.

- Handles a wide variety of material – slurry, gutter material, cow manure, even poultry litter.
- V-tank design delivers material to the auger fast.
- Heavy-duty round-core auger produces less drag.
- Double-acting hydraulic cylinder moves auger up and down to keep material flowing.
- Hydraulic gate and specially designed expeller give precise application control.
- Backed by a 10-year warranty against tank rust-through.

See us for all your spreader needs.
New Holland Box Spreaders also in stock.

TAKE IT EASY ON YOUR HAY.

With the new Model 5312 Mower Conditioner from New Idea, haying is easy on you - and on your hay. That's because our new center-pivot design lets you cut from either side, instead of going around in circles The 5312 also incorporates our proven cutter-bar, with reversible knives, fully enclosed disc drive units and segmented hex driveshafts, for reduced maintenance and increased reliability Plus, Ti-Cor™ conditioning rolls speed dry-down without damaging leaves We also made it easy to learn more about the 5312 Just visit your AGCO New Idea dealer today

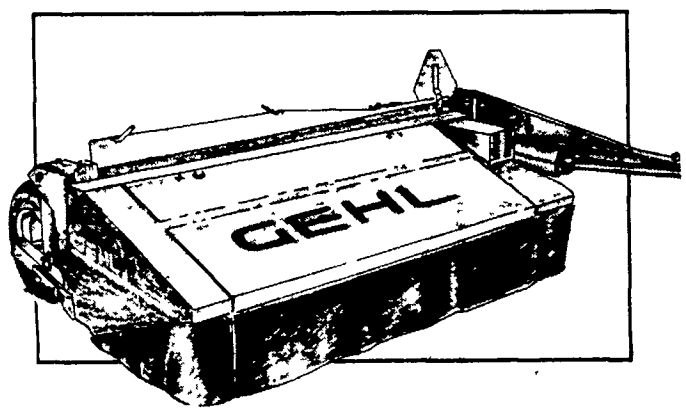
GEHL

2345/2365 DISC CONDITIONERS



Gehl has two all-new disc mower conditioners to cut your crop down to size, fast and easy, the DC2345 has 7 discs and a 9'2" cutting width; the DC2365 has 8 discs and a 10'3" cutting width A Gehl disc mower conditioner delivers exceptional cutting and conditioning, even in your most difficult crops and conditions.

- Designed with the operator in mind
- Easy access all around
- An equal angle PTO
- Three-point flotation support

Cut Your Fields Down To Size!

Gehl swing-frames give you the capacity and maneuverability of a self-propelled mower conditioner at a pull-type price. plus the advantages of high-speed disc cutting technology.

- Nine disc cutterbar delivers 11-foot 7-inch cut.
- Wide conditioning rolls for uniform, fast drying.
- Full-width skid shoes protect the cutterbar.
- Simple drive system for more reliability.
- Change from windrow to swath in seconds - without tools.

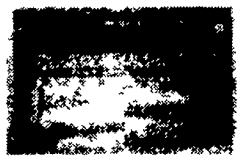
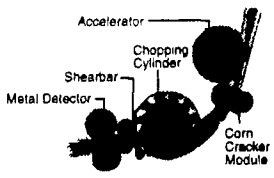
The corn cracker can be changed in just 5 minutes to switch from corn to hay The Jaguar's efficient processing produces quality silage for higher milk production

The operator can safely sharpen the chopping knives and precisely adjust the shear-bar from the driver's seat automatically



Service is no beastly chore because compartment covers quickly swing open to provide easy access to the engine and cooling system



The Beast's efficient cutting system has a full width metal detector, 30" wide chevron cutting drum and full width 8-blade accelerator

NEW! New Holland TND/TNS Tractors 42 to 62 PTO hp

Customer driven design

TND/TND tractors have the features customers say they need These tractors outperform and outmaneuver all others in the three-cylinder class Plus they're loaded with comfort and convenience usually found on much bigger tractors

Exclusive SuperSteer™ FWD axle makes TNS tractors the most maneuverable all purpose tractors available

8x8 or 16x16 Synhro Command™ transmissions feature synchronized gears and a synchronized, left hand mechanical shuttle The 16x16 includes four speeds 1 mph or less

8x8 or 16x16 Synchro Command transmissions with power shuttle offer clutchless, forward/reverse shuttling for superior operator convenience

Exclusive Traction Management System (TNS tractors only) automatically engages FWD when and only when you need it

Four wheel differential lock is electro-hydraulically engaged on TNS tractors for maximum power to ground performance

Comfortable cab is suspended and pressurized, shielding the operator from vibration, noise and dirt Heater and A/C, two doors, tilt/telescoping steering, front and rear washers and wipers, and a best-in-class lighting package are standard Excellent visibility and an overall height as low as 85 1" lets you go places competitive cab tractors can't

Boomer™ has tightest turnaround

Cut the wheel on a Boomer compact tractor and BOOM it turns on a dime, up to 50% less than other compacts

- With Supersteer™ enjoy greater maneuverability
- Sensitrack™ clutch senses turns and is easy on turf
- Innovative styling means high visibility and easy of operation
- Comfort-Plus™ deck applies ergonomic design for greater operator comfort

See Boomer now!

Shuttle back and forth with ease

NEW HOLLAND

Excellent in the field - and on the farm

New Holland 70- to 90-PTO-hp tractors feature a 16x16 Pulse Command™ transmission with push-button power shifting within each of four speed groups. Speeds are evenly spaced 18% apart, with nine speeds in the usual two- to seven-mph working range. Plenty of gear overlap makes range shifting unnecessary most of the time.

The shuttle lets you pull out from a dead stop or change direction without clutching. An optional, electro-hydraulically engaged creeper is also available.

Producers Top Contest

DES MOINES, Iowa — Two Pennsylvania sorghum producers placed first in separate divisions in the 1998 National Grain Sorghum Producers (NGSP) Yield Contest.

Robert Shearer of Mount Joy and Richard D. Schmalz of Doylestown were recently honored in the contest, both with Pioneer Hi-Bred varieties.

As a second-time NGSP yield contestant, Shearer placed first in the state conventional nonirrigated division. Last year Shearer also topped this division at the state level and placed second at the national level. Pioneer brand 8313 gave him the winning grain sorghum yield both years.

This year the sorghum hybrid produced 150.37 bushels per acre.

"I selected Pioneer brand 8313 for its yield potential," said Shearer, who farms with his wife, Doreen, and their two sons, Bobby, 14, and Michael, 11; and their daughter, Ashley, 8.

The Shearers' operation also includes corn, soybeans, barley, and hogs.

Richard Schmalz, Doylestown, an eight-time NGSP yield contestant, placed first in the state no-till nonirrigated division with Pioneer 8446 at a yield of 90.02 bushels per acre.

"I selected Pioneer brand 8446 for its yield potential and drought tolerance," said Schmalz. He and his wife, Carole, raise corn, sorghum, and wheat.

The 13th annual yield contest recognizes 116 state winners and 15 national winners in six divisions, including nonirrigated and irrigated conventional tillage, nonirrigated no-till, nonirrigated, and irrigated mulch-till and irrigated ridge-till.

Robert Shearer of Mount Joy placed first in the state conventional nonirrigated division of the National Grain Sorghum Producers Yield Contest. With him is wife Doreen.

Richard Schmalz, Doylestown, farms with his wife Carole. They recently placed first in the state no-till nonirrigated division in the National Grain Sorghum Producers Yield Contest.

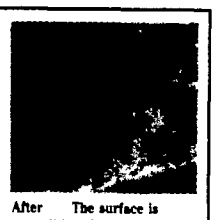
WARNING, ALL SILO OWNERS

Check your silo now for rotten staves. If you have been using your silo for 10 to 15 years for either corn silage or haylage, it is time to SHOTCRETE

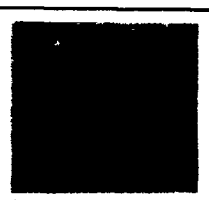
RESURFACES INTERIORS:
- Coats the silo's interior
- Protects feed in storage
- Durable, tough, acid-resistant
- Increase useful life
- Economical

Before The silo's interior with plaster damaged and stave exposed

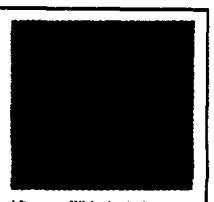


After The surface is reconditioned, and a new, thick tough surface will protect stored feed

REPAIRS HOLES:
- Repairs even large holes
- Up to twice the strength of the original stave
- Rapid application
- Durable surface

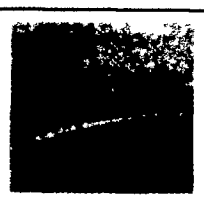


Before A hole is worn completely through the silo wall



After With the hole repaired by ShotCrete and a new surface applied, the silo is ready for years of use

EXTENDS USEFUL LIFE:
- Support for old foundations
- Special repairs can be made quickly and economically
- Little or no forming needed
- Stronger than the original



Before The bottom part of the stave's are completely worn away

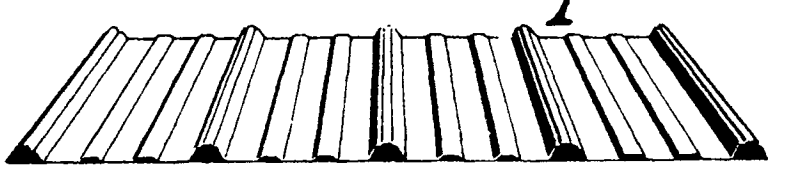
Rural Economy



Cost-efficient Centurydrain® roofing and siding is on some of the best looking buildings in the country.

Build with Centurydrain roofing and siding and you've built a money-wise structure. Full-hard, high tensile galvanized steel, and an exclusive drain channel for a dry interior give you a building that'll handle years of hard duty and hard weather. Good looking, too. Crisp lines and plenty of bright, long-lasting colors make Wheeling Centurydrain as handsome as it is economical.

SPECIALIZING IN PRE-ENGINEERED STEEL BUILDINGS SINCE 1990

Founded in 1990 and incorporated in 1992, A S HOOVER, INC has grown rapidly for good reasons The corporation has been recognized in two recent issues of a national industry news magazine

WHY A.S. HOOVER, INC. FOR STEEL BUILDINGS?

A. SAFETY! Emphasis on strength, NO BUILDING FROM A.S. HOOVER HAS EVER COLLAPSED!

B. QUALITY AND DESIGN. In addition to commercial, agricultural, and industrial applications including cranes, buildings from HOOVER have met the strict criteria of the National, State, and Township Governments, the School District, and the Philadelphia Airport

C. PRICE! With the most of buildings coming from the lower cost South, and hauled on backhaul, plus a high volume combined with low handling overhead, HOOVER is a leader in cost per ton of steel on the jobsite

D. RELIABILITY! CECO Building Systems, originally Mitchell Buildings is one of the oldest and largest metal building firms The record of Pennsylvania German builders speaks for itself

In short, A S Hoover, Inc brings to the customer via the smaller Plain people contractors, the benefits of a larger organization while maintaining the frugality for which they are noted With concentration on efficiency and workmanship, alcohol, profanity, and blaring radios are not permitted on the job

In addition to the volume with CECO, Dealerships are also held with KIRBY (spans to 40' on 12" purlins) and CORLE (galvanized girt and purlin systems) giving unsurpassed coverage of all applications

"A GOOD REPUTATION IS SOMETHING TO LIVE UP TO, NOT TO LEAN ON" BUILDING YOUR BUSINESS IS OUR BUSINESS

Attention
Dairy, Swine & Poultry Producers!
New Products Now Available...

With the addition of our new soybean processing facility, we now offer these products to meet your nutritional needs Manufacturing these products ourselves allows us to utilize locally grown soybeans and support our local agricultural community!

GOLDEN PRO 46 XP
This natural, mechanically extruded and expelled soybean product is experiencing great acceptance with local dairymen A course golden colored meal with a 6% fat content, Golden Pro 46 XP is extremely palatable Golden Pro 46 XP is a natural way to bring the value of high by-pass protein into diets that require a lower fat level

GOLDEN MEAL 40
An 18 percent fat content along with a 40 percent crude protein makes this mechanically extruded meal product a valuable component in a variety of rations Full fat content gives you a high level of digestible energy, while high temperature extruding ruptures the oil cells for better nutritional absorbtions

CRUDE SOYBEAN OIL
A product of Keystone's expelling process, this oil can be used in a wide variety of on farm applications A natural alternative to animal fats, this oil provides needed energy in various rations

To make these products available, and to help you utilize your home raised soybeans Keystone Mills announces its

Soybean Exchange Program

As manufacturers and distributers of Golden Pro 46 XP and Golden Meal 40, we are anxious for you to try our products We are offering a soybean exchange program featuring these quality nutritional products

PURINA DAIRY HERD PROFILE

TWO TOP HOLSTEINS

Nestled in the shadow of the beautiful Blue Ridge mountains at the beginning of the Cumberland Valley, Two Top Holstein Farm makes its debut this week with an open house in sparkling new facilities. The nearby ski resort took their home farm so the families of Marcus and Chester Martin moved their well-known Franklin County dairy herd five miles away to a newly constructed 169 stall, 6-row freestall barn with double 10 herringbone milking parlor, milk house, and farm office.

Actually the Martins started milking in the new facility last fall and have added three more independent dairy herds to the milking string since that time to bring their total number of milk cows up to 230 head with 120 replacement heifers on the way up.

With all the trauma and stress on the dairy herd in such a move, the cows have held their production. Even the herds that were brought in with 25 pounds lower per day production averages have increased to the point where the herd is now averaging 75 lbs. of milk per day. The rolling herd average is 24,300m with the top individual projected at 205d 36,600m 1,274f 1,060p. 20 cows in the herd have over 29,000 lb. milk records and right now 28 cows are milking over 100 lbs.

The Martins give a lot of credit to the retained high production during the transition from one farm to the other to their Purina feeding programs.

"We started feeding Purina feeds 18 years ago shortly after my brother and I took over the herd from our dad," Chester said. "They have good research programs behind their feeds and are on the cutting edge of what's good in nutrition for dairy cows and young stock. Over the years, Purina has given us good service, but mainly, we have always gotten good results both in production and herd health."

The dairy cow feeding program is a TMR mix with corn silage, haylage, dry hay, high moisture corn, a small grain mix and EXT Proteus concentrate. Proteus is the environmentally recognized feed from Purina that reduces urinary nitrate by 30 percent.

The dry cows receive Purina's Prepare dry cow feed; the calves get Startena; and the heifers get Growena and Cornerstone feeds.

"We have a lot of people come in who would like to feed our herd," Marcus said. "But we basically tell everybody we are satisfied with what we have with Purina. Whenever we need new information to manage the herd, we get it by asking the Purina representatives. They balance our rations and especially make an effort to use as much of our home grown forages as possible. We can certainly recommend the Purina nutrition programs to everyone. It works for us."
